LEE

friend and staff officer Gen. Paul J. Revere (a gd. son of Col. Paul Revere), which appeared in condensed form in "The Harvard Memorial Biographies" He was for years a member of the examining committee in the Department of Mathematics of Harvard University, which conferred upon him the honorary degree of A.M., in 1851. He was a Fellow of the American Academy (as was his gd. father), a member of the Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati, the Loyal Legion, and Grand Army of the Republic.

Lineage

Henry Lee, the founder of this family in America, m. Mary, surname unknown, and d. in Manchester, Massachusetts, 1675. He brought with him the coat of arms of the ancient family of Lee, of Lea or Dern Hall, Cheshire, of which Gen. Charles Lee, of the Revolution and the various Earls of Litchfield (Quarrendon Lees) were members. This coat of arms still exists in the hands of a member of the family. It is known that he told his son Samuell Lee, Esq., that he was descended from the same family, and that Samuell told it to his gd. son Colonel John, who told it to his son, Col. William Raymond, who in turn related it to his son-in-law and biographer, Gen. H. A. S. Dearborn. If this be so, his line of descent from that honorable family is not now known, though it has been suggested that he might be the Henry Lee who was the third son of George^{9} Lee, of Highgate, Middlesex, who died in June, 1637, and was younger brother to Sir Henry^{9} Lee, the first Baronet of Ditchley, Oxon, both being sons of Sir Robert^{8} Lee, Knight, of Hulcote, Bucks. Henry Lee, son of George Lee is not traced in England after 1655 or 1658, and Henry Lee, of New England, first appears as one of the committee of the town 13th December, 1658 Sir Robert Lee, Knight, was the son of Benedict^{7} Lee, of Hulcote, County Bucks, who was the son of Richard^{6} Lee, of Quarrendon, County Bucks, who altered his arms to "Argent, a fesse between three crescents sable." Richard^{6} was the son of Benedict^{5} who m. Elizabeth Wood, dau. and heir of John Wood, Esq., of County Warwick. Benedict^{5} Lee was the son of John^{4}, who m. Margery Hocknell, dau. of Henry Hocknell, who in turn was the son of Thomas^{3} and Margery Aston, dau. of Sir John Aston, Knight. Thomas^{3} Lee was the eldest son of John^{2}, who married Elizabeth Hulleshurst, dau. of Sir Thomas Hulleshurst, and was the son of John Lee^{1} (temp. Henry III), who m. Isabelle Dutton, dau. of Sir Piers Dutton, of Dutton. Of this family was Sir Henry Lee, K. G., of Quarrendon, the champion of Queen Elizabeth, who is probably the most famous of all the Lees of England and is perpetuated by Scott in "Woodstock."

Numbers in bold-faced type at the commencement of each generation correspond with numbers on the chart of Dorr Eugene Felt.

128 GEORGE^1 FELT (or Felch, as the name is sometimes spelt,) is found in Charlestown, Mass., in 1633, but had been there earlier. In 1681 he calls himself about 80 years of age and testifies that land was given him in that place "about 48 years since."[1] Public business at first was conducted in a General Convention of the people, but this method being unsatisfactory a new form of town government was inaugurated in conformity with an order under date of February 10, 1634–5, which was signed by thirty-three of the inhabitants, among them being George Felt.[2] A reproduction of this order will be seen in this work.

He bought 300 acres of land at Broad Cove on Casco Bay and by 1643 was one of the pioneer settlers of North Yarmouth. After a few years residence there he returned to Charlestown, settling in that part that was incorporated May 2, 1649, as Malden. He was again a resident at Casco Bay, having bought 2,000 acres of land there, of which he was afterwards deprived, and in relation to which he made the following petition under date of June 22, 1688:[3]

To His Excellency S^r Edmund Andros Kn^t. Etc.

The Humble Petition of George Felt Sen^r. of Maulden

Sheweth: That it is my grief that I am compelled to trouble yo^r Excellency at this time But having about eighteen years since purchased of one In^o Phillips of Boston Gen^t late Deceased a farme or Plaintation at a place called the Great Cove (in Caskoe Bay) containing about two thousand acres of upland and marsh as by a firn Deed

Great find, Jim. I believe I can tell you who Stephen and Phebe are. That is, Stephen Gould, b 1775 Dec 3 Guilford married 1796 Jan 11 Phebe Berry and died 1850 Sep 29 Shrewsbury, Rutland Co VT. He was the son of Stephen and Esther (Wilder) Gould and I can give you both of their lineages if you wish.However Phebe alludes me; the only reference to her I could find was that Samuel, Phebe and Mary Berry were warned out of Guilford 1787 May 2 as minors. (I also note that Stephen Gould Jr. was born 1795 Feb Jan 14, the illegitimate son of Stephen Gould and Elizabeth Aldrich. I assume this Stephen to be the one born 1775, not his father Stephen, but who knows.)

Thanks for that find; I had found no children for Stephen and Phebe. Have you any idea when Aseneth died or who Sophia Dalrymple was? there was an Andrew Dalrymple connected with Guilford families, though I can't remember just how at the moment. It looks as thoough Jared married 3 times??

Best, Helga

Hello to all Parsons cousins,

I have been researching/compiling/cross-referencing Jeffrey Parsons descendants using the following sources:

1. On microfilm at the LDS Genealogical Library, Salt Lake City: "Genealogy of the Family of Parsons' Commencing With Their Ancestor Jeffrey. Came From Asprington, England to Gloucester. Copied from Manuscr; of Late Rev. Moses Parsons. Submitted by Willis S. Parsons, April 1989.

2. Jeffrey Parsons of Loddiswell, Devonshire and Gloucester, MA by Willis S. Parsons
NEHGSR Vol 142: Issue 3, pp 245-249 (July 1988)
Note: This treatment focuses on Jeffrey's ancestry, not his descendants.

3. Chandler-Parsons: Edmund Chaundeler, Geoffrey Parsons and Allied Families (Boston, 1911) by Mary Chandler Lowell

4. Records of Ellery - Dennison - Parsons Families (West Newton, MA, January 1956) Compiled by James Benjamin Ellery.

William's estate, and his name does not appear in the probate records of either shire, a fact which leads to the supposition that his family, having all removed to America, brought hither his effects without a formal administration in England. The fact that no children (except Anne,) are given to him in the Visitation, is conformable to the practice of the Heralds, who uniformly overlooked and ignored "all who had deserted their country."

The conclusion seems compelled that the original immigrant, William Paine, of Ipswich, was the son of William Paine, of Nowton, the son of him of Hengrave, whose seal he wore, and whose character he so well imitated and adopted. But even though this conclusion as to the particular paternity or person who was the father of the emigrants in question be incorrect, it can make no essential difference in the tracing of the family lineage, as has now been done. As already remarked, their father, whosoever he may have been, must have been a grandson of William Paine, of Hengrave, who was the first and only person who introduced the Coat of Arms fron Leicester County into Suffolk, and was thus necessarily the great-grandfather of William and Robert, of Ipswich. By following the history of his several children and their descendants, as is given in these pages, there would seem, however, to be no place to otherwise locate their paternity. Those sons against whose names there is no mention made of marriage, being unmarried.

His paternity being thus presumably established, we have an unbroken line of descent from Sir Thomas Payne, Knight, of Market Bosworth, about the year 1400, down to the emigration, with the further presumption in favor of the line extending back to embrace the great Templar Hugh de Payen, of Crusade fame, of the eleventh century, and his father the distinguished "Pagen" of Domesday.

The children of William Paine now spoken of were as follows, besides Anne above mentioned:

42. William Paine, b. in 1598–9.

43. Robert, b. in 1601.

44. Elizabeth, who married William Hammond.

45. Dorothy, who married Simon Eyre.

46. Phebe, who married John Page.

These all came to America and resided here during the remainder of their lives, being all of them active and intelligent citizens, who took most important parts in the work of the early colonists of New England.

GENERATION VI.

(32.) WILLIAM PAINE, son of William (19), of Worlington, gentleman, died in 1617, his will being proved July 17, 1617. He was devisee of the Manor of Netherall Tindalls, in Soham, by his father's will, and by his own will he devised the same to his mother Elizabeth, and his brother and sisters equally, all of whom joined in levying a fine on same to the use of Henry (33), in 1625. He had no children and was probably never married.

(33.) HENRY PAINE, brother of next preceding, himself also styled gentleman, married Ann Alston, of Boxford, and died in 1639, having two children.

47. Edward, who died in 1667.

48. Ann, who married Robert Grigson, and died Sept. 11, 1684.

(37.) HENRY PAINE, son of Henry (24), married Susan Beriff, and died Jan. 22, 1606, having three children:

49. Henry, who died Dec. 7, 1603, not married.

50. Susan, who died May 28, 1615, not married.

town, was one of its original corporators, and feoffee of the Free or Grammar school, towards the establishment and endowment of which, with his brother, he was a most liberal and active party. He was the ruling elder in the first church of the place, and as the historian of Ipswich relates, "his profession and office were adorned by a life of active, exemplary usefulness." In 1647, 8 and 9, he was deputy to the General Court as the representative of his town, was on the committee of trade for Essex in 1655, and held the office of county treasurer from 1665 until he resigned just before his death in 1683.

In furtherance of the Free School, besides his pecuniary donations, he gave the use of a dwelling-house and two acres of land to its master in 1652 or 3, and after his death his son Robert and wife gave the property outright to the town for the use of the school. It has ever since remained the town's property for that use until 1880, when it was sold and the fund invested for the same purpose.

Gage says of him: "He had a good estate and was liberal in the use of it." He died in 1684, at the age of 83 years, leaving two sons, both born in Ipswich.

57. John.
58. Robert.

(44.) ELIZABETH PAINE, sister of William and Robert, (42. 43.) married William Hammond, who emigrated to America in 1632 and was admitted freeman May 25, 1636. His wife followed him in 1634, in the ship Francis, she being then 47 years old. "He is related to have had a good estate," and settled in Ipswich where descendants of theirs may still be found. He died Oct. 8, 1662, aged 94 years. They had five children, viz:

pursue his education by teaching, which he successfully did in the towns of Guilford, Vernon and Hinsdale, N. H. He commenced the study of medicine in 1838, with Dr. Cyrus Washburn; attended medical lectures at Hanover, N. H., New York City and Castleton, Vt.; graduated from Castleton Medical College in 1843; married Lucia A. Whithed of Vernon, and commenced the practice of medicine in Guilford in 1844; removed to Halifax soon after and remained 11 years; removed to St. Paul, Minn. Oct. 1857. He opened a drug store in Natchez, Miss., in 1863; after the close of the war, left his store in care of his eldest son; went to New Orleans, and thence with a large stock of goods to Homer City, on a branch of the Red river, where in a few weeks he was taken with a disease peculiar to that climate and died July 21, 1865, far from home and relatives, yet his last hours were cheered by the presence of friends and his wants ministered to by members of the Masonic order to which he belonged. His widow and four children still reside at St. Paul; his sons, Nelson D. and Charles M. are civil engineers. Clinton C., a physician in the city, and his daughter principal of one of the city schools.

SAMUEL LUKE PARSONS,

born Oct. 30, 1831; his grandfather, Andrew Parsons, the son of a British sea captain, and a nephew of Chief Justice Theopihilus Parsons, was an early settler of Vernon; coming from Connecticut at the close of the war of the Revolution, in which he was a soldier, he purchased a portion of the Howe grant and cleared himself a home. He there reared a large family of children, the youngest of four sons, Samuel being the subject of this sketch. His children were Hannah, Samuel, Luke and John. At 15 years of age, Luke went to the academy at Bernardston, Mass. He also attended school at West Brattleboro, teaching school winters; at twenty he was prepared to enter the Sophomore class at Amherst; receiving an offer from his cousin, Andrew Parsons, acting governor of Michigan, to become his successor in legal practice, when admitted, he commenced the study of law and did not go to Amherst. At twenty-three he was admitted to the bar, and the following year elected Circuit Court Commissioner, an office having the powers and duties of Judge at Chambers and Master in Chancery. At this time he was married to Miss Sarah Cook, daughter of Madison Cook of Ypsilanti, Miss. In 1858, Mr. Cook died, leaving a large property in Detroit. Mr. Parsons was made attorney of the estate and resigned his office and went to Detroit where he was attacked with a disease common to that climate. He then returned to Vermont to regain his health, and resided with his father until the outbreak of the war of the Rebellion. He first enlisted in the 16th Vt. Vols. and was immediately promoted to Sergeant, and afterwards to 1st Sergeant for meritorious conduct at the battle of Gettysburg. When this regiment was disbanded, he entered the service in the Gulf Department at Quartermaster Sergeant. He went to New Orleans, touching at Cuba. He met Senor Don Bernards, Master of the Knights of Freedom (or defenders of the Monroe doctrine). He wrote at this time an epic poem, entitled, "Atlantis on the Heiress," in ten cantos, being a story of the island of Cuba and tropical America, which he has read in several cities and been very favorably mentioned by the press. His corps was then transferred to the Shenandoah valley. He was disabled at Cedar Creek and conveyed to Annapolis, where on his recovery, he was given charge of a ward at the Navy Yard Hospital; having care of the sick and wounded soldiers from Libby and Andersonville. He remained here until the expiration of his term of service and the war closed, when he returned to Michigan, purchased a farm near Detroit and resumed his practice at the Detroit bar.

HIRAM E. JOHNSON,

son of Hiram Johnson, born at Vernon, Dec. 17, 1834; fitted for college under the instruction of Prof. L. F. Ward at Saxtons River and Westminster; began the study of medicine with Dr. E. C. Cross at Brattleboro in 1854; attended medical lectures at Berkshire Medical College, Pittsfield, Mass.; graduated at Castleton Medical College, June 17, 1857; began the practice of medicine at Halifax where he remained eight years, (excepting some time which he spent in hospitals in vicinity of Washington, D. C., also at Belleuve Hospital, N. Y. Hello Cynthia and list, Vernon was once part of Hinsdale, NH (chartered 1753) and part of Northfield, MA. It was called Northfield 69 yrs; Bridgman's Ft. 12 yrs; Hinsdale for 49 yrs; and Vernon to the present day. Vital records can be found in any of these three towns. Rte 142 (which is now known as Ft. Bridgman Road due to the E-911 changes) follows the Connecticut River from Brattleboro to Northfield, MA.

The gravesites that Cynthia mentioned are in the NORTH CEMETERY on the north end of town (towards Brattleboro). This is the area of the site of Ft. Bridgman and Ft. Sartwell was about 1/2 mile north. Sartwell's Fort was built in 1737 by Josiah Sartwell and was situated across the Connecticut River from Ft. Hinsdale about 2 miles south of Ft. Dummer (in Brattleboro). Ft. Bridgman was built by Orlando Bridgman. Also of interest is the Gov. Hunt house, built by Lt. Gov. Jonathan Hunt. This is located on Gov. Hunt Rd (off from Rte 142) and is now is the Information Center for the VT Yankee Nuclear Plant. The Vernon Historical museum is in So. Vernon on Rte 142 in the old schoolhouse that served that end of town.

For more history of the town of Vernon, see the Vermont Historical Magazine by Abbey Hemenway (The Vermont Gazetteer-Windham County volume). The Vernon history was written by Artemas Washburn, Esq.

Hope this helps someone. Thanks.

The above list contains the names of eighty-seven persons; of whom, as nearly as can be ascertained, about fifty became permanent settlers, and were residents of the town when they died.

appears by the records that three of his sons were married in town: Daniel, to Susanna Milberry in 1736; John, to Sarah Witham in 1737; and Benjamin, at the age of eighteen, to Sarah Elwell in 1744. Daniel Hadley died June 10, 1737, on his passage from Canso. Several children are recorded to John Hadley, and one to Benjamin.

NATHANIEL HADLOCK had land near Ipswich line, where he probably lived. He married Remember Jones, May 1, 1673; who died March 2, 1718, aged sixty-four. His children recorded are — Nathaniel, born in 1677; Deborah, 1679; John, 1682; James, 1684; Samuel, 1687; Mary, 1696; and Benjamin, 1700. Besides these, he had Joseph and William. The latter married Penelope Firbee in 1717; had a daughter, and a son Nathaniel; and was drowned near the Ferry, Sept. 14, 1730. BENJAMIN had a wife Dorcas, by whom he had eight children; of which were sons Benjamin and John.

SAMUEL HAIEWARD is not mentioned as an owner of land, nor in any other connection than that of husband and father. His marriage with a daughter of Henry Felch, March 2, 1641, is the earliest in the records. His children were — Samuel, born in 1642; and John, 1643.

JOHN HAMMONS, in June, 1663, had land lying between Thomas Riggs's and the run going to Goose Cove. He married Mary, daughter of Morris Somes, Oct. 17, 1660; and had the following children,: Elizabeth, born in 1661; John, 1664; Mary, 1666; Timothy, 1668; and William, 1674. He died before 1686; and a Mary Hammons (probably his wife) died May 6, 1689. JOHN HAMMONS, the only son of the foregoing of whom any thing is known, had land in 1701, on Eastern Point, to erect a house on. He was twice married: first to Ruth Stanwood, July 7, 1686, who died April 17, 1689; and next to Agnes Penny, Jan. 20, 1691. He died at Casco Bay, January, 1718, aged fifty-four; leaving five daughters, and a son John, who died Feb. 3, 1725, aged twenty-five.

JOHN HARDIN, said to be of Weymouth, bought four acres of upland of William Sargent in 1652; in which year, April 22, there Nov. 29, 1735, when he made his will, which mentions a son Gustavus and five daughters. The former settled in York, Me. The widow became the third wife of Rev. John White.

RALPH PARKER had recorded, under the year 1647, land in the Harbor, on the westerly side of his house, which was near Governor's Hill. He sold his possessions in Gloucester to Phineas Rider in 1651; about which time he removed to New London. He is not mentioned here as having a family; but the New-London Records state that he had a wife who was a daughter of William Kenie.

ELIAS PARKMAN was of Boston in 1651. He is mentioned, in our records without date, as purchaser of a house and land, in Fisherman's field, of Christopher Avery. In 1655, he had a grant of "wood and timber from the run of water as runneth out at the beach by the salt-work; in consideration of which he is to let the town have salt, for their own proper use, 6d. per bushel cheaper than he sell out of town, for such pay as the town can pay him at pris currant." If he resided in town at all, it was probably only for a brief period.

JOSEPH PAGE had, in March, 1699, a grant of half an acre of land near Clay Cove to set a house upon, on condition that he should take care of his mother. He married Elizabeth Row in 1705; and died March 18, 1725, aged about forty-eight. A George Page had, in 1709, a grant of land near the head of the Harbor. The birth of his daughter Mary in Antigua, in 1705, by his wife Joanna, and the decease of Joanna Page in 1707, are recorded in the town-records.

JEFFREY PARSONS, born in 1631, left England when quite young, and went with an uncle to Barbadoes, where he lived several years, and came thence to New England. He left in his native country a brother James, who died there about 1708, leaving several children; one of whom, Elizabeth Morgan, was living in 1714 at Ashprington, near Dartmouth, as appears by her letter to her cousin James in New England, dated 1714; copies of which are preserved in the family. In April, 1655, he bought of Giles Barge an acre and a half of land in Fisherman's Field. He also bought, about the same time, a house and land at the same place, which had once belonged to George Ingersol, and still earlier to George Norton. There he fixed his residence; and descendants still live around the spot first occupied by their ancestor. Tradition has preserved the romantic incident that determined his choice of a partner for life. While walking on a hot summer's day, he was overcome with fatigue and thirst, and stopped at Vinson's Spring for rest and refreshment. The house of Vinson was near by, and a benevolent impulse prompted his beautiful daughter Sarah to approach the weary stranger with the tender of a drinking-cup. The charms and kind attentions of the fair one made a deep impression on the heart of Jeffrey; and, as she reciprocated the sentiments she had inspired, she ere long became his wife. They were married Nov. 11, 1657. He was selectman several years; and died Aug. 16, 1689, leaving an estate of £317. She died Jan. 12, 1708. Among their descendants, besides the distinguished Chief-Justice of Massachusetts, are several eminent merchants. The children of Jeffrey Parsons were — James, born in 1658; Jeffrey, 1661; Sarah, 1663; Elizabeth, 1665; John, 1666; Jeremiah, 1672; Nathaniel, 1675; Abigail, 1678; Ebenezer, 1680, died 1680; and Ebenezer, 1681. JAMES was one of the most useful citizens of his time. He was a selectman, elder of the church, town-clerk eleven years, and representative five years. His residence was at the corner of the old road leading from the Manchester Road to Ipswich; and the old house still standing there bore till recently indubitable marks of age, which render it probable that he was the builder. He married, Dec. 18, 1688, Hannah Younglove of Ipswich, who died March 11, 1733, aged seventy-eight: he died Oct. 1, 1733, aged seventy-five. His sons were James, Eliezer, and Joseph. James, born in 1690, died Nov. 15, 1761; having lost two sons in the military service of the Colony: namely, James, who was a soldier in the expedition to Cape Breton, — returned home ill, and died Aug. 20, 1745, aged about twenty years; and Eliphalet, who enlisted in the army sent against the French at Crown Point in 1756, and died at Albany, Aug. 9 in that year, aged twenty-four. Eliezer married Mary Day in 1720, and had five sons and three daughters.

Joseph, the other son of Elder James Parsons, a student of Harvard College, died at Cambridge, Oct. 30, 1722, aged about twenty-nine. JEFFREY received, in 1685, a grant of land situated on the road to Starknaught Harbor; where he erected a house, and settled. He married Abigail Younglove of Ipswich, May 5, 1686; who died in June, 1734. The date of his death is unknown. His will, made in 1734, was proved in 1750. Most of the Parsonses on the Cape are descended from this son. In his will, three sons are mentioned, — Jonathan, Samuel, and Jeremiah. Jonathan married Lydia Stanwood in 1711, and had the following sons: Jonathan, who had several children; John, who died about 1796, aged eighty, leaving a wife Anna (Clark), who died at the age of ninety; James and Joseph (twins), the former of whom settled at Sandy Bay, and has, among his descendants, Gorham, for several years postmaster of Gloucester, whose son James C. graduated at Amherst College in 1855; and William, representative in 1841 and 1842, now a merchant in Boston. Joseph, the other twin, was lost on the Grand Bank about 1785, aged sixty-three. David, the next and youngest of these brothers, had his home at the "Farms;" and died in 1808, aged eighty. Samuel, second son of Jeffrey Parsons, jun., married Ruth Lee of Manchester in 1713. The records show that he had eleven children, and that two of his sons (Samuel and Nehemiah) married in town, and perpetuated the name. Samuel and his brother David were among the first settlers of New Gloucester, Me. Jeremiah, the other son of Jeffrey Parsons, jun., married Susanna Cogswell of Ipswich in 1721; and had sons Jeremiah, Jeffrey, and Zaccheus. The first of these sons appears to have married in town, and to have had sons Jeremiah and Zaccheus. Jeffrey, son of John and Anna above mentioned, born in 1746, a soldier in the battle of Bunker Hill, was drowned near Salt-Island Ledge in 1792. JOHN PARSONS, third son of Jeffrey, sen., settled at Fisherman's Field. He married Isabella Haynes, Jan. 19, 1693, who died Nov. 20, 1700; and he next married Sarah Norton, July 29, 1701. She died July 25, 1726, aged fifty-six. He died Dec. 1, 1714; having had, by his two wives, nine children. John, his oldest son, married Elizabeth

Haskell in 1716, by whom he had twelve children; of whom five were sons, that married and had families. He was a ruling elder of the First Church, and was living in 1762. Josiah, the next son, married Eunice Sargent in 1719; had ten children born here; and afterwards removed to New Hampshire. Thomas, the third son, married Rachel Baker in 1729; and died March 13, 1732. Daniel, the next, married Susanna Warner in 1732; and died in Antigua, probably about 1738, leaving no son. Solomon, the youngest, married Abigail Knowlton, who died Feb. 15, 1741, aged thirty-four; and next, July 26, 1741, Sarah Dodge of Wenham, who died Jan. 29, 1779, aged sixty-four. He died March 24, 1779, aged seventy-four; leaving an only son Solomon, as appears by record, who died Oct. 5, 1807, aged sixty-eight. Jacob, son of the latter, emigrated with sons to Illinois. These two Solomons lived near the spot on which their ancestor first settled at Fisherman's Field. JEREMIAH, son of the first Jeffrey, was impressed on board of a man-of-war when young; and, having escaped from her, is said to have settled in Virginia. NATHANIEL, the next son, married Abigail Haskell, Dec. 27, 1697; and died of small-pox, May 21, 1722. He engaged in mercantile business; and, at the time of his death, was the owner of several vessels and a shop and wharf. His oldest son (Nathaniel) died of small-pox in 1721. The next (William) became a merchant, and acquired a handsome fortune. He was a man of excellent character; for which his townsmen showed their regard by electing him to the highest offices. He was deacon of the First Church, and representative six years. He died July 10, 1755, aged fifty-five. He was twice married: first, to Mary Haraden, who died in 1751; and next to Mrs. Abigail Beck of Newbury. The youngest of his numerous family of children was Obadiah, minister of the Fourth Parish in Gloucester. Stephen, brother of Deacon William Parsons, married Abigail Robinson in 1732; and was lost in a hurricane in the West Indies, leaving sons Enoch and Daniel. Of this branch of the family is Mrs. Sarah A. Parsons Nowell, author of a volume of poems and a volume of tales. EBENEZER, youngest son of Jeffrey Parsons, married Lydia Haskell; who died in 1734, aged fifty-three. His intention of marriage with Mrs. Alice Norwood was published April 11, 1741; and with Mrs. Jemima Todd of Rowley, Dec. 4, 1742. She became his wife, and died April 25, 1752, aged sixty-five. He next married Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews of Ipswich, Oct. 31, 1754. His death took place Dec. 19, 1763, at the age of eighty-two. His business was that of a trader. He was often a selectman, several years a deacon, and finally ruling elder of the First Church. Each generation of his descendants has furnished distinguished men. His oldest son Ebenezer was lost overboard between Cape Ann and Cape Sable, October, 1732, aged twenty-six years. Jacob, the second son, married Sarah Redding in 1732. Nothing is known of him after the birth of a second son Jacob in 1734. Isaac, the next son that lived to maturity, married Hannah Burnham of Ipswich in 1734; became a deacon of the First Church; and died July 5, 1767, leaving sons, — Isaac, born in 1740, a pioneer in the settlement of New Gloucester, Me.; Nehemiah, born in 1746; and Thomas, 1756, a representative four years, both of whom engaged in commerce in Gloucester, whence they removed to Boston; and Aaron, born in 1759, who also became a merchant in his native town, and died in 1809. Moses, the youngest son of Ebenezer Parsons, born in 1716, graduated at Harvard College, 1736; and taught a school here several years, preparing himself for the work of the ministry, to which he was ordained in Byfield, June 20, 1744. He had preached here occasionally; and, in 1742, was chosen to assist Rev. John White of the First Parish; a measure designed to heal the dissensions that had long existed in the parish: which did not, however, suit the malecontents; and Mr. Parsons accepted a call to Byfield, where he remained till his death, which took place Dec. 14, 1783. He was distinguished as a preacher, particularly excelling in the gift of prayer; and was eminent for all the graces that adorn the character of the true Christian. His wife was Susanna, daughter of Ebenezer Davis; to whom he was married Jan. 11, 1742. She died in Boston, Dec. 18, 1794, aged seventy-five. He had several sons, — Moses, born in Gloucester in 1744, graduated at Harvard College 1765, and died in 1801;

Eben, born in 1746, married Mary Gorham of this town, daughter of Col. John Gorham of Barnstable, in 1767, — was extensively engaged in commercial pursuits in Boston and Gloucester, and died in Byfield in 1819, leaving an only son Gorham, who was born in Gloucester in 1768, became a wealthy merchant in Boston, and died at his farm in Byfield in 1843; Theophilus, the eminent Chief-Justice of Massachusetts, distinguished also for his learning and wit, and for the great influence he exercised in the party divisions of his day, died at his residence in Boston, Oct. 30, 1813, aged sixty-three, leaving several children, one of whom is Theophilus, formerly a distinguished citizen of Boston, now professor in the Law School at Cambridge. Theodore, the next son of Rev. Moses Parsons, born in 1751, graduated at Harvard College in 1773. He sailed from Gloucester in March, 1779, on board the privateer brig "Bennington." A letter was received from him, dated in May following; after which he was never again heard from till accounts were received from London that the brig was sunk in the English Channel in an engagement with a British vessel of superior force. William, the youngest child, born in 1755, eminent for a long and successful commercial career in Boston, and for the exalted character he bore to its close, died March 19, 1837, aged eighty-two. Few of our early settlers are represented by more numerous families than those who perpetuate the name of this respectable stock.

John Pearce, styled "a husbandman," was an early settler, and had land on the narrow projection, between Mill River and Annisquam River, which was formerly called "Pearce's Point." He was made a freeman in 1651; but the church-membership, then a necessary qualification for that privilege, is somewhat dishonored by the contumacious spirit, which, according to the records of the Quarterly Court, he often manifested. Within a period of four years, he was dealt with successively for reproaching the minister and ministry; for absenting himself from public worship; for speaking evil words of a magistrate; and finally, as a juryman, for dissenting from the rest of the jury. He had a wife Elizabeth, to whom he was married Nov. 4, 1643. She died July 3, 1673; and he next married, Sept. 12, 1673, Jane Stan-brave officer; and might have attained distinction, if he had not allowed his anger to overcome his patriotism. Capt. Warner was never married. He died in February, 1812, aged sixty-eight. Elias Elwell, youngest son of Elder Warner, became a merchant of Boston; and died May 27, 1781, aged thirty-one. Two of the daughters of Elder Warner were wives of distinguished men, — Mary, of Hon. Samuel Holten of Danvers; and Susanna, of Hon. Cotton Tufts, M.D., of Weymouth, — an eminent physician. Capt. William Warner, son of Daniel, a venerable citizen of eighty-seven years, is the only representative of this family, in the male line, now living in Gloucester. Capt. William Warner of Boston, perhaps a son of our first Philemon, commanded a company raised by himself in the expedition to Cape Breton in 1745; and died on his passage home, Nov. 5 of that year, aged forty-five, and was buried in our ancient graveyard. He left a wife and four children.*

Stephen Burns was drowned at the eastward, November, 1718. Josiah Choate died Aug. 26, 1798, aged eighty-three. Samuel Fleming was drowned on the Banks, fishing, 1730. Daniel Fuller was lost at sea, on a fishing voyage, 1755. Capt. Robert Honnors lived at Kettle Cove; and died in September, 1763. John Knight and wife Lydia were of Manchester, Oct. 30, 1708; but were then, with two children, baptized by Rev. John White of our church. Another child (Benjamin) was baptized in 1709; and was probably the same who married Grace Tucker in 1735, and had a son Job, who was lost, with all his crew, on the Grand Bank, about 1790, leaving a son Stephen, who was a shipmaster, and was lost at sea about 1810. Joseph Killam died in the Second Parish, March 12, 1806, aged a hundred years, eleven months, and twelve days. Samuel Lee was severely wounded in the expedition against Port Royal in 1707. He died June 8, 1721, aged thirty-three. Nathaniel Low was from Ipswich. He sailed on a voyage from that place in 1742; was taken, and carried a prisoner to France. After his release, he went to England, and died in the city of Salisbury. William Nelson's wife Elizabeth was drowned from a canoe in the Harbor, Nov. 3, 1718. A William Parslee died April 18, 1725, aged seventy-four; and a Widow Parslee died in 1741. Thomas Penill was son of Philip Penill of Trinity Parish, Island of Jersey: and died before 1726. Dickri or Digery Preston had a son Joseph, who appears to have grown to manhood. It may have been a Beverly family; for William Presson of that town died about 1718, leaving young children. One of these, perhaps, was the father of William, who came from Beverly, and settled on the Chebacco Road. He was a tailor, and died Dec. 22, 1814, aged seventy-seven, leaving descendants of the name still living in Gloucester. John Reading died Nov. 17, 1716, aged fifty-six. John Stone, and probably the others of that name, were from Beverly. Robert Stewart was a native of England. He died before 1764, leaving a son Robert, who settled at Freshwater Cove. Richard Varrell was from Ipswich; whence the other Varrells also probably came. John White was from Salem, and returned thither before 1732. He had a son John born here in 1722; the same, perhaps, who was a merchant of Salem, and died in October, 1792, aged seventy.

PARSONS

KEMERTON is a small parish four miles northeast of Tewksbury, being a part of the lower division; and fourteen miles north of Gloucester, in Gloucestershire, England. The Kemerton church register contains this record: "1627 Geoffrey the sonne of John Parsons Esq. of Kemerton Manor and Alice his wife, was baptized November —."

This is beyond question the Geoffrey who in 1645 accompanied his brother James to Alphington, near Exeter, in Devonshire. This was their mother's ancestral home, and James evidently decided to remain there, as is shown by a letter written by Elizabeth Parsons Morgan, daughter of James, to her cousin James, son of Geoffrey, in Gloucester, New England.

The letter bears date of May 14, 1714, Ashpington near Dartmouth (this near Alphington), and is to thank her cousin for a book that he had sent to her, and also to inform him of the death of her father James, which occurred in Alphington in 1708. It seems probable that Geoffrey soon tired of the quiet life of the small parish, and being an ambitious youth, decided to sail with an uncle from Dartmouth for Barbadoes, where he remained until 1654. He was a younger member of a highly respected family among the gentry not only of Gloucestershire, but of Devonshire. In 1654 he sailed for New England, arriving in Gloucester, on Cape Ann, late in the Fall of that year. As will be noticed, he was only twenty-seven years of age, and yet he must have had a considerable amount of money for those days, as in the following April, 1655, he purchased of one Giles Barge an acre and a half of land in what was known as Fisherman's Field, and a house and land a little removed from this. In this latter place, on Bray's Hill, overlooking Stage Fort, he fixed his residence.

There is a tradition of no little romance that while walking one sultry Summer's day in 1656, he was overcome by heat and thirst, and stopped by a spring for rest and refreshment. This spring was located on land owned by William Vinson (Vincent), one of the early and prominent settlers of the town of Gloucester.

While thus seeking rest, Sarah Vinson, the beautiful and attractive daughter of William Vinson happened along, and learning that the young stranger was thirsty, offered to go to her father's house for a drinking cup. Her charms and thoughtfulness at once made their imprint upon young Geoffrey's heart, and he resolved to make her his wife. This he did on Mch. 11, 1657. Ten children were born to them.

Geoffrey Parsons served as selectman of the town for many years; was one of its most prominent citizens and a successful business man. He and his sons lived on the westerly side of the "cut," and for many years were probably the only ones living on the Manchester Road. Manchester was formerly known as Jeffrey's Creek, and was a part of the Parsons estate. Some of the property owned by him is to-day in the possession of his descendants.

Geoffrey Parsons died Aug. 16, 1689. His will bears date of Dec. 17, 1688, and is too voluminous an instrument to appear on these pages in full. It is in part as follows: —

I, Jefferie Parsons Sr. of the County of Essex in New England, being of god's providence cast on my bed of sickness and weakness and not knowing how neere the tyme of my departure out of this world may be, yet knowing it to be the mynd and will of god that a man should sett his house in order before he dye, Doo therefore declare and make known this my last will and testament:

amount of money for those days, as in the following April, 1663, he purchased of one Giles Barge an acre and a half of land in what was known as Fisherman's Field, and a house and land a little removed from this. In this latter place, on Barr's Hill, overlooking Stage Fort, he fixed his residence.

While thus resting here, Sarah Vinson, the beautiful and attractive daughter of William Vinson happened along, and learning that the young stranger was thirsty, offered to go to her father's house for a drinking cup. Her charms and thoughtfulness at once made their impress upon young Jeffrey's heart, and he resolved to make her his wife. This he did on Nov. 11, 1657. Ten children were born to them.

Jeffrey Parsons died Aug. 19, 1689. His will bears date of Dec. 17, 1685, and is such a noteworthy an instrument as to appear on these pages in full. It is as follows:—

I, Jeffrey Parsons Sr. of the County of Essex in New England, being of god's providence cast on my bed of sickness and weakness and not knowing how soon the time of my departure out of this world may be, yet knowing it to be the mind and will of god that a man should set his house in order before he dye, I do therefore declare and make known this my last will and testament:

Imprimis, I give and bequeath to my dear and loving wife and to my son, James Parsons all my estate, (not hereafter in these presents not otherwise disposed) to improve for themselves and the bringing up of my children and keeping of the family together, either while they come of age or (by marriage) change their condition or otherwise dispose of themselves.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my son James Besydes the three acres I have given him already, where upon his house standeth, and an acre of meaddow before his doore as appears in his deed of gift, I say besydes what is already given him also because I do also give him three acres of planting land more, situate and lying at the lower end of my field (formerly called by the name of fisherman's field next the sea). Also I give and bequeath unto my said son, one half of my marsh at home, being situate and Lying before my dwelling house, all in Gloucester above said. Also I give unto him a yoke of oxen and two cows and ten sheep, and all the above said premises given him, I give to him and his heirs and assigns provided always and it is my will and intention and I doe here by ordain and appoint that if my said son doe dye without heir of his body Lawfully begotten that then the lands above said I have given him and whatever lands hereafter I shall give him in this my last will and testament Bee equally devided amongst his surviving Brethren, etc., etc.

The will was approved and inventory returned Dec. 17, 1689.

Feb. 3, 1704, Ebenezer Parsons, the youngest son of Geoffrey and Sarah Vinson Parsons married Lydia, the daughter of William and Mary Brown Haskell. The parents of each belonged to the wealthiest and most highly respected families of Gloucester and Essex County. The house of the Haskells was located on the west side of the Annisquam River (see Haskell).

Eight children were born to Ebenezer and Lydia Parsons, the sixth child being Moses. He married on Jan. 11, 1743, Susanna Davis, and to them was born on Feb. 13, 1750, Theophilus Parsons, who became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, and one of the most eminent jurists

A Genealogical Account of the Parsons family in Glocester in N. England, derived from JEFERY PARSONS, who by ye best accounts was born at Ashprington, near Dartmouth in Devonshire, in England, as appears by the following letter from Elizabeth Parsons alias Morgan, niece of the said Jeffery Parsons, & written to his cousin, James Parsons. The said Jeffery Parsons came out of England when young with his uncle, lived some years at Barbadoes, came from thence to N England, & settled at Glocester aforesaid.

Dear Cousin

I sometime ago received a letter from my ~~cousin~~ son in which he sent me the welcome news that he had ~~been~~ seen his relations in New England, & that my uncle Jeffery had five sons & two daughters living near together, in good fashion & in good health & that you had sent me a book for a token, which I take very kindly & give you many thanks for, tho I have not yet received it, my son not being yet returned or England, but I had a letter from him the last week, that he hoped to be home in a short time, being now in Port Mahon in the Island of Minorca. My father your uncle James Parsons died about six years since & my mother about twelve, they left behind them seven children, whereof John, Robert & Isabella are since also dead; but James, Jeffery & Sarah, who together with myself, are (God be praised) alive & in good health, join with me in their kind love and service to you & to the whole family of our uncle. I am married to one Francis Morgan, so that if you please at any time to send me a Letter, you must direct for Elizabeth Morgan at Ashprington, near Dartmouth in Devonshire, in England.

I have had no opportunity of making you any requital for your present, & therefore must desire you to accept of my prayers & good wishes for your self & family & all my relations, to whom I desire once more to be kindly remembered, & so rest theirs & your most affectionate kinswoman and hearty servant

Elizabeth Morgan

JEFFREY PARSONS OF LODDISWELL, DEVONSHIRE AND GLOUCESTER, MASSACHUSETTS

Willis S. Parsons

Over the years, a great many speculative statements have been printed about the origins of Jeffrey Parsons, who by 1654 was in Gloucester, Massachusetts, where in 1657 he married Sarah Vinson and died 16 August 1689. John J. Babson in History of the Town of Gloucester, Cape Ann (Gloucester, 1860), page 120 stated that Jeffrey was born in England in 1631, and went with an uncle to Barbados, leaving a brother James who died in England about 1708. Memoir of Theophilus Parsons, by his son Theophilus Parsons (Boston, 1861) claims that Jeffrey was a "younger member of a family holding a respectable position among the gentry of Devonshire."

Mary Chandler Lowell in Chandler-Parsons: Edmund Chaundeler, Geoffrey Parsons and Allied Families (Boston, 1911), page 71 presented a birth record from the parish of Kemerton, Gloucestershire, England as that of Geoffrey [sic] Parsons. Recent research in the Kemerton registers failed to yield any such record, and when Bishop's Transcripts for that parish for the year 1627 were examined, the source of the confusion was found, in the following entry:

1627 God[frey?] the sonne of John Farnes [or Formes] Parson of Kemerton and Alice his wife was baptized the xvth day of November.

The child baptized in Kemerton in 1627 was, therefore, not Geoffrey Parsons, son of John and Alice, but Godfrey Farnes, son of Parson John Farnes of Kemerton and Alice his wife.

Further confusion has resulted from the fact that Jeffrey Parsons was named in the will of Bridget (_____) Varney, widow of William Varney, of Gloucester, dated 10 November 1671, as "son Jeffrey Parsons" (The Probate Records of Essex County, Volume 2, 1665–1674 [Salem, 1917], 312–313). It has been claimed by many, including the esteemed genealogist Walter Goodwin Davis (The Ancestry of Nicholas Davis 1753–1832 of Limington, Maine [Portland, 1956], 227) that Bridget Varney had an earlier marriage to a Parsons and that Jeffrey was either a son of that union or a stepson.

Babson (History of Gloucester, 120) mentioned a letter written in 1714 by one Elizabeth Morgan of Ashprington, near Dartmouth, to her cousin James Parsons in New England, giving information about the family of Jeffrey Parsons' brother James. Theophilus Parsons referred to "an ancient letter or two" which provided background of the family. The Society's manuscript collections contain "A Genealogical Account of the Family of the Parsons's in Glouster in New-England: derived from Jeffery Parsons . . . " begun in 1743 by the Rev. Moses^3 Parsons with a later continuation by his younger brother Isaac Parsons. This, together with other geneaological material, is contained in a packet, addressed to "Mr. William Parsons Jr., at Theophilus

The child baptized in Kemerton in 1627 was, therefore, not Geoffrey Parsons, son of John and Alice, but Godfrey Farmes, son of Parson John Farmes of Kemerton and Alice his wife.

Further confusion has resulted from the fact that Jeffrey Parsons was named in the will of Bridget (____) Varney, widow of William Varney, of Gloucester, dated 10 November 1671, as "son Jeffrey Parsons" (The Probate Records of Essex County, Volume 2, 1665–1674 [Salem, 1917], 312–313). Theophilus Parsons referred to "an ancient letter of ours" which provided background of the family. The Society's manuscript collections contain "A Genealogical Account of the Family of the Parsons's in Glouster in New-England: derived from Jeffery Parsons . . . ," begun in 1743 by the Rev. Moses Parsons with a later continuation by his younger brother Isaac Parsons. This, together with other genealogical material, is contained in a packet, addressed to "Mr. William Parsons Jr., at Theophilus Parsons, Esq., Chestnut Hill, Boston," and superscribed "Property of C.C. Parsons 1832" [SG PAR 37]. Also in the collections is the photostat of an early transcript of the combined manuscript with additions [SG PAR 36].

The manuscript begins with a copy of the 1714 letter, here quoted in full:

> Dear Cousin
> I sometime since recieved a Letter from my Son, in which he sent me the welcome News, that he had seen his Relations in New: England, & that my Unkle Jeffery had Five Sons & two Daughters living near together, in good Fashion, & in good Health, And y^{t} you had sent me a Book for a Token, which I take very kindly, & give you many Thanks for, tho' I have not yet recieved it, my Son being not yet return'd for England, but I had a Letter from him the last Week, that he hopes to be Home in a short time, being now in Port Mahon in the Island of Minorca. My Father your Unkle James Parsons died about Six Years since, & my Mother about Twelve, they left behind them Seven Children: Whereof John, Robert and Isabell are since also de[ad] but James, Jeffery, and Sarah, who together with my Self, are (God be praised) alive & in good health, Join with me in their kind Love & Service to you & to the whole Family of our Unkle. I am married to One Francis Morgan, so that if you please at any time to send me a Letter, you must direct for Elizabeth Morgan at Ashprington near Dartmouth in Devon in England. I have had no Opportunity of making you any Requital for your Present, & therefore must desire you to accept of my Prayers, & good Wishes for your Self & Family, & all my Relations to whom I desire once more to be kindly remembred, & so rest theirs & your most affectionate Kinswoman & hearty Servant—May 14. 1714 [signed] Elizabeth Morgan Records at Ashsprington were examined but no references to James Parsons between 1600 and 1700 were found, nor anything relating to Jeffrey. Registers of nearby parishes also failed to yield relevant information. Although Parsons was a common surname in Devonshire, the records of only one parish, Loddiswell, listed a James Parsons (A. J. Howard, ed., The Devon Protestation Returns 1641 [Bristol, England, 1973]). The parish registers of Loddiswell are preserved in the Devon County Record Office, Exeter, in very poor condition, with sections illegible even with ultraviolet light. The following entries were found:

1670 21 July James Parsons the Elder was buried.

[Marriages]
1621 3 November James Parson and Alice [probably Crossing] married
[In 1627, a few entries are illegible with ultraviolet]
1657 15 December James Parsons the sonne of James Parsons of Loddyswell and Elizabeth Geiles dau. of George Geiles of Dodbrook were marryed. Banns were published three several days according to the late Act.
1660 10 December Nathan Kinge the sonne of George Kinge deceased and Rachel Parsons dau. of John Parsons the elder were married.

The baptism of Jeffrey in 1630 is clearly that of the Gloucester man, and the burial of James Parson "the Elder" in 1670 at least partially settles the question of the proposed relationship to Bridget Varney, who by that time was already the widow of William Varney. The history of Bridget and her thrice-married daughter, Rachel (Varney) (Cook) (Langton) Vinson, is discussed by Walter Goodwin Davis in The Ancestry of Nicholas Davis (cited above, 223–227), although even Mr. Davis fell into the trap set by Bridget's will and stated that Jeffrey Parsons was Bridget's son by a previous marriage. Faced with the dilemma of what to call a stepgrandson-in-law for whom she probably felt affection, Bridget evidently settled for "son." The possibility remains, however, that some other than filial blood relationship existed between them.

A search for supporting evidence in English probate records is frustrated by the fact that most Devonshire wills were destroyed in the bombing of Exeter in World War II, except for those proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury. The published index to the latter includes several Parsons, but none for Loddiswell; many have been examined without finding anything relevant. Some abstracts for Devonshire wills do exist, made before the war, but there are no Parsons wills among them. To date, manorial records to aid the search have not been found.

2. JAMES^{A} PARSONS (Jeffrey^{B}) was baptized at Loddiswell, Devonshire, 1 June 1599, and was buried there 21 July 1670. He married there, 3 November 1621, ALICE CROSSING [?], whose surname is nearly illegible in the parish register. Crossing seems the most plausible of several possibilities. The 1569 Muster Roll for Devon lists several men named Crossen or Crossyn, and the 1641 Protestation Roll for Devon includes several Crossings. Record of Alice's burial has not been found.

Children, baptized at Loddiswell, Devonshire, surname Parsons:

3. JOHN^{A} PARSONS (Jeffery^{B}) was born perhaps about 1605, and was evidently living in Loddiswell in 1658 when John, son of James, was referred to as John Parson the younger. The name of his wife has not been learned.

Children, baptized at Loddiswell, Devonshire, surname Parsons:

4. JEFFERY^{1} PARSONS (James^{A}, Jeffrey^{B}) was baptized at Loddiswell, Devonshire, 1 August 1630 and died at Gloucester, Massachusetts, 16 August 1689. He married at Gloucester, 11 November 1657, SARAH VINSON, daughter of William and Sarah _____ Vinson. The long-sought answer to the riddle of his relationship to Bridget Varney appears to rest with the fact that his wife was Bridget's stepgranddaughter. Bridget's daughter, Rachel (Varney) (Cook) Langton, married as his second wife and her third husband, Sarah's father, William Vinson.

2. James^2 Parsons (Jeffrey^{1}) was baptized at Loddiswell, Devonshire, 1 June 1599, and was buried there 21 July 1670. He married there, 3 November 1621, Alice Crossing (?), whose surname is nearly illegible in the parish register; Crossing seems the most plausible of several possibilities. The 1569 Muster Roll for Devon lists several men named Crosse or Crossyn, and the 1641 Protestation Roll for Devon includes several Crossings. Record of Alice's burial has not been found.

3. John^2 Parsons (Jeffrey^{1}) was born perhaps about 1603, and was evidently living in Loddiswell in 1658 when John, son of James, was referred to as John Parson the younger. The name of his wife has not been learned.

The long-sought answer to the riddle of his relationship to Bridget Varney appears to rest with the fact that his wife was Bridget's stepgranddaughter; Bridget's daughter, Rachel (Varney) (Cook) Langton, married as his second wife and her third husband, Sarah's father, William Vinson.

He m. probably (2) 4 Dec. 1742, Jemima (Nelson) (Bennett) Todd of Rowley, who d. 25 April 1752 aged 65 yrs (SG PAR 37; George B. Blodgette, The Early Settlers of Rowley, Massachusetts [1933], 21,244,385). He m. (3) 31 Oct., 1754, Elizabeth (_____) Andrews (SG PAR 36). 5. James Parsons (James^{A}, Jeffery^{B}) was born probably at Loddiswell, Devonshire, about 1632, and died about 1708, according to the letter written by his daughter Elizabeth Morgan. He married at Loddiswell, 15 December 1657, Elizabeth Geiles, who died about 1702 (letter). He was the second son James born to his parents, an earlier child of that name having been born in December 1622 and buried a couple of months later. Position of the other children in the family makes it unlikely that he was born before 1632.

FIRST GENERATION.

JOHN GOULD1 was admitted a freeman of the Massachusetts Colony, May 2, 1638. He lived in Charlestown; not on the peninsula, to which the name is now confined, but in that section of the old town which was known as "Charlestown-End," and was incorporated as the town of Stoneham, Dec. 17, 1725. He was probably one of the earliest inhabitants of Stoneham.

There was a John Gould, who, with his wife Grace, each of the age of 25 years, embarked for America in the Defence from London, July 7, 1635. They were from Towcester, in Northamptonshire. It has been supposed that this John Gould was the father of the Gould family of Stoneham. This is by no means certain. The officer whose duty it was to record the names of the emigrants from Old to New England, in 1635, would hardly have made the mistake of writing Grace, instead of Mary, as the name of John Gould's wife. Yet, if any of the readers of this Sketch should be inclined to think that the father of the Stoneham Goulds brought with him from London a wife GRACE, in 1635; that she died shortly after their arrival; and that he then married a second wife, MARY; there is certainly nothing to forbid the supposition. The matter must be left in doubt: the probabilities are perhaps equal on both sides.

MARY, the wife of John Gould, died Sept. 28, 1642. [Charlestown Records.] He then married JOANNA (???), who survived him, and died, Aug. 27, 1697, aged ONE HUNDRED YEARS.[??]

John Gould--or Gold, as the name appears in his will--seems to have died in the year 1690. His will is dated Jan. 3, 1688-9; proved, July 2, 1690; recorded, Midd. Prob. 7 : 85. He says nothing of his

---

(*) This family is not allied with any other families of which sketches are given in this volume. It is introduced here for other reasons. Mr. Savage, in his Genealogical Dictionary, gives the names of twenty or more, among the carly settlers of New England, who bore the name of GOULD, or GOLD.

[??] Her age is thus given on the Charlestown Records, with this note, added by the transcriber: "This age is demonstrated to have been about ten years less." We respect the judgment of the transcriber, as an experienced genealogist, but we cannot accept of his "demonstration" in this case. He believed the husband of this old lady to be the same person as the John Gould, who embarked in the Defence, in 1635, being then 25 years of age, and on this ground, apparently, discredited the positive statement of the Charlestown Records. But we have shown that this supposition is not clear of difficulties; and we know, from other sources, that Joanna wife, though living. He speaks of his sons John Gold, Daniel Gold, and Thomas Gold. The last (Thomas) seems to have deceased, some time before; for he is mentioned only in connection with the testator's "grandson, Thomas Gold, son of my son Thomas Gold," then under 21 years of age. The testator's son-in-law, John Birbene, is also mentioned. His estate is bounded, in part, by Thomas Cutler's fence--"that is the north line;" "south on ye River; east on ye Pond." As Thomas Cutler lived in Stoneham, near the line of South Reading, there can be no doubt that JOHN GOULD,1 the testator, also lived in the present territory of Stoneham.

His children were--by first wife, Mary--

2. Mary,2 bap. Jan. 29, 1636-7.
3. Sarah,2 bap. Dec. 15, 1637; m. April 2, 1660, John Burbeen, of Woburn. She d. May 14, 1670. Children--
   Mary, b. July 2, 1661. John, b. Aug. 9, 1663. James, b. May 15, 1668.
4. Elizabeth,2 bap. Feb. 17, 1640.
5. Abigail,2 bap. Sept. 26, 1642; m. April 1, 1669, William Rogers. They probably lived in Stoneham; as we find a William Rogers, either the same, or their son, who was taxed there in 1726.

By second wife, Joanna--

6. Hannah,2 b. Oct. 26, 1644; m. Thomas Elliot, June 10, 1675.
7. John,2 b. Jan. 21, 1646-7; d. March 8, 1647.
8. (+)John,2 b. Aug. 5, 1648; m. 1, (???); 2, Martha (???).
9. Thomas,2 b. (???); had a son Thomas,3 as mentioned in the will, already quoted.

SECOND GENERATION.

JOHN GOULD,2 son of John1 and Joanna Gould of Stoneham, then part of Charlestown; b. about 1652, if we may credit his gravestone, but Aug. 5, 1648, according to the record of his birth; m. 1, (???); 2, MARTHA (???).

He lived in "Charlestown-End," now Stoneham, and seems to have been a large landholder. He died Jan. 24, 1711-12, a. about 69, according to the grave-stone; about 70, according to Charlestown Record. He was buried in the Old Cemetery in South Reading; there being then no burial-place in Stoneham.

His will is dated Jan. 2, 1711-12; proved, in part--i. e. part of the will was established, the remainder being in dispute among the heirs--Feb. 11, 1711-12; recorded, Midd. Prob. 13 : 4. His will makes it evident that he resided within the present territory of Stoneham. He speaks of wife Martha, and son Samuel, who are appointed Executors. He mentions eldest son John, son Thomas, other children, Abigail, Daniel, Mehitabel, Jeremiah, Mary, Abraham, Isaac. The overseers of the will are Joshua Eaton and Kendall Parker. We learn from the Probate of the will that Ebenezer Knight m. Mary Gould, a daughter of the testator, and that Benjamin Geary m. Abigail Gould, another daughter. Abraham and Isaac were minors. John, Abigail, Jeremiah, Daniel, Mehitabel, and Mary, were "children of ye first venter;"

Samuel, Abraham, and Isaac, "of ye 2d venter." "Thos Gould lives in Connecticut Colony at Willingly," [Killingly.]

We make out therefore the following schedule of the children of John Gould--by first wife:--

11. (+)John,3 b. about 1672; m. Sarah (???).
12. Abigail,3 (???); m. May 15, 1693, Capt. Benjamin Geary of Stoneham; a wealthy citizen, and selectman of Stoneham several years.
13. (+)Thomas,3 (???); m. Ruth Wyman of Woburn.
14. (+)Daniel,3 b. 1682; m. 1, Sarah Grover; 2, Abigail Richardson.
15. Mehitabel,3 (???); m. James Hay of Stoneham, and d. March 23, 1721.
16. Jeremiah,3 (???). He is mentioned in his father's will, and in the settlement of the estate; which is all we know of him.
17. Mary,3 (???); m. Ebenezer Knight, of Stoneham.

By second wife--

18. Samuel,3 (???). We know nothing more of him than is stated above.
19. (+)Abraham,3 b. 1692; m. Mary (???).
20. Isaac,3 (???). We know nothing further of him.

10.

DANIEL GOULD,2 son of John and Joanna Gould; b. 1653; m. DORCAS (???). She was b. 1656; and died June 5, 1730, ‘. 74. [Grave-stone.] She lies buried next her son David, and near her son Daniel.

He lived in Stoneham, and died intestate, March 25, 1697, a. 44.

His widow Dorcas was appointed administratrix, April 16, 1697. The inventory includes 90 acres at the homestall, valued at œ225; 29 acres near the homestall, valued at œ29; one quarter part of a sawmill, œ8; 500 acres on the North of Merrimack, œ25; one negro man, about twenty years old, œ35; and moveables; all amounting to œ424.15. The estate is credited "for keeping his ancient mother for seven years last past, at œ10 per year, she being now near 100 years old, œ70."(*) [Midd. Prob. 9 : 69, 70.

We know of no other children of his than the following:--

21. (+)Daniel,3 b. 1688; m. Susanna Pearson, 1710.
22. (+)David,3 b. 1691; m. Elizabeth Green, about 1715.

Probably there were others, whose names are not preserved.

JOHN GOULD,3 (John,2 John,1) eldest son of John Gould,2 of Stoneham, b. about 1672; m. SARAH (???).

He spent most of his life in Stoneham, and is known as John Gould, senior, on the early Stoneham Records. He was a member of the church in that town, but not from its formation. Was taxed in Stoneham, 1726 and 1727. He removed to Southborough previous to December, 1742. His children were--

(*) Here is full confirmation of the statement in Charlestown records, respecting the age of widow Joanna Gould. But she must have been about 56 years old when her son Daniel was born.

23. Sarah,4 b. Jan. 31, 1694-5; m. John Howe of Stoneham, Feb. 13, 1717-18.
24. (+)John,4 b. July 3, 1697; m. Judith Walker of Woburn.
25. Thomas,4 b. March 11, 1699-1700.
26. (+)Benjamin,4 b. March 31, 1702; m. Elizabeth Watkins of Concord.
27. Abigail,4 b. April 21, 1706; m. John Tidd of Woburn, Nov. 6, 1729.
28. Elizabeth,4 b. Jan. 21, 1708-9; died young.
29. Mary,4 b. March 16, 1711-12.
30. Lydia,4 b. July 29, 1714; m. John Clemens of Stoneham, Feb. 10, 1735.
31. Elizabeth,4 b. Nov. 29, 1717.

THOMAS GOULD,3 (John,2 John,1) brother of the preceding; b. in Stoneham, about 1680; m. Aug. 1, 1721, RUTH WYMAN,3 b. April 17, 1697, dau. of Nathaniel,2 son of Francis Wyman,1 one of the first settlers of Woburn. For a Sketch of the Wyman Family, see Genealogical Register, Vol. III., pp. 35-38. See also, Vinton Memorial, pp. 383, note.

Maybe he has [illegible] "Thomas
ixed up w/ our
Thomas.

It appears from Midd. Prob., 13 : 4, that at the date of the probate of his father's will, Feb. 11, 1711-12, he (Thomas) lived in Killingly, Ct., a town then newly settled, to which several other people, about that time, removed from Stoneham and its vicinity. (See Vinton Memorial, pp. 402, 404, 415, 417.) And yet, in the record of his marriage, 1721, he is said to be "of Charlestown," and the birth of his first child is recorded in Charlestown; which seems to prove that he then lived in Stoneham. Moreover, the Act of the Legislature, by which Stoneham was incorporated, Dec. 17, 1725, provides that the Town of Stoncham "should have and enjoy that tract of land lying within the bounds [of Stoneham] commonly called and known by the name of Gould's Farm, now under lease to Messrs. Thomas and Daniel Gould, containing one hundred and ten acres, or thereabouts." June 13, 1711, Thomas Gould of Charlestown--the same man--for œ40, conveys to John Vinton of Charlestown, ten acres of land in Charlestown, "near Doleful Pond." In Dec. 1710, he also sold land in Charlestown to the same John Vinton. [Midd. Deeds, 16 : 113, and 23 : 352.

It would seem, therefore, that he removed to Killingly, in 1711, but afterwards came back to Stoneham; and again moved away. We have notice of only one child of his, viz.--

32. Ruth,4 b. in Stoneham, July 27, 1722.

Deacon DANIEL GOULD,3 (John,2 John,1) brother of the preceding; b. in Stoneham, 1682; m. 1, in Woburn, Oct. 21, 1702, SARAH GROVER of Stoneham, b. 1682, probably sister of Thomas Grover of that place. She d. Dec. 4, 1745, ‘. 64. [Grave-stone.] 2, April 15, 1747. ABIGAIL RICHARDSON,4 of Woburn, b. April 18, 1709, dau. of William3 and Rebecca3 (Vinton) Richardson of that place. See Vinton Memorial, p. 29.

He was an original member of the Church in Stoneham, formed July 2, 1729. He was chosen deacon, Nov. 27, 1730. The other deacon, then chosen, was Daniel Green. [Ibid, p. 403.] He was also a leading man in the town, and was often chosen on important committees.

His will is dated June 10, 1756; proved, March 23, 1761; recorded, Midd. Prob. 27 : 296-299. He mentions his wife Abigail, and "confirms

(*) These details will give a general idea of the way of living in those days, common among the farmers of our country towns. It seems that potatoes were not so much an article of diet then as afterwards. The dwelling-house was wooden, of one story, with two rooms in front, separated by an entry, and with a large room in the rear, which extended back of both the other rooms, and was used for kitchen, dining-room, and for the general purposes of the family.

?? The six names here given, and the following, are appended to the original covenant, July 2, 1729: Ephraim Larrabee, Jacob Howe, Edward Bucknam, Jonathan Griffin, Samuel Sprague, Ebenezer Parker, Thomas Cutler. So that about half of the original male members of the Stoneham Church were of the Gould family.

worship there, &c. It seems strange that he should have waited, before making such a request, till he was 78 years of age. The petition was not granted.

To distinguish him from his cousin Deacon Daniel Gould, he was called Daniel Gould, Junior, till he was long past the meridian of life. As such, he is known on the early Stoneham records. He was a leading man in that town, and was town clerk from the organization of the town in Feb. 1725-6 to March, 1747-8, a period of twenty-two years. He was then succeeded by his son-in-law, Capt. Jonathan Green, who held that office twenty-five years. Mr. Gould was also chosen clerk of the church at its organization, July 2, 1729. But we cannot say much in praise of the manner in which those early records were kept.

He died at the age of ONE HUNDRED YEARS, March 8, 1788.

He resided in Stoneham till some time previous to Dec. 3, 1742, at which date he and his father were living in Southborough, as appears by a bond then given by them to the town of Stoneham for the maintenance of Abigail Howe; who, as I suppose, was a sister of our John Gould.4 He was taxed in Stoneham, 1726 and 1727.

I find no record of his death or removal. I suppose he died in Stoneham in 173-, and that the following refers to his widow--"Widow Gould died Feb. 1801, aged 92." [Stoneham Records.

The children of Benjamin and Elizabeth Gould were--

64. (+)Benjamin,5 b. Feb. 25, 1724-5; m. Hephzibah (???).

He spent all his days in Stoneham, and d. there, Jan. 9, 1821, ‘. 92. The Records of the Church, on mention of his death, describe him as "a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost." He and his four wives lie side by side, in the Old Cemetery, in Stoneham.

By first wife he had--

67. Mary,5 b. May 1, 1755; m. Dr. John Hart, a surgeon in the army of the Revolution, and afterwards, for many years--till after 1820--a physician in South Reading. They were published, Dec. 28, 1778.

He resided in Stoneham, but from some cause was long absent in parts unknown. In his father's will, dated Jan. 10, 1760, it is said--"My son David Gould is absent, and is supposed to be dead." JACOB GOULD,5 (Jacob,4 David,3 Daniel,2 John,1) eldest son of Jacob4 and Elizabeth (Holden) Gould; b. in Stoneham, March 30, 1754; never married.

His name is connected with one of the most tragieal events which have occurred in the County of Middlesex. He, and his brother David and sister Mary, all unmarried, and all quite advanced in years, composed a family by themselves, living in the southeast part of Stoneham, east of Spot Pond, and on the old road to Medford and Boston. Being rather penurious in their habits, they were supposed to have a large amount of silver coin in their possession. There is no reason to doubt that information of this fact had extensively gone abroad, and that by some means it had become known among the convicts in the State Prison at Charlestown.

On the evening of Nov. 26, 1819, about eight o'clock, the humble dwelling of the Goulds in Stoneham was entered by three men, who determined to obtain their money. Jacob Gould was stabbed in several places, and died in about five hours. His brother David and sister Mary were wounded, but survived many years. The family were robbed of about one thousand silver dollars.

The impression made by this event on the town and the whole vicinity, is indescribable. Astonishment, alarm, and terror, sat on every countenance. Whose dwelling could be secure from such a visit? Every possible effort was immediately made to discover the perpetrators, and bring them to justice. Suspicion soon fell heavily on a man of the name of Daniels, formerly belonging to Boston. He had just been discharged from the State Prison, and either he or an accomplice had been in the town a few days before, inquiring into the circumstances and habits of the family; whether they had money, whether they kept weapons, &c. He was speedily arrested, and committed to the County Jail in East Cambridge. The evidence against him appeared so conclusive, that just before his trial was to occur, he hanged himself in his cell. Another man, named Phillips, was arrested on suspicion, but got clear.

"The Stoneham murder" is remembered with a strange and painful interest to this day; and the grave-stone of Jacob Gould in the Old Cemetery still commemorates the awful event.

NOTE TO PAGE 169.

Since the foregoing was in type, the compiler has received from the transcriber of the Charlestown Records, Mr. Thomas B. Wyman, the following evidence that Joanna Gould, wife of JOHN GOULD,1 was not so old by ten years as is stated on the aforesaid records, in the record of her death, as quoted on page 169:--

In a deposition, dated "6 (2) 1658," that is, April 6, 1658, "Johanna Gould, aged fiftie years, or thereabouts, deposes," &c. At the same time, her husband's age is stated to be forty-seven. In another deposition, dated in 1676, Johanna Gould's age is said to be sixty-seven. This evidence, of course, is decisive. The age of Joanna and her husband, therefore, will correspond nearly with the age of John and Grace, who were passengers in the Defence, in 1635; and the probabilities incline to the supposition that John Gould the husband of Grace, and John Gould the husband of Joanna, were one and the same person. I may add that it now appears that Joanna Gould was 45 years of age when her son Daniel was born; instead of 56, as the Charlestown Records would require us to believe.

THE HOLMES FAMILY OF MARSHFIELD.

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENTS.

THERE were several families among the early settlers of New England, who bore the name of HOLMES. We find a George Holmes in Roxbury, who was made freeman, May 22, 1639; and died December 18, 1645. His children were Joseph, Nathaniel, Deborah, and Sarah. There was a John Holmes of Portsmouth, whose wife was a dau. of Thomas Walford of Mishawum [Charlestown.] There was a Thomas Holmes in Hingham in 1637; and another Thomas Holmes in New London in 1665. David Holmes of Dorchester had wife Jane, son David, and daughter Margaret, and died in 1666. Robert Holmes of Cambridge, 1636, was freeman June 2, 1641; his wife was Jane, and his children John, Elizabeth, Sarah, Joseph. Richard Holmes was at Rowley, in 1643: he was born in 1610.

Obadiah Holmes, originally from Preston in Lancashire, England, was admitted to the Church at Salem, March 24, 1639; became a Baptist, and was for this offence excommunicated; went to Rehoboth, where he had an allotment of land in 1645; was arrested with several others at Lynn, on Sunday, July 20, 1651, for attending a Baptist meeting; was carried to Boston the next day, and imprisoned till September; then taken out and whipped with exceeding severity in State Street; removed to Newport, and was a minister there in 1652; died Oct. 16, 1682, a. 76. He had eight children, and his descendants were in 1790 estimated at five thousand. For a further account of him, see Backus's History of New England, and Benedict's History of the Baptists.

Lieut. WILLIAM HOLMES was at Plymouth, in Oct. 1632, at the time of Governor Winthrop's visit to that place, and with others accompanied the Governor ten miles on his return. He was sent by the

I have set up a password secure site for the descendants of John Buckman. If you can verify your lineage and would like to share information with other cousins, please e-mail me and I will be happy to include you in our growing community. The only stipulations that we have are that everyone agree to maintain the confidentiality of living members and a preference that everyone include source documentation or an explanation of their theory with any information that they provide. If you think that you may be descended from the above individual, please feel free to e-mail pertinent information and we will be happy to review our information to see if we might be able to help you.

John Buckman married Sarah 1662 in Boston, MA. John Buckman, "although he took his wife bare", promised, in 1652, to pay the £5 debt owed by William Butler to an Inn-keeper of Lynn, MA. On February 11, 1655 John Sr. was living in Northwest Boston, MA. In November 1659, the above Inn-keeper brought suit against John which resulted in the Constable of Lynn, MA attaching John's boat of "sixe or seven tonnes" until payment of £6 was remitted. On January 13, 1673 John & Sarah Buckman sold land in the Northend of Boston "leading from the Mill Bridge toward winnesemmet fferrye" with the provision of "free privillidge and enjoyment of egress and regress passage...into and from his sd dwelling house into the street". On May 27, 1674 John & Sarah Buckman sold their land & dwelling provided that John could reside in the house until his death and that if the buyer "cause to pull down a part or the whole thereof...(he must) provide a convenient roome for him the sd Buckman to reside in." On September 24, 1684 the Sarah, widow of John Buckman, was granted his entire estate since he made no provision for her in his will. He died July 1681 in Boston, MA. John and Hannah had 2 children: John and Hannah. John and Ann had 1 child: Daniel. John and Sarah had 3 children: Samuel, Mary, and Jeremiah.

Descendants of John Buckman of Boston

Generation No. 1

1. JOHN^{1} BUCKMAN was born Abt. 1630, and died Bet. April 20 - May 13, 1681 in Boston, Suffolk, Massachusetts (Source: Suffolk County Probate, # 1183.). He married (1) HANNAH NEE UNKNOWN BUCKMAN Abt. 1652 in Massachusetts. She was born Abt. 1634, and died Bef. 1662 in Massachusetts. He married (2) SARAH NEE UNKNOWN BUCKMAN Abt. 1662. She died Unknown.

Notes for JOHN BUCKMAN:
To date, no marriage records have been found for John and the names of his first two wives are learned from the birth records of his first three children. However the name Hannah and Ann were sometimes interchanged and he may have only been married twice, since no death records have been found for either Hannah or Ann Buckman. There has been speculation that John was the estranged son of William Bucknam of Charlestown, MA. This is disproved by the request to the courts which was filed on June 06, 1695 by William's daughter-in-law Judith requesting subsistence for the tending of her deceased husband's brother John, who had been living with them for 20 years. (Evidently, this John was abducted by his grandmother shortly after his mother's death, raised by her and in 1672, while living at Rehoboth, MA, was a partner in a silver mine at Providence, RI. Around 1678 he was "struck dumb" and didn't regain his speech until 1696). Gravesend (Long Island, NY) was divided in 1645 into thirty-nine lots and among those receiving shares were: Richard Stout, John Buckman, Samuel Spicer, Nicholas Stillwell, John Bowne, William Goulding, William Compton, and others whose names are familiar in the early history of Monmouth. The following year, 1646, John Buckman sold his share to Thomas Applegate, who was probably the same Thomas Applegate who, with the colony of Massachusetts Bay in 1635, was licensed to keep a ferry between Weymouth and Braintree.

John Buckman's will, dated 20 April 1681, was allowed 28 July 1681 (Suffolk Co. Probate #1183): In the name of God Amen I John Buckman of Boston in New England Senior being in a Competant measure of health and of a Sound Memory and under understanding yet Considering the frailty of mans life... Doo make and ordaine this to bee my last will and testament revoking and Nulling all other willes by mee formerly made In manner following First I Bequeath my Soule unto the Everlasting arm es of Jesus Christ my Saviour hoping through his grace to obtain Eterlasting life when this miserable life is Ended And my body to the Earth from whence it came.. .Itm I give and Bequeath my' Just debts and funeral expenses first being discharged unto my' two children Mary Buckman and Jeremiah Buckman all the Estate I shall leave behind mee at the time of my decease Equally to be divided between them. Only I give unto my Daughter Mary my best furniture besides the said halfe part & a Chest and Drawers belonging to it and I doo make and constitute my lovinge friends Mr. John Viall Junior and Samuell Townsend to be the Executors and overseers of this my last will desiring them to take care that this last will may be performed and that my two children above named may have what I leave behind mee at my decease when they come to age. And In testimony that this is my last will I have hereunto Set my hand & Seale this twentieth day of Aprill -Anno Dm one Thousand Sixe hundred & Eighty and one. 1681. [Samuel Townsend renounced his Executorship and Thomas Kemble deposed that he and Nicholas Shepley were present at the signing of the will (Case #1183, Recorded.July 20, 1681).]

An inventory of John's estate was performed on May 13, 1681 and consisted of: no real estate; 2 ruggs (00 16 00); 3 shirtes, 3 shoohes, 3 shawls (01 05 00); a parcell of his wearing clothes (01 00 00); one old chest of drawers (00 10 00); a meale trough, 2 iron potts & potthookes tongs & gridiron (00 10 00); ane bed, bedstand, 2 pillows, 1 old rugge & some other ould bedding (02 00 00); one ould cubberd (00 05 00); two pewter dishes, 3 earthen dishes & 1 pan (00 04 00); one wooden spinning wheele and cards (00 04 00): Total: £06 14s 00d. On September 24, 1684 the widow of John Buckman was granted his entire estate since he made no provision for her in his will.

Some notes above sourced from "A Bucknam/Buckman Genealogy" by Ann Theopold Chaplin; Gateway Press, Inc. Baltimore, 1988.

Notes for HANNAH NEE UNKNOWN BUCKMAN:
In 1652 John Buckman, "although he took his wife bare, without anything", promised to pay £5 to Joseph Armitage to settle a claim against the estate of William Butler. (This would imply that Hannah was William's widow, or child.)

Children of JOHN BUCKMAN and HANNAH BUCKMAN are:

2. i. HANNAH^{2} BUCKMAN, b. July 06, 1653, Boston, Suffolk, Massachusetts; d. Bef. 1681.

ii. JOHN BUCKMAN, b. Abt. 1655, Massachusetts; d. April 1676, Sudbury, Middlesex, Massachusetts.

Notes for JOHN BUCKMAN:
In "Report on the Sudbury Fight, April, 1676" there is the statement that a John Buckman, junior "dyed in the country's service, 1676." Though there is no record for the birth of this John, the use by his father of the appelation "Senior" and of this John, both in the records of the Sudbury fight and by his sister, as "Junior" leaves room for little doubt.

iii. DANIEL BUCKMAN, b. March 29, 1660, Boston, Suffolk, Massachusetts (Source: Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths 1630-1699, 9th Report of the Record Commissioners, Boston City Document 130.); d. Bef. 1681.

Children of JOHN BUCKMAN and SARAH BUCKMAN are:

iv. SAMUEL^{2} BUCKMAN, b. February 17, 1662/63, Boston, Suffolk, Massachusetts (Source: Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths 1630-1699, 9th Report of the Record Commissioners, Boston City Document 130.); d. Bef. 1681.

v. MARY BUCKMAN, b. December 12, 1667, Boston, Suffolk, Massachusetts (Source: Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths 1630-1699, 9th Report of the Record Commissioners, Boston City Document 130.); d. Aft. 1681.

3. vi. JEREMIAH BUCKMAN, b. February 05, 1669/70, Boston, Suffolk, Massachusetts; d. August 19, 1747, Sutton, Worcester, Massachusetts.

JEREMIAH BELCHER OF IPSWICH.

1. Jeremy, or Jeremiah,[1] Belcher came to New England in the ship "Susan and Ellen," in the spring of 1635. On the ship's list his age is stated to be 22 years, so he was born about 1613. (Hotten's "Original Lists," page 59.) He is said to have been born in Wiltshire, England, but the writer has found no evidence of this. He settled at Ipswich, Mass., where he became a proprietor, was admitted freeman Mar. 13, 1638-9, and acquired extensive lands by grant and by purchase. In the records he is usually styled "merchant," but sometimes he appears as "sergeant." On May 28, 1659, he was granted 300 acres, by the General Court, to be located outside the settled plantations, but he did not take up this grant, which was revived in favor of his son Jeremiah[2] over sixty years later, Nov. 17, 1722. (Province Laws, vol. x, page 220.) On May 15, 1661, he deeded lands in Haverhill to his sons Jeremiah[2] and John.[2] (Pope's "Pioneers of Massachusetts.") He deposed on Mar. 21, 1671-2, then aged 59 years. (Essex Co. Court Files.) On July 1, 1721, John Gould of Charlestown, Walter Russell of Cambridge, Daniel Gould of Charlestown, and Moses Burnham and Thomas Andrews of Ipswich, heirs to Jeremiah Belcher of Ipswich, deceased, released to Samuel Adams all claims to a farm in Ipswich formerly owned by said Jeremiah Belcher, and they also defended the grantee from the heirs of Richard Belcher and from the heirs of David Belcher, sons of said Jeremiah, and from the heirs of John Andrews who married one of the daughters of said Jeremiah Belcher. (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. 40, page 9.)

Jeremiah[1] Belcher died in Ipswich, in Mar., 1692-3, aged about 80 years, the eldest son, Rev. Samuel,[2] being appointed administrator of the estate, Mar. 31 of that year.

The name of his first wife, whom he married about 1637, does not appear, but it should be noted, however, that a Mary Clifford, aged 25 years, emigrated to New England in the same ship with him in 1635, her name standing next to his on the passenger list, and that Edward[3] Belcher, grandson of Jeremiah,[1] had a son Clifford.[1]

Jeremiah[1] married second, in 1652, Mary Lockwood, with whom he made a marriage contract Sept. 30, 1652, conveying lands to trustees for her benefit for life. She survived him, and died in Oct., 1700.

5. x. Richard, b. Sept. 10, 1665.
xi. Ann, b. probably about 1668; m. Moses Burnham of Ipswich, who signed the deed of 1721.

2. Rev. Samuel^{2} Belcher (Jeremiah^{1}), born in 1639, graduated from Harvard College in 1659, and studied for the ministry, and was preaching at Kittery, Me., as early as 1663. (Sibley's "Harvard Graduates," vol. II, page 42.) About 1665 he went to the Isles of Shoals, where he was preaching as late as 1686 (York Deeds, vol. IV, page 64), but finally ill health obliged him to leave that place about 1692. Before 1695 he was preaching in the West church at Newbury, where he was ordained and settled Nov. 10, 1698. About 1711, the infirmities of age compelled him to retire from the ministry, and he removed to his native town, Ipswich, where he died Mar. 10, 1714-15. A contemporary minister, Rev. John Barnard, refers to him as "a good scholar, a judicious divine, a holy and humble man."

He married first, about 1668, Mary,^{2} daughter of Rev. Thomas^{1} Cobbett of Lynn and Ipswich, who died about 1679; and married second, Mercy,^{3} born Feb., 1655-6, daughter of Rev. Michael^{2} and Mary (Reyner) Wigglesworth of Malden, and widow of Rev. Samuel Brackenbury of Rowley. She survived her second husband, and died Nov. 14, 1728.

Children by first wife:

i. Elizabeth,^{3} b. about 1671; m. Apr. 5, 1697, John, son of George Taylor of Cape May County, N. J. On May 21, 1716, they signed a receipt for her inheritance in her father's estate, she being the only surviving child. (Essex Co. Probate.) Six children.
ii. Samuel, b. about 1674; mentioned in the will of his grandfather Cobbett; d. young.

3. Jeremiah^{2} Belcher (Jeremiah^{1}), born in June, 1641, located about 1665 at Rumney Marsh (which embraced what is now Revere, Chelsea, and East Boston, and was a part of Boston until 1739, when the town of Chelsea was incorporated). He first leased a farm of Gov. Bellingham (the original indenture, in the beautiful handwriting of the governor, being now in the possession of Warren^7 Belcher, Esq., of Winthrop, Mass.), and later purchased lands in what is now Lynn, Revere, and on Breed's Island (then called Hog Island). He appears to have been a prosperous farmer, as in 1702 he paid the highest tax in Rumney Marsh, on a farm worth £25 rent per year, two oxen, eight cows, two horses, one hog, and one hundred sheep. (Boston Record Commissioners' Report, vol. 10, page 143.) Late in life, he deeded lands to his sons Edward, Joseph, and Ebenezer, which they divided among themselves. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 28, page 136.)

He made a will, the original of which is in the possession of his descendant Warren^7 Belcher, Esq., of Winthrop, Mass., but the instrument was not offered for probate, and therefore never recorded in any registry, so it is herewith given in full, for preservation:

"The last Will and Testement of Jeremiah Belcher, Living in Boston, being at this present time through God's goodness in health, Revoking all other Wills.

1. I do commit my Soul into the hands of God who gave it, who I trust hath redeemed it, and purchased it with his precious Blood. And my body to decent Christian burial in hope of a blessed resurrection.

2. And as to my worldly goods I do give and bequethe forever to my three sons, Edward, Joseph, and Ebenezer Belcher, all that my Farm, lying and being within the bounds of Boston and Lin, as they have already divided it, as also the salt-marsh lying within Boston bounds.

3. I do give unto my Daughter, Sarah Dole, my house and land in Boston which I am now possessed of after my desese, that is to say she paying to me the just sume of £30 money as I shall have occasion to call for it, but if it so be I shall have no occassion to call for it, then my will is that after my desese the £30 be paid to my three sons, Edward, Joseph and Ebenezer to be equetly divided, that is to say, ten to each of them, within one year after my desease.

4. I do give to my son Edward my silver Tankard and two silver spoons. My will is that my Grandson Jeremiah the son of Edward Belcher, may have the silver Tankard, after his father's deseace.

5. I do give to my two sons Joseph and Ebenezer each of them a silver cup and two silver spoons. I also give to my daughter Dole two silver spoons.

6. What remains of my estate after my desease to be equetly divided amongst my children. Lastly, I do appoint my three sons already named, Executors of this my last Will and Testiment.

As Witness my hand and seal, Aug. 28, 1719.

JEREMIAH BELCHER."

Jeremiah^2 Belcher died Feb. 6, 1722–3, aged 81 years, 6 months, according to his gravestone, which is still standing in the old Revere cemetery.

He married, about 1667, Sarah,^{2} daughter of Edward^1 and Elizabeth Weeden of Boston, who died Jan. 20, 1715–16. On Mar. 20, 1716–17, he entered his intention of marriage with Rebecca Nash of Boston, but it is doubtful if the marriage was consummated. She was the widow of John Nash, cooper, of Boston, who had died in 1712.

In the deed of July 1, 1721, previously mentioned (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. 40, page 9), the grantors, who were some of the grandchildren of Jeremiah^1 Belcher, defended the grantee from the heirs of David^2 Belcher; so it may be inferred that the latter had descendants, although no further record or mention of him of any kind can be found. Possibly he perished in the Canadian expedition of 1690. He was probably father of the following.

Grafton, parallel to the northerly line. This placed the farms of Francis Kidder, Josiah Allen, Richard Singletary Isaac Barnard, Garshom Waite, Samuel Goodell, and Amos Goodell (taking them in order from west to east) to the north of the proposed line, including these men in the new precinct.

The position of the northerly inhabitants of the town is well set forth in the petition which they presented to the town, Sept. 8, 1742, in which they stated that

> "your petitioners, living, sum and the most of us, very Remote from ye place of worship and having, sundry times, petitioned said Town for Releef, and hether to all our petitions have been abortive and unsuccessful yet, notwithstanding our Difficulties being so grate, we cant content our selves to give over seeking, hopeing we shall succeed at last—and, having thought upon a new skeem—which we think will pritty well accomidate us all, we pray that you would not Deny us this Request. (viz.) To set us of (off) three miles and an half wide by a parallel line with the northerly line of said Town. Beginning at oxford and Runing to grafton In order to make a precinct, that so we may have the worship of God set up amongst us, which we think Cant but be a Reasonable Request and what we hope you will not Deny unto us, which as in Duty Bound we heartily pray for. (signed) Timothy Carter, Isaac Manning, Thomas Whittemore, Josiah Bond, Daniell Greenwood, Joseph Sparrowhack, Isaac Gale, Nathan Hiscock, Jabesh Pratt, John Allen, Samuel Buck, Junr., Jabesh Pratt, Junr., Jeremiah Bukman, Johnathan Dwinell, Amos Singletary, Ebenezar Pierce, Thomas Hall, Ebenezar Sibley, Garshom Bigelow, Samuel Boutell, John Allen, Junr., Johnathan Park, Robert Goddard, Francis Kidder, Edmond Barten, Abel Chase, Richard Singletary, William Fiske, Elisha Goddard, Garshom Waite, George March, Johnathan Fuller, Johnathan Waters, Theophilous Kinne, Daniel Buckman, Samuel Buck, Thomas Gould, Edward Lyon, Elisha Barton, Thomas Holman, Jeremiah Buckman, Junr., Solomon Holman, Robert Jeneson."

The town, however, refused to set off the precinct in answer to their petition, whereupon the petitioners applied to the General Court and asked that they be set off as a precinct by special enactment. The town sent a committee to oppose the granting of this request. Nevertheless, the General Court reported favorably for the petitioners and in February, 1743, sent a committee to visit the town and hear the parties interested. As a result, October 28, 1743, an order was passed establishing precinct No. 2, according to a line drawn three miles south of and parallel to the northerly line of the town. November 11, 1743, an additional provision was made, by vote of the General Court, which compelled the inhabitants in this newly established precinct to pay their proportion of all ministerial charges in the town up to March, 1744.

The following is a copy of the petition for the issue of a warrant for the organization of the second precinct:

> Worcester, ss.,
> To Richard Moore, Esq., one of his Majs. Justices &c. We the Subscribers, Inhabitants of ye Second Precinct in Sutton in said County hereby signify to you our Desire that a warrant may issue agreeable to Law for calling a Meeting in said Precinct as soon as may be &c. (which was to choose Parish officers.)

Daniel Buckman
Thomas Gould
Abel Chase
Ebenezer Pierce
Solomon Holman
Francis Kidder

The warrant which was issued appointed the first meeting to be held at the house of Richard Singletary on the twenty-sixth day of December, 1743. It was directed to Jeremiah Buckman and it bears the following endorsement:

> "Sutton, Dec. 26, 1743. By vertue of this Warrant, to me Directed, I have notified ye Freeholders and other Inhabitants of this ye same at Mr. John Singletary's Mill Doore. By Mr. Jeremiah Buckman one of the Petitioners of S'd Warrant."

Capt. Timothy Carter was chosen moderator and Robert Goddard was precinct clerk of the meeting.

The First Congregational Church within the present town limits (the Second Congregational at the time in Sutton) was formed by covenant, Sept. 10, 1747. The Rev. James Wellman became the first settled minister Oct. 7, 1747, and he was dismissed July 22, 1760. The Rev. Ebenezer Chaplain was settled to succeed him, Nov. 14, 1764.

land in the last half of the 16th and beginning of the 17th century, was not absolutely unknown.[1] Josse Hond, the designer and map engraver, better known as "Jodocus Hondius," a native of Flanders, was living in 1585, and after.

DESCENDANTS OF BENJAMIN HAMMOND.

Communicated by Philip Battell, Esq., of Middlebury, Vt.

AN authentic trace of Benjamin Hammond is given by Farmer (Genealogical Register, p. 186), that he came from London, married in Sandwich in 1650, and removed to Rochester. The record of marriage has not been found at Sandwich, but that of the death of Rose, a daughter of Benjamin and Mary Hammond, Nov. 20, 1676, is certified (courteously) by the town clerk. In referring the parentage of Benjamin to William and Elizabeth (Penn or Payne) Hammond, of Watertown, the sagacity of Farmer, and other genealogists, has been misled by a singular identity of names of the emigrant parents of two branches of the Hammonds, and a divided claim between them to the same family surname for the emigrant ancestress of each. Another coincidence is developed, also, in the emigration of the two Elizabeth (Penn or Payne) Hammonds in the same year, 1636, in different ships indeed, but each without her husband, a William Hammond, and each with several children. The tradition of circumstances so similar was likely to become complicated, and to be referred for explication to the first accessible record in which its threads might unite; which in Bond's Watertown, with but a little strain of adaptation, was found to answer the demands of all the name, except the descendants, otherwise provided for, of Thomas and Elizabeth (Cason) Hammond, first of Hingham. In this solution, to which Savage and the family generally seem committed, the line of Benjamin Hammond, in the Idumean border of the old colony, was least considered, and it was but practical justice that a rod out of its own stem should vindicate its history.

The summary in Dr. Bond's invaluable record of Watertown families, includes the English register, credited to Mr. S. Hammond Russell, of the birth of William and Thomas Hammond, which is copied here, as indicating a locality of the name.

A record of fine genealogical interest exists in the Memorandum Book of Capt. Elnathan Hammond, of Newport, R. I., who lived an esteemed citizen of that town, and died there May 24, 1793, at the age of 90. His descendants cherish his memory with peculiar regard, retain his portrait, point to his former residence still standing in Thames Street, recall his character as a sea captain in the best commercial period of the town, and his active interest in the congregational church. The book is a reverend relic, preserved in Vermont in the family of the grandson and namesake of the original owner, now in the keeping of his only surviving great-grandson here, at the age of eighty. Its leather binding and metallic clasp and uneven margins indicate age and wear, its contents recall a historical period, and special and various personal tastes. It is a pocket memorandum book, of which this is the first inscription in respect to date:

> Elnathan Hammond, his Memorandum Book, Febʳ 1755. Memorandum of some things I have observed, yᵗ. I think remarkable, and of some things I have thought so in course of my reading.

Observations, extracts, statistics, recipes and memoranda, in a hand-writing both distinct and graceful, are supplemented by excerpts or documents in print, pasted or folded in, of which Dr. Stiles's list of clergymen and churches in New-England, and an early copy of the Declaration of Independence, are noticeable specimens. On an initial fly-leaf is formally inscribed:

> This Memorandum Book I have given to my grandson, Elnathan Hammond, May yᵉ 15th, 1781, and I desire that he may have the possession of it after my Decease: Witness my Daughter Elizᵗʰ Sprague. ELNATHAN HAMMOND.

The portion of the book which with genealogists has gained in vitality by time, is of course that in which the family history is disclosed, nor in this probably is the spirit misrepresented, which in a patriarchal way provided that mode of preserving it. The grave of Capt. Hammond, in the old burying ground, is with those of members of his family, finding their peace in dust with his own, while the traces of his filial spirit in this record restore the place of his ancestral line in remembrance, and that of his venerated ancestress who brought it over.

A short Record of our Family, by Elnathan Hammond, copied from a Family Record of my Father's, Mr. John Hammond, of Rochester, 1737, and continued, beginning the year at the 1st of January.

William Hammond, born in the city of London, and there married Elizabeth Penn, sister of Sir William Penn, had children: Benjamin their son born 1621, Elizabeth, Martha and Rachel their daughters, all born in London. MRS. ELIZABETH PENN HAMMOND.

Following the family record in the memorandum book, a note is made as follows:

> Newport the 25th day of Feb. A.D. 1772. By our family record my Great Grand-Mother Elizabeth Hammond, with her son Benjamin Hammond aged 13 years and 3 daughters all young, came over to New England in the same ship or vessel with that worthy Minister Mr. John Lothrop, A.D. 1634 and by an ancient Manuscript Record found in the hands of the R^{d}. Mr Elijah Lothrop of Gilead in Connecticut, in the handwriting of Mr John Lothrop, a copy of which taken by Doctor Ezra Stiles of Newport I have now before me, I find that Mr John Lothrop was at Scituate soon after his arrival in New England, viz.: "The 28 of September 1634, on the Lord's Day, spent my first Labors forenoon and afternoon."
> "January 8, 1634-5, were joined in covenant together as many of us as had been in covenant before, to wit (the names being mentioned)—9 men and 4 women. January 19th, I was choosen Pastor and invested into office." The church increased by additions from time to time until the 33d person joining is mentioned as follows: "Elizabeth Hammond, my Sister, having a dismission from the Ch. at Watertown was joined April 16, 1638." Rev John Lothrop with 30 men and 11 women members of his Ch. removed to Barnstable between the 26th of June and 11th of October in the year 1639. Now I suppose my Great [illegible]ndmother Elizabeth Hammond after Mr John Lothrop left Scituate removed to Bo[illegible]n, as it appears by our Family Record that she died and was buried at Boston A.D. [illegible]40. This written by Elnathan Hammond Feb^{y} 1772.

The Pastoral Journal of the Rev. John Lothrop, reprinted in full in the REGISTER (vol. ix. pp. 279–87; x. pp. 37–43), including baptisms, burials and marriages, at Scituate and Barnstable, has no entry of Elizabeth Hammond's name but that quoted above. Her dismission from Watertown indicates a connection with the family there. The term "my Sister" implies a family relationship with her pastor, perhaps as a sister-in-law. Her name has not been found in the Probate or other records of Boston, nor a trace of her young daughters anywhere. As to her maiden name, that of P[illegible]ne by the parish register of Lavenham is assigned to her competitor. In the pedigree of the Penns,[1] daughters are not named. Her son was nineteen at her death, and to that time the remembrances of home had been kept alive to him. Ten years later, his marriage with Mary Vincent at Sandwich, herself of English birth, would renew and assure them for transmission by their son, who always living near his parents, was forty at his father's death. The grandson made the record, when a subsequent collateral distinction might mislead him, but his ancestress ennobled the line in the sacrifice and silence of exile.

History of the Town and City of Gloucester appears by the records that three of his sons were married in town: Daniel, to Susanna Milberry in 1736; John, to Sarah Witham in 1737; and Benjamin, at the age of eighteen, to Sarah Elwell in 1744. Daniel Hadley died June 10, 1737, on his passage from Canso. Several children are recorded to John Hadley, and one to Benjamin.

Nathaniel Hadlock had land near Ipswich line, where he probably lived. He married Remember Jones, May 1, 1673; who died March 2, 1718, aged sixty-four. His children recorded are — Nathaniel, born in 1677; Deborah, 1679; John, 1682; James, 1684; Samuel, 1687; Mary, 1696; and Benjamin, 1700. Besides these, he had Joseph and William. The latter married Penelope Firbee in 1717; had a daughter, and a son Nathaniel; and was drowned near the Ferry, Sept. 14, 1730. Benjamin had a wife Dorcas, by whom he had eight children; of which were sons Benjamin and John.

Samuel Haieward is not mentioned as an owner of land, nor in any other connection than that of husband and father. His marriage with a daughter of Henry Felch, March 2, 1641, is the earliest in the records. His children were — Samuel, born in 1642; and John, 1643.

John Hammons, in June, 1663, had land lying between Thomas Riggs's and the run going to Goose Cove. He married Mary, daughter of Morris Somes, Oct. 17, 1660; and had the following children,: Elizabeth, born in 1661; John, 1664; Mary, 1666; Timothy, 1668; and William, 1674. He was twice married: first to Ruth Stanwood, July 7, 1686, who died April 17, 1689; and next to Agnes Penny, Jan. 20, 1691. He died at Casco Bay, January, 1718, aged fifty-four; leaving five daughters, and a son John, who died Feb. 3, 1725, aged twenty-five.

Hammerston, Edward, Cambridge, bur. 24 Aug. 1646. James, Mass. 1642.

Hammond, or, as oft. writ. Hammons, Benjamin, Yarmouth 1643, by Farmer said to have come from London, and to be s. of William and Eliz. a sis. of William Penn, but this could not be the celebr. William. Possib. the maiden name of his mo. was Payne; but whether she had br. William is unkn. Farmer adds, that he was at Sandwich, m. in 1650, and rem. to Rochester; where liv. John, call. his sec. s. b. 22 Nov. 1663. George, Newport, in the list of freem. there, spelt Haman 1655. John, Rochester, s. of Benjamin, m. Mary, d. of Rev. Samuel Arnold, wh. outliv. him, after 55 yrs. union, had Jabez, Benjamin, and John, beside sev. more; and d. 19 Apr. 1749. John, Scituate 1643, of wh. I think, no ment. is found in Deane. John, Gloucester, whose surname is by Felt writ. Hamons, Haman, or Heman, m. 17 Oct. 1660, Mary, d. of Morris or Maurice Somes, had Eliz. b. 30 Dec. of yr. unkn. but prob. 1661; John, 5 Jan. 1664; Mary, 10 Feb. 1666; Timothy, 24 July 1668; and William, 13 Feb. 1674. John, Watertown, s. of William, brot. by his mo. at the age of 7, in the Francis from Ipswich, 1634, was a lieut. by first w. Abigail had John, b. 3 Feb. 1654, wh. d. 1 Oct. 1658; Eliz. 6 May 1655; and Abigail, 21 June 1658; and ano. John; by sec. w. Sarah Nichols, m. at Charlestown 1664, wh. d. 14 Jan. 1688, aged 45, had Sarah, wh. d. 11 Sept. 1674, at 8 yrs.; Hannah, b. 10 Apr. 1669; Nathaniel, July 1677, d. soon; Samuel, 25 Feb. 1680, d. young; and Hepzibah. Her mo. d. 14 Jan. 1689, and by third w. Prudence who surv. him, and d. Sept. 1711, prob. had no ch.; and he d. 22 Nov. 1709. Eliz. m. a. 1676, John Mason; Abigail m. 18 June 1679, John Hastings; Hannah m. John Poulter, and Hepzibah m. 23 Sept. 1708, William Shattuck. He was the richest man in the town, selectman 1664, and often after. His will, dat. 4 days bef. his d. names w. Prudence, and s. John, four ds. with their hs. Jonathan, Wells 1682, eldest s. of William of the same, left two ds. no s. ‡ Joseph, Kittery 1680, br. of the preced. a lieut. had Joseph, b. 1677, and two ds. to outlive him; was, prob. the major, carried prison. by the French, 1695, to Canada, as Hutch. II. 89 and 180, tells; and couns. of Mass. d. 24 Feb. 1710. His wid. Catharine, d. of Nicholas Frost, had been wid. of William Leighton, and d. 1 Aug. 1715. His d. Dorcas m. Robert Cutts, jr. * ‖ Lawrence, Charlestown, ar. co. 1666, freem. 1666, m. 30 Sept. 1662, Audrey Eaton (wh. came, he says, the yr. bef. from London), had Francis, b. 19 Aug. foll. and his w. d. 8 days after. He next m. 12 May 1665, Abigail, wid. of John Willet, youngest d. of deac. Edward Collins of Medford, had Martha, b. 6 Apr. foll. d. at 2 mos.; Abigail, 27 Apr. 1667; John, 1 May 1669, d. at 4 mos.; Jane, 10 Aug. 1670, d. young; and Eliz. 13 July 1672. His w. d. 1 Feb. 1674, and he m. 8 Feb. 1675, Margaret, wid. of dep.-gov. Willoughby, wh. bore him no ch. and d. he says, 2 Feb. 1683. Fourth w. Ann, was wid. of William Gerrish, m. 14 Jan. 1685, and had Lawrence, 23 Nov. foll. wh. d. under 5 yrs. and Francis, again, 13 Sept. 1689, and d. the day after his br. so that the f. writes in his Diary, "all my three s. d. within one yr." for his oldest ch. was k. 24 Nov. 1688, by fall on board his ship just come to anchor in the outer harbor. He was capt. rep. 1672, and five yrs. more rem. to Boston, and d. 25 July 1699. Abigail m. 30 Jan. 1690, Luke Greenough, and next, 25 Feb. 1692, James Whippo of Barnstable. Nathaniel, Cambridge vill. now Newton, s. of Thomas the first, had, by w. Mary, whose surname is not found, Nathaniel, bapt. 19 Feb. 1671, at Roxbury, prob. d. soon; Mary, b. 15 Dec. 1672; Sarah, 3 Oct. 1675; Nathaniel, again, 26 Jan. 1678; Esther; Eliz. 11 Mar. 1683; Thomas, 27 Feb. 1686; and Hannah, 31 Mar. 1689, wh. d. at 11 yrs. He was freem. 1690, d. 29 May 1691. An idle tradit. gives him fifteen ch. without any more names, or telling how many of all the other eight were b. bef. he was 27 yrs. old. Richard, Kennebeck 1665, k. by the Ind. 1676, at the same time with capt. Thomas Lake, when all his fam. of sixteen were either k. or car. into captiv. Eliz. his wid. m. John Rowden of Salem. Samuel, Rochester, perhaps s. of Benjamin, by w. Mary had, if one will accept the preposter. rec. Benjamin, b. 18 Dec. 1682; Seth, 13 Feb. 1683; Rosimund, 8 May 1684; Samuel, 8 Mar. 1685; Thomas, 16 Sept. 1687; Jedediah, 19 Sept. 1690; Josiah, 15 Sept. 1692; Barnabas, 30 Jan. 1695; Maria, 27 Jan. 1698; John, 4 Oct. 1701; and Jedediah, again, 30 Sept. 1703; as Mr. Hamblen prints in Geneal. Reg. V. 85, where one, if not two, of the first four, we see, is manifestly wrong. Thomas, Hingham 1636, younger br. of the first William, b. at Lavenham, Co. Suff'k. where, it is said, he was bapt. 9 Jan. 1587, perhaps sev. yrs. bef. he was b.; freem. 9 Mar. 1637, by w. Eliz. m. prob. in Eng. 12 Nov. 1623, wh. d. bef. him, brot. ch. Eliz. and Thomas, had Sarah, bapt. 13 Sept. 1640, and Nathaniel, 12 Mar. 1643; rem. to Watertown, thence across the riv. 1650, to Cambridge vill. purchas. large farm with Vincent Druce, and d. 30 Sept. 1675, aged 88 yrs. His will names all these ch. Eliz. wh. m. 17 Aug. 1659, George Woodward, Thomas, and Nathaniel, all then m. and Sarah, prob. w. of Nathaniel Stedman, as dec. but her ch. Sarah and Eliz. to be heirs. He had very good est. Thomas, Watertown, s. of William, b. in Eng. by w. Hannah, d. of John Cross, had only ch. and he posthum. Thomas, b. 11 July 1656; d. 10 Dec. 1655. His will of 21 Nov. preced. speaks of his est. in Lavenham, Suff'k. The wid. d. 24 Mar. 1657, and her will was pro. 8 Apr. next. Thomas, Newton, s. of the first Thomas, m. 17 Dec. 1662, Eliz. d. of Isaac Stedman, had Eliz. b. 3 Nov. 1664; Thomas, 16 Dec. 1666; Isaac, 20 Dec. 1668; Nathaniel, 3 Feb. 1671; John, 30 Apr. 1674; and Eleazer, 13 Nov. 1677; and d. of smallpox, 20 Oct. foll. His wid. d. 1715. Thomas, Watertown, posthum. s. of Thomas the s. of William, had, I think, been impress. for serv. in the war of 1676, on an expedit. and fined £4. for not going, as appears in his petitn. in wh. he declares, he had done much, m. 21 Aug. 1678, Eliz. Noyes, who d. 4 Apr. 1679; and he m. 6 Dec. 1679, Sarah Pickard, had Hannah, b. 15 Nov. 1680, who d. at 11 yrs.; Sarah, 20 Jan. 1683; Thomas, 17 Nov. 1685; Eliz. 12 May 1688; David, bapt. 23 Nov. 1690; Nathaniel, 25 July 1697; and Jonathan, bapt. on same day; was freem. 1690, and progenit. of all the Hammonds of Watertown and Waltham, it is said. William, of Mass. was k. by the Ind. in Pequot war. 3 Mass. Hist. Coll. III. 130, 157. Scrupulous inquiry will, prob. lead to belief, that an error of near. 40 yrs. is here seen, and that the suffer. was one of the very first victims of Philip's war. William, Watertown, perhaps as early as 1632, freem. 25 May 1636, had good est. d. 8 Oct. 1662, aged, says the rec. a. 94. But the Reg. in Eng. of his bapt. 30 Oct. 1575, when he could be very few days old, for his f. Thomas m. Rose Trippe on 14 May 1573, and the first ch. Eliz. was bapt. 1 Apr. 1574, proves that he was a. 87. He m. 9 June 1605, Eliz. Payne, sis. of William, had William, bapt. 20 Sept. 1607; Ann, 19 Nov. 1609, d. soon; John, 5 Dec. 1611; Ann, again, 14 July 1616; and Thomas, 17 Sept. 1618. His will of 1 July 1662, names w. Eliz. s. John, gr.s. Thomas, s. of dec. Thomas, d. Eliz. w. of Samuel House of Cambridge, and her four ch. d. Barnes, and d. Sarah Smith with her s. Adam. The w. had come in the Francis from Ipswich, 1634, aged 47, with ch. Eliz. 15; Sarah, 10; and John, 7; and she d. 1669, or one acco. has it, 14 Sept. 1670, in 90th yr. Six or seven yrs. of exagger. may here be allowed for, knowing that the age of her h. was equally extend. beyond the truth. William, Lynn, is by Lewis named of 1636, and d. next yr. William, Wells 1656, or earlier, a man of conseq. gr. juror, next yr. clk. of the writs, and commissr. for small causes until 1679; had Jonathan, and Joseph, perhaps other ch. but those outliv. him. He d. 1702, as his gr.s. Joseph wrote, in a letter of 24 Mar. 1733, says, also, that he told him he was b. 1597. See Geneal. Reg. IX. 312. The writer's f. Joseph, was b. 1647, being the younger, and hims. was b. 1677, so that he could hardly mistake the yr.

of the old man's d. when he calls him 105 yrs. old. Whether equal confid. should be yielded to the date of his b. depends on the ages of the relater and the hearer. If the one were too young to note such matters with precision, or the other too aged to possess exact recollect. some deduct. perhaps of ten yrs. may be justif. However the prob. is far greater of the extreme age, than the story giv. by Col. Whipple in Geneal. Reg. V. 246, embarrass. with double absurdity, making the venerable Hammond to be of Monmouth's party, 1685, when he was 88 yrs. old, if the gr.s. report be correct, and he had been 30 yrs. at our E. settlem. as also in mak. his br.-in-law Nicholas Frost of the royal party in opposition to the Duke of Monmouth, whereas Frost was in his grave at Kittery twenty-two yrs. bef. the illegit. slip rebel. against his precious uncle. Such is the jack-a-lantern made of chronology preserv. by venerat. traditions. William, who was k. by the Ind. 27 June 1675, the fourth day of Philip's war, may have been of Rehoboth, for there one William had Eliz. b. 24 Sept. 1661; but this man was of the troop of capt. Prentiss, wh. must, we suppose, have chiefly been composed of volunt. of Cambridge and the neighb. town of Dedham.

Hampton, Thomas, Sandwich, d. early. By his will, of Mar. 1638, nam. only his min. Leverich, and some neighb. it may seem that he had no w. or ch.

Hamuck, Thomas, Dover, was there tax. 1666 to 72, says Mr. Quint, but he tells no more.

Hanbury, Daniel, came from London 1635, in the Planter, aged 29, but we kn. no more. Luke, Mass. 1637. Felt. Peter, Sandwich 1643. William, Duxbury 1639, m. 1641, Hannah Souther, was of Plymouth 1643, but rem. to Boston 1649, here had William, b. 5, bapt. 11 Feb. of that yr. and prob. d. Feb. 1650, for inv. of very good est. of his was taken 21 of that mo. He had three ch. bef. Hannah H. m. 24 Oct. 1656, Francis Johnson, wh. I presume to be the Salem early sett. At P. he had the prefix of respect. Sometimes it is writ. Henbury.

Hancock, Anthony, Wrentham, had been serv. of William Sumner of Dorchester, ment. in his will of 1681, by w. Sarah, who d. 17 Nov. 1700, had prob. Henry; Anthony, b. 26 Feb. 1685; and perhaps by w. Ruth had Mary, 19 Dec. 1701; William, 1 Mar. 1703; Hannah, 3 July 1706; and Silence, 16 June 1709. John, New Haven 1679, a propr. in 1685, who is not kn. to have had issue, d. 10 Mar. 1712. He may have been the man to wh. 1663, grant of five hundred acres in Carolina was made by the patentees for discovery there. Nathaniel, Cambridge, by w. Joan had Mary, b. 3 Nov. 1634; Sarah, 3 Mar. 1636; Nathaniel, 18 Dec. 1638; John, who d. 2 Apr. 1643, prob. not 2 yrs. old; Eliz. 1 Mar. 1645; and Lydia, 5 Apr. or 2 July 1646; and he d.

says Farmer, bef. 1652. Nathaniel, Cambridge, s. of the preced. m. 8 Mar. 1664, Mary, d. of Henry Prentice, had Nathaniel, b. 28 Feb. bapt. 28 May 1665, d. 20 July foll.; Mary, 6, bapt. 11 May 1666; Sarah, 23 Aug. bapt. 15 Sept. 1667; Nathaniel, again, b. 29 Oct. 1668; Abigail, 20 Dec. 1669, d. soon; John, 1671, H. C. 1689; Samuel, 2 Jan. 1674; Abigail, again, 23 Aug. 1675; Eliz. 26 Aug. 1677; Ebenezer, 10 Mar. 1681; Joseph, 28 Apr. 1683; Thomas, 1685; and Solomon, d. 16 May 1710; was freem. 1668, and d. 12 Apr. 1719. He had, also, Ann and Abigail, b. and d. 1672. John was first min. of Lexington, ord. 2 Nov. 1698, but had first preach. at Wells and York, and was f. of Thomas, the most wealthy merch. of Boston, found. of the Professorsh. of Orient. lang. at the Univ. as well as of Rev. John, H. C. 1719, min. of Braintree, and of Rev. Ebenezer, H. C. 1728, collea. with his f. This last was f. of John, b. 12 Jan. 1737, H. C. 1754, presid. of that Congr. wh. declar. Independence, 4 July 1776; at wh. time he was Treasr. of Harv. Coll. In the Hist. of that Inst. by Presid. Quincy, his character may be seen, as weigh. in a just balance. He d. Gov. of Mass. 1793. Thomas, Hadley 1678, rem. soon. Nine of this name have been gr. at Harv.

Hancox, Thomas, Farmington 1670, then aged a. 25 yrs. m. 17 Mar. 1685, Rachel, d. of John Leonard of Springfield, had Thomas, b. 1686; John, 1688; William; Abel; Rachel; Daniel; Jonathan; and Mehitable; but the rec. are uncert. as he rem. to Hartford, was there keep. of the gaol, 1691, and the names are found at each town, but without uniformity.

Hand, John, Easthampton, L. I. 1648. Wood, 40. Perhaps he is the same wh. was a propr. at Guilford, 1685. Joseph, one of the first sett. at Killingworth 1663, and perhaps he m. Jane, d. of Benjamin Wright; ano. Joseph of Guilford m. Hannah, d. of William Seward.

Handen, Benjamin, Providence 1645, or 6. See Herendean.

Handforth, Nathaniel, Lynn 1637, came from London, d. Sept. 1687, aged 78. Lewis, 90.

Hands, Mark, Boston 1645, nailer, came, I think, in the Jonathan, 1639, aged 20, by w. Abra had Mary, b. 15 Feb. 1646, who d. soon; by w. Mary had Mehitable, b. 21 Oct. 1652; John, 10 Sept. 1654; went on a long voyage, 1661, and in his will of 15 July of that yr. gives d. Mehitable, as desir. by his dec. w. one third of his own est. and two thirds to s. John, but if both the ch. d. then to his kinsm. Joseph Dell, he paying his mo. Hannaford, &c. The will was pro. 17 June 1664; and I suppose he d. abroad.

Hanford, or Handford, Thomas, Norwalk, came, not with his mo. Eglin H. wh. m. Friday 15 Dec. 1637, deac. Richard Sealis of Scituate,

CROSBY

1. ROBERT CROSBY, baptized Oct. 30, 1596; died about 1640, in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, Yorkshire, England. He was 6th in descent from John Crosby, of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor.; married Constance Brigham, about 1622. She was born about 1602, in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, Yorkshire, England; buried Jan. 25, 1683-4, in Rowley, Mass.; daughter of Thomas and Isabel (Watson-Ellithorpe) Brigham. Isabel was the daughter of James Watson.

Constance was a sister to Anne Brigham, who in 1634 married Simon Crosby, of Cambridge, Mass., a fourth cousin of her husband, Robert Crosby.

Mrs. Constance Crosby and her three children came to New England before 1643; but the exact time of their emigration is unknown, although it is likely they came with Rev. Ezekiel Rogers' company in the autumn of 1638. On Jan. 10, 1643-4 a survey was taken of the town of Rowley and a record made of all land holdings at that time. The homestead of Mrs. Crosby is thus described: "On Wethersfield Streete. To Custins Crosby one house-Lott, containing one acre and a halfe, bounded on the north side by a piece of ground unlaid out, and the end of the streete." She also had received various grants of upland and marsh, amounting to twenty-one acres.

In 1650, "Wid. Crosby" had one calf; and in 1653 "Uxor Crosby" had two cows. In 1674, she asked that someone be appointed to care for her orphan grand-daughter Sarah Longhorne.

Children born in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor:

John,	bapt. Jan. 25, 1623-4; d. young.
Jane,	bapt. Apr. 22, 1627; m. John Pickard, Oct.29, 1644, in Rowley, Mass.
2. Mary,	bapt. Dec. 4, 1629; bur. in Rowley, Nov. 29, 1667; m. Richard Longhorne, Jan. 16, 1647-8.

Robert, bapt. July 22, 1632; d. young.
Hannah, bapt. Oct. 31, 1634; m. John Johnson, Dec. 6, 1655, in Rowley, Mass.

He was the son of William Dillingham, of Cottesbach, Leis., England. He married Oseth (???), who was buried at Cottesbach, June 16, 1609, It is recorded in Deane, as of June 15. He married secondly Margaret (???), who survived him.

He was rector there from 1601 to his death. He inherited from his father a freehold estate in Bitteswell, Leicestershire, adjacent to Cottesbach. It is not known where he was educated, but as all the other clerical members of the family graduated from Cambridge, it is supposed he also studied there.

donated her MSS. to the Society. Had they not been discovered it is not unlikely that these MSS. would have eventually been thrown away by the custodian of the building in which they were stored.

These invaluable papers are catalogued as Bartlett Collection, SG/BAR/86. Its 18 cartons contain a wealth of genealogical material, much of which has never appeared in print. It should be a veritable "Sutter's Mill" for genealogists, its nuggets already panned and ready for plucking.

This contributor descends from the Crosby family whose record is given in Mrs. Eleanor Davis Crosby's Simon Crosby the Emigrant (1914), for whom Dr. Bartlett made the English research, carrying back the line in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, Yorkshire, to about the year 1440. Page xi of the Introduction reproduces Dr. Bartlett's letter (28 March 1913) to Mrs. Crosby submitting "a report of the Crosby search, consisting of 237 typewritten pages on the Crosby and allied families, with 8 charts of the Crosbys and allied families of Lambert, Ellithorpe, Brigham, Sotheron, Millington, Watson and Belt."

It is clear, from statements made in the book, that not all of the available information was included in the printed genealogy. For example, the statement is made (p. 56) that Robert Crosby, whose widow and daughters emigrated to Rowley, Mass., was a fourth cousin of the emigrant, Simon^{6} Crosby, but Robert's ancestry is not given.

Early Settlers of Rowley, Massachusetts, by G. B. Blodgette, as revised and edited by Amos E. Jewett, shows that three of Robert Crosby's daughters married Rowley men and left descendants: Jane Crosby married 29 Oct. 1644 John Pickard and had eight children, all of whom married; Mary Crosby married 16 Jan 1647/8 Richard Longhorne and left four surviving married daughters; and Hannah Crosby married 6 Dec. 1655 Capt. John Johnson and had three married children and many grandchildren. Descendants of all of these should have an interest in the ancestry of Robert Crosby.

Carton 3 of the Bartlett Collection includes carbon copies of the 237 pages of Crosby data referred to above. Transcripts of many wills (some translated from originals written in Latin), charts, extracts of administrations on estates, etc., were found, although this contributor found no extracts of church records, other than those shown on the charts, in the brief time available for this research.

The Crosby ancestry of Robert Crosby, as revealed by Dr. Bartlett's data, follows:

1. John Crosby of Alne and Stillingfleet, co. York, born about 1440, died between 20 April 1502, the date of his will, and 8 June 1502, when it was probated by his son "William Crosby, one of the executors, power reserved for the other." The will, translated from the Latin, follows:

> To be buried in the choir of the parish church of Stilyngfleyte. To the church of Stilyngfleyte, 10s and to the church of Alne, 5s. For masses in the church of Stilyngfleyte £4. To the four orders of the brethren of York, 2s. To my son John, 6s 8d. To my son Richard, 10 sheep, 2 calves and 20s. To my daughter Emme, 6s 8d. To my daughter Agnes, 6s 8d. To my son Robert, 20s. remainder of all the years which I have in a house called Gyhowse, lying in Flaworth, with the appurtenances. To John Crosby, son of Robert Crosby, a house called Boyhowse, lying in Flaworth, with appurtenances. All the residue of my goods to my son William and my son Miles, they to be executors. Witness: John Mylin, chaplain (Prerogative and Exchequer of York Wills, vol. 6, p. 29).

Flaworth is a village in the parish of Alne. Members of the yeomandry class were almost always buried in the churchyard. The fact that John was to be buried in the choir of the church indicated his high standing in the community.

John Crosby and his unknown wife had seven children, as given by Mrs. Crosby (op. cit., p. 5).

2. JOHN^{2} CROSBY (John^{1}), born about 1470, was apparently the eldest son. The records of his marriage, death and will have not been found, but he is known to have had five sons:

   i. ROBERT,^{3} born about 1495. He was on a subsidy list in 1524. Data of his descendants are available.
   ii. ALAN, on a Holme-on-Spalding-Moor rental list of 1528.
   iii. JAMES, also on the 1528 rental list. His descendants are known.
3. iv. THOMAS, born about 1505.
   v. RICHARD, born about 1508, whose will was dated 1545. A record of his descendants is available.

3. THOMAS^{3} CROSBY (John,^{2} John^{1}) of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, was born about 1505 and married about 1530 JENNET—.

Mr. Walter Lee Sheppard, Jr., of the Committee on English and Foreign Research, has kindly called this contributor's attention to the 26 Dec. 1552 will of Isabel Foster, widow of John Foster of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor. The will, a copy of which is in the Bartlett Collection, was probated 4 Feb. 1552/3 by William Foster of Earthropp and Richard Foster of Northcave, guardians of the executors during their minority. Bequests were made "to children of my brother Robert Sutton . . . to Jane Crosbye my daughter" with the residue going to children Thomas, Margaret, Alyson, Custance and Elizabeth Foster, they to be executors. Isabel's husband, John Foster, had died between 7 Nov. 1552, the date of his will, and 26 Dec. 1552, when she made her's. William's will, probated 4 Feb. 1552/3, on the same day as Isabel's, also by William and Richard Foster, guardians of the testator's children, names wife Isabel and children Thomas, Margaret, Alyson, Custance and Elizabeth Foster, they to be executors.

Isabel's maiden surname was probably Sutton for had Robert been a brother-in-law the bequest would presumably have been "to the children of my sister,—Sutton." There remains the possibility that Robert was Isabel's half-brother, however.

Jane Crosby was clearly Isabel's daughter by a former marriage, for John Foster's will shows he had no such daughter. Although Isabel's first husband may have been a Crosby, none with wife Isabel has been found, so it is tentatively assumed that her daughter Jane was married to a Crosby in 1552.

At this period two Crosbys lived in Holme with wives named Jennet, the equivalent of Jane. Thomas Crosby, born about 1510, son of Miles, married about 1542 Jennet, widow of John Bell of Bursey in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, who had two minor children named in John's 1537 will. The second Crosby with wife Jennet was Thomas Crosby, born about 1505, own cousin of the first. Since one of the witnesses of the will (1555) of the latter was named John Foster, it seems probable that the testator's wife was identical with Jane, daughter of Isabel Foster. It is hoped that clarification of these points will be forthcoming.

The will of Thomas Crosbye of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, dated 4 Aug. 1555, was proved 10 Oct. 1555 by his own son Richard (ibid., vol. 10, p. 20):

> Soul to God, St. Mary, and all the Holy Company of Heaven; to be buried in church yard of Holme. To Wife Jennet Crosbye—a yoke of oxen. Son Richard Crosby—a brown stott. Son Michaell—10 ewes, etc. Son James Crosbye—a pair of wayne sheres. Daughters Agnes and Alice Crosbie, such cattell as was delivered to them. Elizabeth Crosbye, a bushel of rye, and to her youngest son a yowe, at lawful age. To Margaret and Jennet Crosbye, my son's daughters, a lamb each. To Sons Robert and Rycharde Crosby, doublets. To my children James and Alice Crosbye, sheep in the tenure of Thomas Barker and Thomas Johnson. To daughters Agnes and Alice Crosby, two formes. To sons Richard and James Crosbye, all lands in Rowlaye in the feilds of Holme. All residue of goods to wife Jennet and sons Richarde, Mychaell, and James Crosbie, they to be executors. Witnesses: John Horsman, John Foster, Mathewe Millington.

Thomas and Jennet Crosby had six children, named in his will:

i. AGNES.^{4}
ii. MICHAEL (data of his descendants available).
iii. JAMES.
4. iv. RICHARD, born about 1532.
v. ALICE.
vi. ROBERT.

4. RICHARD^4 CROSBY (Thomas,^{3} John,^{2} John^{1}) was born in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor about 1532. He married about 1555 MARGARET ——who was buried in Holme 20 Oct. 1591. Her maiden name may have been Stennson, for she bequeaths clothes to "Sis [Cecelia ?] Stennson, my sister."

Richard Crosbie of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor made his will 10 April 1586; it was proved 6 July 1586 (ibid., vol. 23 p. 231):

> To be buried in church yard. To son Thomas Crosby, a yoke of drawne stotts. To son Robert Crosby, a yoke of stotts undrawn. To wife Margaret Crosbye, two old oxen. To daughter Elizabeth Crosbie, two drawne stotts, and a brown mare I bought of John Wetherall, etc. To said daughter Elizabeth 2 acres of land in more ridge and in the east ynge of Holme (and other lands). To son Robert Crosbie, land in Holme called Rowlay, and to his heirs, and if none, to Thomas Crosbie and John Crosby my sons (other land to them). To Peter and Margaret Crosbie, children of my son John Crosbie, lambs, etc. To the children of Henry Smith of Brighton and the first child of Katheren Granger, lambs, etc. To wife Margaret Crosby and sons Thomas and Robert Crosbie, the lease of the farm where I dwell, and residue of goods, they to be executors. Witnesses: Willm Lambart, Henry Haton, Miles Wright, Peter Granger, Willm Howlaye.

Margaret Crosbie, widow of Richard, made her will 12 Oct. 1591; proved 15 Jan. 1591/2 (ibid., vol. 24, p. 780):

> To the two children of John Crosbie, brass, etc. To John Crosbie's daughter, a coffer. To John Crosbie's two children, 10s each when of age. To George Clarke, 8s. To Sis Stennson, my sister, clothes. To Willm Beadlle's wife, a kerchief. To Willm Mease, a mett of rye. All residue of goods to my son Thomas Crosbie, he to be sole executor. Witnesses: Willm Begdall and John Wetherell. Also to son Thomas Crossebie my part of the lease in the moore end for 8 years.

Richard and Margaret Crosby had four children, identified by their wills:

5. i. JOHN,^{5} born about 1556.

ii. ELIZABETH, born about 1558; died unmarried, and was buried in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor 1 Feb. 1586/7. Her will of that date, proved 30 Jan. 1587/8, named her mother Margaret and brothers Thomas, John and Robert, among others (ibid., vol. 21, p. 632).

iii. THOMAS, born about 1560. He made a will in 1597 and left a widow, ALICE. Records of their children are available.

iv. ROBERT, baptized 19 July 1562; married Anne ———. He made a will in 1597 and was buried in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor 7 May 1597. His descendants are known.

5. JOHN^5 CROSBY (Richard,^{4} Thomas,^{3} John,^{2} John^1), born in Holme-on-Spalding-Moor about 1556, married and had four children by an unidentified first wife. He married secondly, 31 Aug. 1594, JANE WEBSTER and had one son by his second marriage.

The will of John Crosby of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, dated 29 Oct. 1604, was proved 11 Jan. 1604/5 (ibid., vol. 29, p. 453):

> To wife Jane for life the house I live in, she paying a rent of 26s. 8d. yearly to my son Robert Crosby, beginning when he is 21; and he is to have said estate at her death. If wife remarry, she to give security to Robert Millington, to keep estate in repair. If all my children die s.p., then said estate to the children of Henry Patchett and Rowland Smith. To daughter Margaret, two cows, etc. If wife be with child, it to have two cows. All residue to daughter Margaret, she to be executrix. Witnesses: John Millington, Robt. Millington.

Margaret, John's daughter and executrix, died between 11 Jan. 1604/5, when she proved his will, and 2 Aug. 1605, when her "mother" (doubtless her step-mother), Jane Crosbie, was given administration on her estate (Harthill Deanery). On 16 Jan. 1606/7 warning was made not to give administration on the estate of John Crosbie, late of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, nor on the portion of Margarete Crosbie, late of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, not yet administered, without first "notefying" Richard Yeoman of said Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, or Mr. Fothergill, his attorney (ibid.).

Apparently Richard's claim was soon settled for on 13 Feb. 1606/7 guardianship of Robert Crosbie, son of John Crosbie of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, deceased, was given to John Webster (possibly Jane's brother) and on that same day administration on the estate of John Crosbie of Holme-on-Spalding-Moor, deceased, was given to John Webster and Robert Crosbie, son of the deceased. The inventory of the estate came to less than £40 (ibid.).

AN IDENTIFICATION OF THE LIEUTENANT HOPKINS AT THE SIEGE OF LOUISBOURG

By Jared Charles Lobdell, of Madison, Wis.

When J. S. McLennan wrote his history of Louisbourg, he assumed that the Lieutenant Hopkins who was one of the three officers leading the successful landing party on 8 June 1758 was Lieutenant Thomas Hopkins of the 48th (Webb's) Regiment.[1] However, there was evidence available at that time which might have suggested a different conclusion, and through the kindness of Mr. Winthrop Brainerd, formerly Assistant Librarian at the College of Arms, I have been put in possession of data sufficient to establish the identity of this Lieutenant Hopkins beyond any reasonable doubt.

The starting point for the inquiry may be found in a letter addressed to the editor of the Historical Magazine by R. P., of Hagley, S. C., in 1859.[2] He quotes from Bevey's Dictionary of Heraldry the follow-side of the river. He served as selectman in 1654, and in 1656 was assessed by the selectmen œ4 5s, as a spinner. In Felt's "History of Ipswich" a statement is made that Moses Pingrey's name was not found on records until 1642, and Aaron in 1648, but this is evidently wrong. In 1652 Moses was granted a parcel of land on which to set up his salt works. He died January 2, 1696, aged eighty-six years. He often served on town affairs, and in 1665 was deputy to the general court. He was deacon of the First Church. "He lived long and usefully on earth, as one preparing for a heritage in heaven." He married Abigail, daughter of Robert Clement, who served as representative to the general court from Haverhill, Massachusetts, from 1647 to 1653; Savage says he came from London to Haverhill as early as 1642, with many children, nine of whom are mentioned in his will. Lydia died January 16, 1676. Children: Sarah, married John Day; Lydia, married Thomas Burnum; Moses, born 1650; Aaron, mentioned below; John, born 1654; Thomas, died January 25, 1662; Mehitable, died January 8, 1668; Abigail, born January 30, 1666.

(II) Aaron, son of Moses Pengry, was born in 1652, and died September 14, 1714, the same day on which he made his will, which was proved October 24, 1714. Before December 21, 1696, he moved to Rowley, Massachusetts, and on that date he and his wife conveyed their homestead in Ipswich to Joseph Calef. On January 28, 1713, he made a deed of gift to his son Aaron. He married Ann, daughter of John Pickard, who settled in Rowley as early as 1645, and married, in 1653. Jane Crosby. John Pickard was representative to the legislature from Rowley in 1661-95, and died in 1697, aged seventy-five, his widow dying February 20, 1716, aged eighty-nine years. Ann (Pickard) Pengry died at Rowley, February 3, 1740, aged eighty years. Children: Aaron, born in Ipswich, 1683; Ann, February 8, 1685: Job, mentioned below; Jane, January 24, 1691.

(III) Job, son of Aaron Pengry, was born in Ipswich, Massachusetts, October 17, 1688, and died April 25, 1785, aged ninety-six years. He was a member of the church in the second parish, Georgetown, when it was organized, October 4, 1732, and he was very regular and temperate in his habits. He married (first) intentions published November 1, 1717, Elisabeth Brocklebank, doubtless daughter of Samuel Brocklebank, who was son of Samuel; the Samuel last mentioned was a deacon and captain, and was killed in battle in King Philip's war, April 21, 1676. Elisabeth died February 12, 1747, aged fifty-two years. Job Pengry married (second) April 6, 1749, Dorothy Dodd, of Topsfield, and she died January 31, 1771, aged fifty-four years. He married (third) May 14, 1772, Mrs. Elisabeth Platts, who died May 21, 1781, aged eighty-two years. Children of first wife: Samuel, born January 2, 1719; Moses, November 7, 1720; Jane, October 5, 1722, died September 3, 1736; Job, June 2, 1724, died August 14, 1736; John, mentioned below; Frances, August 6, 1728; Aaron, March 22, 1730, died August 26, 1736; Asa, born April 6, 1732; Clemens, April 18, 1735; Elisabeth, November 8, 1737, died January 16, 1747.

(IV) Ensign John Pingry, son of Job Pengry, was born February 15, 1726, and died August 30, 1795. He was an ensign. He married (intentions published August 25, 1750) Elisabeth, daughter of William and Hannah Jewett, and sister of Anna, wife of Stephen Pingry, son of Aaron, son of Aaron, son of Moses, the immigrant. Elisabeth (Jewett) Pingry was born March 23, 1732, and died June 7, 1818, aged eighty-six years. Moses and died there in 1819. His wife was Betsey Philbrick, probably a daughter of James Philbrick. Lucretia Chaplin, one of the daughters of Micah and Betsey, married David Norcross, son of David Norcross, who was the son of Jeremiah Norcross and Lucy Chaplin.

The ancestry of Mary Platts, wife of Moses Chaplin, and maternal grandmother of the Parker sisters, is now the only line which remains to be examined, and the consanguinity heretofore mentioned between Mary's mother and Francis Parker's maternal grandfather, who were sister and brother, obviates further inquiry into their Wetherbee family.

The "Pillsbury Genealogy" is my chief authority for the Platts ancentry, Mary's great-grandfather, Moses, being a common ancestor in the Parker and Pillsbury families. He was the grandson of Samuel Platts, oldest of this name in New England. The immigrant and his son Abel Platts, both born in England, appeared in Rowley, Mass., about 1654, together with Jonathan Platts, whose will later mentioned "cousin Samuel Platts, sener." That both Jonathan and Samuel were born Gawkroger in one of the early families of Yorkshire, England, is the surprising statement of Almira White in her "Ancestry of John Barber White," yet expert genealogists accept it. Tradition adds that the family lived on a Platts estate and came to be known locally as "the Platts Gawkrogers." Mrs. Holman says both men were educated and became prominent, serving as selectmen, and on grand and trial juries.

Samuel's sister Mary adopted the name Platts and became the wife of John Prescott, one of the founders of Lancaster, Mass., and immigrant ancestor of Col. William Prescott, the Pepperell farmer and fighter who openly declared for "liberty or death" a year before the "Lexington massacre" as Bancroft calls it, and who calmly walked the parapet under fire to steady the nerves of the raw volunteers under his command as they threw up the earthworks in the early morning of the battle of Bunker Hill. Incidentally, again, Abigail and Deborah, daughters of Capt. Jonas Prescott, the grandfather of Colonel William, married two sons--James and Samuel--of Samuel Parker and Abigail Lakin.

on the previous year, and George Felt was numbered among its victims. So furious and persistent were the Indian attacks upon the people of Falmouth, that they fled for safety to a garrison upon James Andrew's Island, now known as Cushing's Island.

The Rev. William Hubbard, Minister of Ipswich, published in 1677, a History of the Indian Wars in New England and in the quaint and interesting language of this narrative we give the closing scenes in the life of George Felt, Jr.

"The day after, one George Felt suspecting the worst by reason of a smoak he saw on the opposite side of the Town, took his wife and Children into a Canoo to see what the matter was but when he came near a point of Land not far off, he found several of his Neighbors goods, which made him conclude their Owners were killed, which was a sufficient warning to him likewise to fly for his Life which he did to the same Island. . . . Within a while after, or much about the same time, another sad Accident befel six or seven of them that belonged to Casco. For upon the twenty third of September some Persons that belonged to a Sloop and a Shallop that were pressed into the service, . . . were over desirous to save some of their Provision, to which end they first made their Address to Captain Hathorne (Under whom they were ordered to serve) desiring they might be released: the Captain told them he could not do it, but desired them to have patience for a while, they told him, that they must and would go, else their Families must starve at Home; the Captain told them further of the danger, and bid them not stir at their peril: However they would go, and soon after went to Mount-joyes Island to fetch Sheep, where they landed seven men; but the Indians presently set upon them, they presently betook themselves to the Ruines of a Stone House where they defended themselves as long as they could; but at last they were all destroyed either with Stones cast in upon them, or else with the Enemies shot, except one, who, though at first it was hoped that his wounds were not mortal, yet soon after dyed thereof; Amongst them was one George Felt, much lamented, who had been more active than any man in those parts against the Indians, but at last he lost his own life amongst them, in this too desperate an Adventure."

The "Mount-joyes" (Munjoy) Island, here named, is now known as House Island.

Phillipa, the widow of George Felt, removed, probably at this time, to Salem, and married there, Dec. 19, 1682, Samuel Platt, an early settler of Rowley, Mass, as his second wife. He died and she married again, April 9, 1690, Thomas Nelson, as his third wife. He was the town clerk or recorder of Rowley, from 1694 to 1697. He died April 5, 1712. She died Sept. 29, 1709. The children of George Felt removed finally to Salem about 1690.

a new location at the corner of State and Tioga streets, and in 1850 he purchased the building which is now occupied by Jeremiah Welch, and which is now owned by his daughter, Lucy S. Stephens. At the time of his death and for many years previous he was senior partner of the firm of Stephens & Welch, in the meat and provision business, and at the time of his death had been in business in Ithaca longer than any other merchant. During the half century or more in which he was in business he saw the town grow from a modest village to the proportions of a city. In the sixty-six years of his life in Ithaca he was active and energetic and not until a year before his death was he obliged to absent himself from his work on account of illness. Few were better known and none more highly respected among the business men of Ithaca. In politics he was a Republican, in religion a Congregationalist. He was a member of Ithaca Lodge, No. 621, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. His residence was at 602 Hudson street, Ithaca.

He married, February 14, 1847, Elizabeth Kitchen, of Enfield Center, New York, born November 3, 1823, died May 30, 1885. Children, born in Ithaca: 1. Clement T., mentioned below. 2. Dr. Fred P., September 29, 1853, died December 4, 1884; graduate of Cornell University, class of 1875, then was interne at Bellevue Hospital, New York; practiced medicine in New York City until his death of typhoid fever. 3. Elizabeth, December 23, 1857; married Edmund C. Barto, of Trumansburg, New York, and had one son, Philip S. Barto; the family resides in Champagne, Illinois. 4. Lucy S., October 29, 1868; has always lived on the homestead at Ithaca; was educated in the public schools, the Ithaca high school and the Oread Institute of Worcester, Massachusetts. At this time, instead of keeping on with her studies, Miss Stephens accompanied her father to Germany and visited his old home there; this was just fifty years from the time Mr. Stephens left Germany and the first time he had been home during that period; they spent about three months in Germany and then traveled in England and France.

(III) Clement T., son of Philip (2) Stephens, was born September 11, 1849, at Ithaca, died there January 18, 1908. He attended the public schools at Ithaca, prepared for college in the preparatory school at Clinton, and was afterward a student at Hamilton College. He left college to become bookkeeper for his father, and afterward he engaged in business in Ithaca as a dealer in hardware and agricultural implements. To this business he added a coal yard and afterward a plumbing business. He became a leading merchant of Ithaca and one of its most successful merchants. He retired from business, October 19, 1907, and died a few months later. He was a member of the Congregational church, and in politics was a Republican. He married, September 14, 1881, Susan M. Hibbard, and had one son, Fitch Hibbard, born September 26, 1882, an attorney in Ithaca, New York, of the firm of Stephens & Miller; he is a graduate of the public schools and Cornell University, member of the class of 1905.

PLATTS Samuel Platts, cousin of Jonathan Platts, came with his wife Sarah about 1654 to New England. She died April 10, 1681, and he married (second), December 19, 1682, Philippa Felt, of Salem, Massachusetts. She was probably a widow. She married after his death, April 9, 1690, Thomas Nelson. Children by first wife: Samuel, born about 1648; Abel; Elizabeth; Sarah; James. Child by second wife: Mary, baptized June 29, 1684.

(I) Jonathan Platts, immigrant ancestor, cousin of Samuel Platts, son of a Godly father, member of a Congregational church in England, had by his wife (a woman of good conversation and well esteemed, yet not a member-in-full communion) children whom he desired might be baptized, December 19, 1667. His will was dated July 24, 1680, proved September 28, 1680, and in it he mentioned his wife, sons John and Jonathan, the "rest of my children" and "Cusen Samewell Plats, sener." His signature is on a record of 1655. He married, December 6, 1655, Elizabeth, sister of Captain John Johnson. She was mentioned in Thomas Barker's will and called "cousin" in Gershom Lambert's will. She died November 16, 1721. He was buried July 18, 1680. Children: Mary, born November 11, 1656, buried November 11, 1659; John, January 20, 1658-59; Jonathan, August 23, 1661; Jonas, mentioned below; Elizabeth, baptized August 9, 1668; James, born March 25, 1670; Isaac, January 6, 1672-73; Hannah, baptized April 15, 1676.

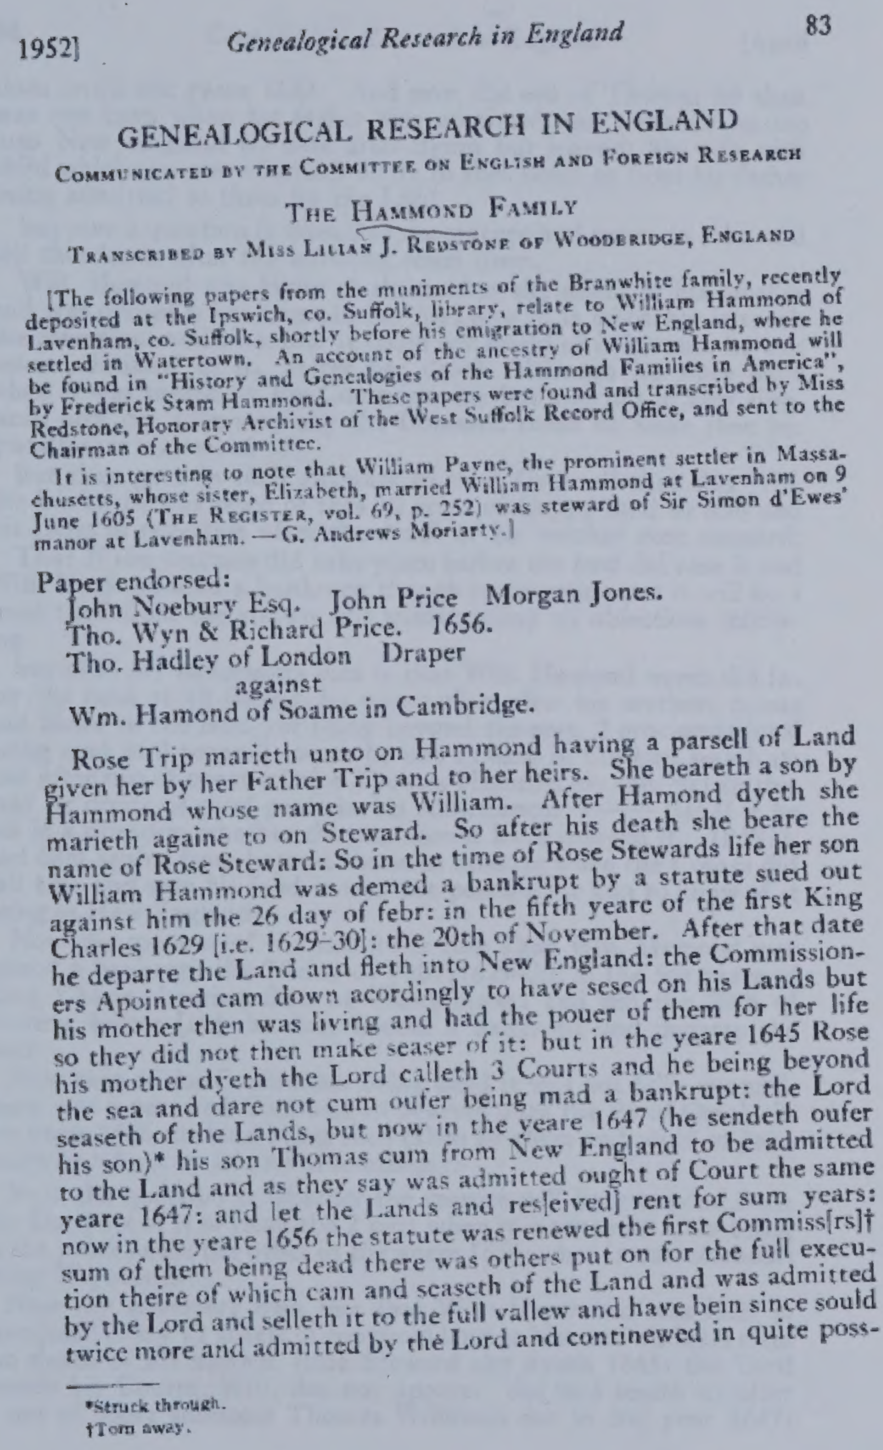
HAMMOND



GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

COMMUNICATED BY THE COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH AND FOREIGN RESEARCH

THE HAMMOND FAMILY

TRANSCRIBED BY MISS LILIAN J. REDSTONE OF WOODBRIDGE, ENGLAND

[The following papers from the muniments of the Branwhite family, recently deposited at the Ipswich, co. Suffolk, library, relate to William Hammond of Lavenham, co. Suffolk, shortly before his emigration to New England, where he settled in Watertown. An account of the ancestry of William Hammond will be found in "History and Genealogies of the Hammond Families in America", by Frederick Stam Hammond. These papers were found and transcribed by Miss Redstone, Honorary Archivist of the West Suffolk Record Office, and sent to the Chairman of the Committee.

It is interesting to note that William Payne, the prominent settler in Massachusetts, whose sister, Elizabeth, married William Hammond at Lavenham on 9 June 1605 (THE REGISTER, vol. 69, p. 252) was steward of Sir Simon d'Ewes' manor at Lavenham. — G. Andrews Moriarty.]

Rose Trip marieth unto on Hammond having a parsell of Land given her by her Father Trip and to her heirs. She beareth a son by Hammond whose name was William. After Hamond dyeth she marieth againe to on Steward. So after his death she beare the name of Rose Steward: So in the time of Rose Stewards life her son William Hammond was demed a bankrupt by a statute sued out against him the 26 day of febr: in the fifth yeare of the first King Charles 1629 [i.e. 1629–30]: the 20th of November. After that date he departe the Land and fleth into New England: the Commissioners Apointed cam down acordingly to have sesed on his Lands but his mother then was living and had the pouer of them for her life so they did not then make seaser of it: but in the yeare 1645 Rose his mother dyeth the Lord calleth 3 Courts and he being beyond the sea and dare not cum oufer being mad a bankrupt: the Lord seaseth of the Lands, but now in the yeare 1647 (~~he sendeth oufer his son~~)* his son Thomas cum from New England to be admitted to the Land and as they say was admitted ought of Court the same yeare 1647: and let the Lands and res[eived] rent for sum years: now in the yeare 1656 the statute was renewed the first Commiss[rs]† sum of them being dead there was others put on for the full execution theire of which cam and seaseth of the Land and was admitted by the Lord and selleth it to the full vallew and have bein since sould twice more and admitted by the Lord and continewed in quite posstion: untill the yeare 1683. And now the son of Thomas ho then was not born when his father was admitted and returned againe into New England ho sone after dyeth but leaveth his wife with child which son now claimeth a rite to thes lands as from his father being admitted to them by the Lord.

but now a question is wheather the statute had pouer to take and sell thes lands after the lord had sesed them.

Will. Hamond was Heire to them after the death of his mother and was demed a bankrupt in her life: now q. is wheather it reach the revertion: and wheather it could lay hould of it because he was never admitted to it. After her death Although he ware alive when it was seased by the Commisioners but was hid in new England: now my adversery say the Commrs. sould no more then his grandfather was sesed of:

but they gave in their Acounte to their Counsell that this Will. the bankrupt was sesed of thes 12 acres of Coppy land to him and his Heirs in revertion after the death of his mother rose steward:

That If the stattute did take place before the lord did sese it and Will: Hamond mad a bankrupt though in revertion yet it will be a good titell from the statute not withstanding all obiections following but then my adversarys plea is that Will. Hamond never did injoy the land at all though he weare alive after his mothers desese and Heire to the land yet being beyond the seas. 3 proclamati[ons] being mad at 3 severall courts he not cuming in the lord seseth it: and after out of court admite Thomas Hamond his son: yet in this may be doute of good profe in his admittance: ——— but if it be her is a question whether thomas should have injoyed it. If Will. had cum againe from beyond the seas: because when the Courts did call him and sese his land it was not poseble for him to know of it being in New England:

Now the manour of the statute is this That Will. Hamond was demed a bankrupt the 26 day of Feb: [1629–30] in the 5th yeare of King Charles bearing date at Westminster: and did the 20th of Novem. before [sic] the date becum a bankrupt and departe the land:

Now sum of the Commissrs. being dead it was not fully executd. there was a renewed Commission bearing date the 23 of Octob. in the yeare 1656 the land being then taken by them and sould to John Joans he toke it up at courte acordingly:

Now the question is whether the statute will be grounded from the first part of it or from the 2 part when it is renewed. thon being in the yeare 1629: the other in the yeare 1656: when it was executed: being 27 years tim:

Now my adversery own this that Will: Hammond was Heir in rever[sim] to my 12 ackers of copyhold land to him and his heirs after the death of his mother Rose Steward she dyeth 1645: the Lord kepeth his Courte: Will: doe not apeare. the lord seseth it: after t out of court admiteth Thomas Willliams son in the year 1647:

Copyright 2001-2005, New England Historic Genealogical Society.

he letteth it and res. rent and paith the lord his rent for severell years being also in New England dieth the yeare 1655: leave his wife with child it being now a son of 28 years of age claimeth a rite to this land as the Heire of Thomas his father: being the land the Commis[sioners] sould by a statute of bankrupt: because they looke only to the last parte thereof being renewed 1656: and the lord had sesed it before 1647: and then had admitted Thomas so that William Hamond had lost his titell to it for wante of apearance and taking up before the statute was executed:

the heire ⎰ he claim his title and is now ⎱ admited and enter July 20th. 1683.

this being examined at the corte rolls and it is theire inserted that the statute of bankrupt against William Hamond is datted from the first parte of the cummission in the 5 yeare of the reaigne of King 1629 Charles the 1 and was only ajorned to the yeare 56 when it toke place and theire the titell is good being inrouled from the first before any forfiter could be made into the Lords hands.

[one paper, endorsed]: 'Doctor Brownes his Advice concerning ye Land I bought of Mr. Jones'.

The deed made by the Commissioners to Mr. Jones is a good deed & acknowledged in time but the six moneths are past & noe inrollment yet of the deed. And allthough there be noe time appointed in the statute for inrollment of any deed made by Commissioners of Bankrupts whereby any fee simple or coppyhold is conveyed, & therefore I have ever held that if it be inrolled at any time it is sufficient yet because the common practise hath beene to [in]roll it within six moneths that would have beene the safer way; And therefore it would not be amysee if with convenience it may be to have a new deed made by the Commissioners to Mr. Jones & to inroll it presently, And then Mr. Jones may make a good sale but because he hath a wife she must come in a fine to barre her of her dower.

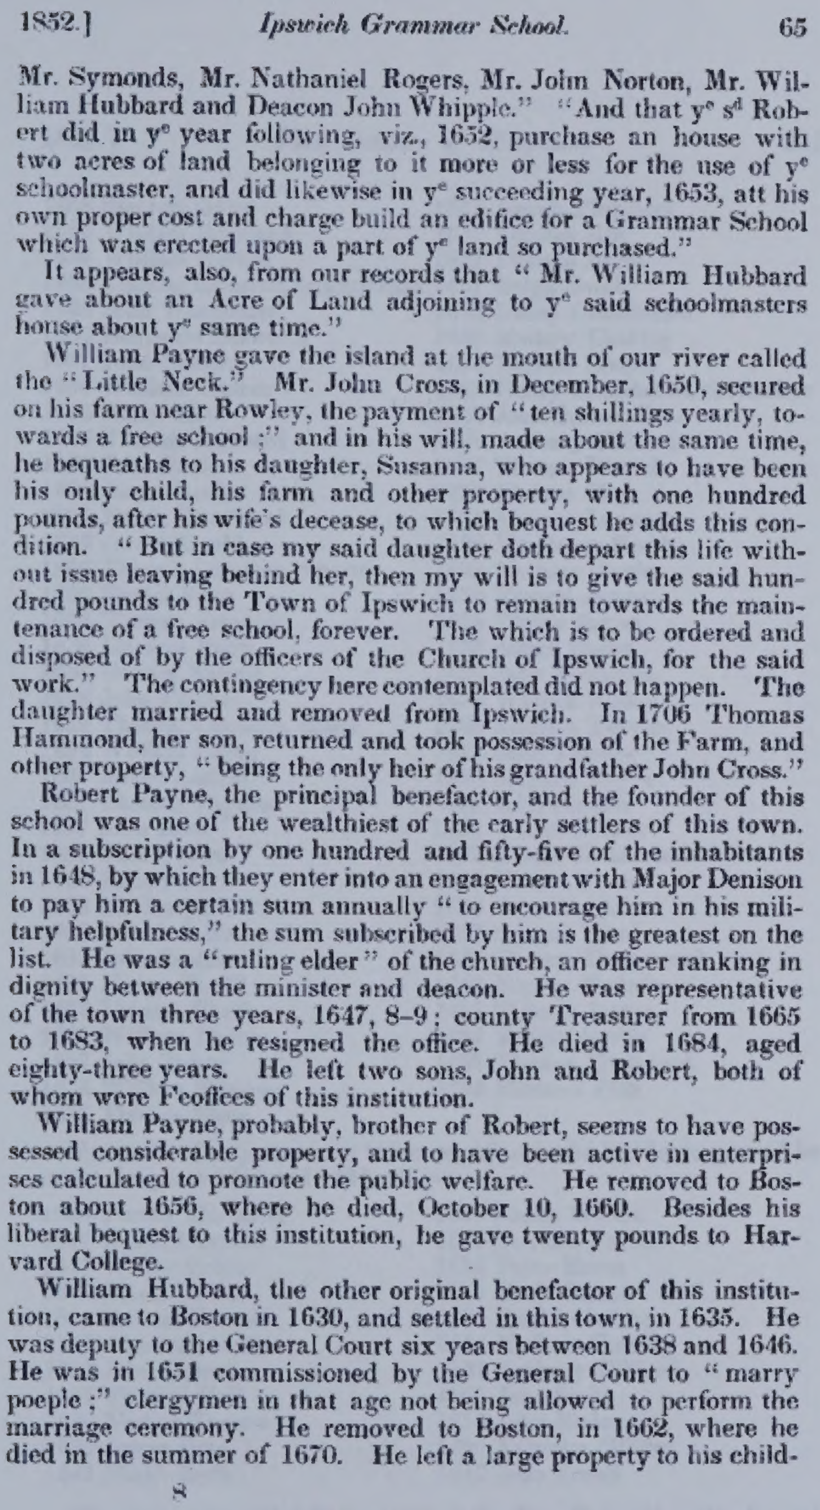
WEEDEN

By G. ANDREWS MORIARTY, A.M., LL.B., F.S.A.

In THE REGISTER, vol. 76, pp. 115–179, will be found some account of the ancestors of James Weeden or Weedon of the hamlet of Botley in Chesham parish, co. Bucks., back to his grandfather James Weedon (born about 1510, died in February 1572) of Botley. The family was one of well-to-do yeomen, but in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries a minor knightly family of the name resided in the parish and held the manor of Chesham. The parish is a large one and contains several hamlets and manors. The parish register of Chesham, which commences in 1539, contains many Weedon entries, showing that the family had long been settled in the parish, evidently for at least two hundred years. There can be little doubt that the yeoman Weedons of Chesham in the sixteenth century descended from cadets of the knightly family of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. The latter bore arms: "Silver 2 bars gules in chief 3 molets pierced sable".

In the Subsidy of 1524, the following Weedons occur in Chesham: Richard a Weedon taxed on £20; John a Weedon £4; Robert



Mr. Symonds, Mr. Nathaniel Rogers, Mr. John Norton, Mr. William Hubbard and Deacon John Whipple." "And that y^e^ s^d^ Robert did in y^e^ year following, viz., 1652, purchase an house with two acres of land belonging to it more or less for the use of y^e^ schoolmaster, and did likewise in y^e^ succeeding year, 1653, att his own proper cost and charge build an edifice for a Grammar School which was erected upon a part of y^e^ land so purchased."

It appears, also, from our records that "Mr. William Hubbard gave about an Acre of Land adjoining to y^e^ said schoolmasters house about y^e^ same time."

William Payne gave the island at the mouth of our river called the "Little Neck." Mr. John Cross, in December, 1650, secured on his farm near Rowley, the payment of "ten shillings yearly, towards a free school;" and in his will, made about the same time, he bequeaths to his daughter, Susanna, who appears to have been his only child, his farm and other property, with one hundred pounds, after his wife's decease, to which bequest he adds this condition. "But in case my said daughter doth depart this life without issue leaving behind her, then my will is to give the said hundred pounds to the Town of Ipswich to remain towards the maintenance of a free school, forever. The which is to be ordered and disposed of by the officers of the Church of Ipswich, for the said work." The contingency here contemplated did not happen. The daughter married and removed from Ipswich. In 1706 Thomas Hammond, her son, returned and took possession of the Farm, and other property, "being the only heir of his grandfather John Cross."

Robert Payne, the principal benefactor, and the founder of this school was one of the wealthiest of the early settlers of this town. In a subscription by one hundred and fifty-five of the inhabitants in 1648, by which they enter into an engagement with Major Denison to pay him a certain sum annually "to encourage him in his military helpfulness," the sum subscribed by him is the greatest on the list. He was a "ruling elder" of the church, an officer ranking in dignity between the minister and deacon. He was representative of the town three years, 1647, 8–9; county Treasurer from 1665 to 1683, when he resigned the office. He died in 1684, aged eighty-three years. He left two sons, John and Robert, both of whom were Feoffees of this institution.

William Payne, probably, brother of Robert, seems to have possessed considerable property, and to have been active in enterprises calculated to promote the public welfare. He removed to Boston about 1656, where he died, October 10, 1660. Besides his liberal bequest to this institution, he gave twenty pounds to Harvard College.

William Hubbard, the other original benefactor of this institution, came to Boston in 1630, and settled in this town, in 1635. He was deputy to the General Court six years between 1638 and 1646. He was in 1651 commissioned by the General Court to "marry poeple;" clergymen in that age not being allowed to perform the marriage ceremony. He removed to Boston, in 1662, where he died in the summer of 1670. He left a large property to his child-the mother and son lived in Wrentham, and then she married Josiah Holmes, and went to live with him in Ashford, taking her fatherless boy with her. For a time they lived in Ashford, and then removed to Stafford, Conn., where the boy grew up. That Holmes proved a kind step-father to the little fellow is evidenced by the fact that Samuel named his third child Josiah, for his mother's husband. I do not know when he came to Willington, but it was probably some time previous to his first marriage. He bought a place in East Willington, and the house he built is still standing. Samuel Dunton was a man who fully realized his responsibilities and lived up to them. He held to the end the respect and esteem of his fellow men. Brought up to the trade of blacksmith, he maintained himself and supported his family by honest toil. He was a deacon of the church, and was also church clerk. From 1790 to 1809 he represented his district in the Connecticut Legislature, at a time when to be selected for such a position was a mark of distinction. He was a justice of the peace and an associate justice of the county court. He was a soldier of the Revolution, and was a sergeant of the Sixth Company, Third Battalion, Wadsworth's Brigade. He joined the battalion when it was raised, in June, 1776, and served until it was dismissed in December of that year. He saw service under Washington in New York city, and his battalion was caught in the retreat from the city September 15th, and suffered some loss. It was engaged also at the battle of White Plains, October 28th.

JOHN HAMMOND OF LAVENHAM, SUFFOLK, ENGLAND.

Contributed by F. S. Hammond, Esq., of Oneida, N.Y.

John Hammond, the clothier of Lavenham, County of Suffolk, England, was born between 1500 and 1520, probably at Melford, as his father appears to have been living there before 1517. No record of his birth has been found, and there is nothing to show his age at the time of his death in 1551. It is evident, however, that his children were all young at the time, and the fact that his widow survived him for twenty-six years would indicate that he was a comparatively young man at the time of his death.

The dates of births of his children cannot be found, but William was probably the eldest son, although there is no positive evidence to prove that he was the eldest child. He is mentioned first in his father's will, and is named with his mother as executor of the will, which would indicate that he was older than his brother Thomas; but to Thomas is left the house in Melford, while William appears to have received only £5.

The fact that William was named with his father in the deed of trust, given below, would seem to establish the fact of his being the eldest son.

The following abstract of John's will was furnished by Major Henry C. Malden, a brother-in-law of Rev. Canon Thomas Scott, Rector of Lavenham, in 1897, and is dated Dec. 22, 1550:

"I John Hamond, of Lavenham, Clothier" &c.

Item, I give and bequeathe to Agnes my weif £30.

Item, I give and bequeathe to Will^{m} Hamond my sonne £5, to be paide hym at the age of 21 yeres.

Item, I give and bequeathe to Elizabeth, Margaret, and Johane, my daughters, to every one of them £6. 8s 4d, to be paide them at the age of 21 yeres.

Item, I give and bequeathe to Thomas Hamond, my sonne my house in Melford, late John Hamonde my ffathers, holdyn by copye of Courte Rolle now of my Lady Mary's grace, to enter at the age of 21 yeres.

Item, I give and bequeathe to my said sonne Thomas £4.

I appoint my wyfe Agnes and my sonne Will^{m} executors of this my last Will. Proved at Lambeth, June 5, 1551.

The following is a copy of the deed of trust mentioned above, dated July 25, 1548, in which one William Page of Brandeston, near Lavenham, conveys a copse and meadow to twenty-five trustees for the good of the poor of Lavenham for ever.

Wilders Revisited

by Ralph Clark

Notice: This is a rough draft of a work in progress

It is provided here for use as an introduction to the ideas herein.

The ancestry of the children of the 1639 immigrant widow, Martha Wilder, and her New England relatives, has been obsured in fantasy and confusion. This article intends to bring the light of historical documents to illuminate the problem.

The original genealogist of this family, Rev. Moses Wilder, in his 1878 Book of the Wilders, introduced the patriarch of the line, Nicholas Wilder of Bohemia. Nicholas was a hero of the battle of Bosworth, where he helped the Earl of Richmond, later Henry VII, overthrow Richard III. Some doubt may accrue to this legend from the discovery of twenty two Richards among the descendants of Nicholas in the 1500s, and only two named Henry.

Rev. Moses reported that on 17 April 1497 King Henry VII honored Nicholas for his loyal service with a grant of arms and with an estate in Berkshire. Actually, The Victoria History of Berkshire traces the owners, which is to say, the holders of the primary grant from the king, of the estates occupied by the Wilders, from the 1300s to the early 1600s before noting that one of the Wilders bought Nunhide in 1632. Prior to that time, the Wilders in possession of the estates were yeoman tenants of the primary grantees.

Furthermore, William Berry's Encyclopedia Heraldica says that the initial grant of the arms associated with the Wilder name was made to one John Wilder of Nunhide. If it was this same John Wilder who received, in partnership with several others, a grant of use of several estates, including Sulham, sometime before 1491, then for the arms to descend to modern times, Nicholas must have been John's son. It is entirely possible that the grant of arms came to a later John Wilder of Nunhide. Such legends often combine various events into one principal hero.

The legend of the hero of Bosworth may have been attributed by such a combination. Was there a heroic Nicholas at Bosworth Field, on 22 August 1485? Well, maybe so, but perhaps not a Wilder. From the late 1300s, the manor of Sulham, and other nearby estates, were held by the Carew family, in the person of four successive heads of family named Nicholas. The last Nicholas Carew is said to have reached the age of majority in 1484, and died without issue in 1485. If he was in the battle, as a holder of several manors he would have led a substantial force of his tenants, and could well have held the rank of captain.

Revd. Moses gave the following descent from Nicholas to Martha's children:

- Nicholas Wilder, hero of Bosworth
  - John Wilder
    - John Wilder of Nunhide
      - Thomas Wilder of Shiplake, husband of Martha

John Wilder, heir of the English estates, and Thomas, Edward, Elizabeth, Mary, emigrants

Revd. Moses Wilder evidently gathered his information on the English family through correspondence with the incumbent proprietor of the estates of Sulham and Nunhide. The first three names in the above table are real men whose wills survive in the public records. They are quite likely the ancestors of Rev. Moses's English correspondent.

Confusion seems to have arisen when trying to connect this line to the Wilder family of Shiplake in Oxfordshire. We may imagine the following dialog:

> Rev. Moses, "Does your family own the manor of Shiplake?"
> Answer, "Yep, sho 'nuf," ... errr, well, perhaps, "To be sure, old chap," and so it was natural to infer that the ancestors of the incumbent of Sulham were also those of Revd. Moses, through the immigrant Martha's husband.

What seems to have been overlooked was the fact that a manor at Shiplake (one of three in that parish) had only come into the Wilder family by marriage in the mid-1700s. There is really no known documented connection between the Wilders of Sulham or Nunhide, in Berkshire in the 1600s, and the separate family of Wilders residing in the parish of Shiplake, in Oxfordshire at that time. It is likely that these branches of the family diverged sometime in the early 1500s.

One of my own correspondents once insisted that Rev. Moses must have examined deeds and parish registers when he constructed his family tree. In his Preface to Book of the Wilders, Rev. Moses wrote:

> "Had I possessed the strength and the pecuniary ability to spend a few years or even months in travel, visiting the old residences of the Wilders, examining the town records, family records, cemetery monuments, registeries of deeds and wills, I should have made a far more complete Genealogy and history than I have been able to obtain.
> "The most I can claim for this Book is that it is a sincere and laborious effort of more than four years to lay the foundation from which some future son of the Wilders with more time and ability, may give to the world a more perfect genealogical history of the name."

It appears that many of his descendants dismissed this as simple modesty, when, I believe, he meant it literally.

The Line of THOMAS WILDER (B II) the Immigrant in America
Three generations, to the division into Lineages. Generation 1 begin

---

B II THOMAS WILDER 1 (Thomas of Shiplake, Thomas of Sulham, John, Jr. of Nunhide) B. 1618 in England. D. Oct. 23, 1667 at Lancaster, Mass. We find no record of how and when he came to America. Some good authorities believe that Thomas, with his brother, Edward and sister, Elizabeth, preceded their mother, Martha and sister, Mary. Probably the matter will be settled only by a closer examination of the family data in England. In the old Book of the Wilders, Rev. Moses H. Wilder relates that, "It was a time of bitter persecution in England. Charles I had alienated the best of his subjects by enforcing religious conformity, and great numbers fled from the star chamber, the administrations of Laud and the fear of a return to Papacy, to the new colonies in New England, and with the multitudes, it was not difficult for this family to be provided for." At any rate, on March 30, 1640 Thomas was received into the church at Charlestown, Mass. and was married there two days later. He was made a freeman there June 2, 1641. In 1659, he moved about forty miles westward to an area eight by ten miles which had been purchased from the Indians to form the community first called Nashawa or Nashawena for the river on which it was located. He was supposed to have been forty years old then, from which Rev. Moses H. Wilder figured his birth to have been in 1618. His farm of 500 acres was near and easterly from the present town of Lancaster, as marked by the burial ground on his old farm in which he was the first one buried. His stone which was placed there much later and contains errors says that he first settled 1641 in Hingham, Mass. Rev. Wilder found indications in the old records that, "he was a substantial, capable man, respected in the community, an active member of the church, a thorough Puritan, jealous of the rights of the brotherhood and willing to resist the encroachments of the ministry, as he estimated them." He was a selectman in Lancaster from 1660 until his death. His widow, Anna and son, Thomas were executors of his estate according to his will which is printed in The Stevens Miller Ancestry.
He married April 1, 1640 at Charlestown, Mass.
ANNA EAMES (AMES)* who D. June 10, 1692.
Ch. all born at Charlestown, Mass.

*1 1 Mary Wilder (7) B. June 30, 1642
*2 2 Thomas Wilder (8) B. Sept. 14, 1644
*3 3 John Wilder (9) B. 1646
4 4 Elizabeth Wilder (10) B. 1648
4a 5 Ebenezer Wilder B. about 1651. D. Oct. 23, 1667? Named in will.
*5 6 Nathaniel Wilder (11) B. Nov. 3, 1655

* Clemens, Marriage Records Before 1699, 1926 and Genealogy Magazine, July 1930. However, she was not the daughter of Anthony and Margery Eames, as that Anna Eames married William Ford and lived with him to an old age. Some say Thomas married Anna Johnson of Boston, a sister to Elizabeth whose husband, Robert Mears, in his will, called Thomas Wilder of Lancaster his brother.

End of generation 1 Generation 2 begin

1 MARY WILDER (7) 2 (Thomas, the Immigrant)
B. June 30, 1642 at Charlestown, Mass. With a gift of 10 acres of land from her father, they came to Lancaster, bringing the children born in Charlestown and Watertown. She married
6 DANIEL ALLEN, D. 1705. Son of Walter Allen and wife, Rebecca Wyman. A cooper of Charlestown, Mass.
Ch.
7 1 Elnathan Allen B. 1666-7. D. 1735. M. Mercy Rice, B. 1670.

2 THOMAS WILDER (8) 2 (Thomas, the Immigrant)
B. Sept. 14, 1644 at Charlestown, Mass. D. Aug. 7, 1716 at Lancaster, Mass. (GS) In 1706, he gave to the town, the graveyard on his own farm surrounding the grave of his father, Thomas Wilder (B II) the Immigrant, who was the first one buried therein. A selectman, and Ford's History of Clinton says he owned a large tract of land there. He served in King William's War (1689-98) and in Queen Anne's War (1701-13). He married June 25, 1668 at Lancaster, Mass.

8 MARY WHEELER,* B. Aug. 5 (or Oct. 5), 1646 at Dedham, Mass. Daughter of Richard Wheeler and wife, Elizabeth Turner. The old Book suggests that earlier children, either dying young or killed by Indians, were not recorded.

Note: The old Book had several errors for this family. Date of his marriage, given as 1678, should have been 1668, as correctly given on page 13. Sarah Wilder married Hartwell, not Fairbank. Mary Wilder married Fairbank, not Hartwell. The date 1691, given as her birth date is really her marriage date, as confirmed by her first child born 1693. (See Fairbank Genealogy, page 67.) Real date of birth is shown by her dying in 1718 "in 43rd year" hence born 1675.

* Article by Claude W. Barlow in The Connecticut Nutmegger, March 1975. Mr. Barlow points out that the marriage record does not give Mary's maiden name; that Ralph Houghton was the recording Town Clerk, not her father; that Mary Houghton married William Bently at Dorchester; and that Joseph Wilder of Lancaster [son of Thomas and Mary Wilder] was granted land at Ashburnham in 1738 "in the Right of his uncle Samuel Wheeler, who served in the Expedition to Canada under Major Nathaniel Wade." 5 NATHANIEL WILDER (11) 2 (Thomas, the Immigrant)
B. Nov.3, 1655 at Charlestown, Mass. D. July 31, 1704 at Lancaster, Mass. age 54. Res. Lancaster and Sudbury, Mass. At the time of the Indian attacks upon their settlement, an Indian who had surrendered to the people was treacherously murdered by this young Nathaniel Wilder and Daniel Hoar, who were tried, condemned and sentenced to be hung. In Oct. 1676, they presented a memorial to the General Court, acknowledging the justice of their condemnation and asking for pardon. Their request was granted on condition that they should pay ten pounds each. one half to be given to the Indian who had prosecuted them. and also that they should pay the expenses of their imprisonment and trial. This was done and they were set at liberty. Nathaniel was a brave man, an active, useful citizen, and a Captain in the militia. 9 This "Lieut. Nathaniel Wilder, youngest son of the first Thomas, was killed by the Indians near the gate of his garrison on the 10th day of August, 1704, early in the morning of the first onset. He was shot in the thigh, of which he died the same day. The Indians killed off his cattle, six oxen, five cows, three calves, sixteen sheep, twelve swine, and burnt his barn and twelve loads of good English hay." 4 Records of Middlesex Court of Sessions say, "Nathaniel Wilder (1685-1704) and widow, Mary Wilder (1705-1707) are licensed Inn holders and retailers of Liquors." He married Nov. (Jan.?) 24, 1673 3

Above from Fairbank Genealogy. Identifying the Eunice Wilder who M. Deacon Joshua Fairbank as Eunice (108) dau. of Ephraim Wilder (32) is tentative. We find no other unattached Eunice whose age would allow this marriage. Ephraim's children group is dated by Dorothy, B. 1713 and Asaph, B. 1714 and if Eunice were B. any date after 1714, her age would allow a 1737 marriage. Further, three of Eunice's daughters appear to have been named for her sisters, Elizabeth, Martha and Susannah.

OUR WILDERS in England - Charts Of Descent.

In considering the Wilder family in Europe before the migration to America, Moses Hale Wilder in his old Book, recites the traditional progress of Nicholas Wilder of Bohemia into England (with the invading army of the Duke of Richmond), where he bought Nunhide in 1496, and with the aid of the then Head of the Family, Frederic Wilder of Purley Hall, quite correctly traced the official Wilder line from the traditional Nicholas down to Frederic above, including the 4th generation from Nicholas, John IV of Nunhide and his younger brother, Thomas of Shiplake.

This line of descent now being clear, complete, and of record, we purpose from this chapter on to drop all consideration of the Wilder lines in England and devote ourselves to consideration of the descendants of the Wilder immigrants to Massachusetts only.

Then Moses Hale Wilder made "a strong presumption" (correctly as it later proved), though he did not at that time have complete evidence, that the Martha who left Shiplake in May 1638 was in fact the widow of Thomas of Shiplake and the mother by him of the 4 young Wilders who show up in Massachusetts by 1640, who were therefore descendants of the traditional Nicholas. On this point Moses Hale Wilder says:

"A careful examination of the archives of the family at Purley Hall would probably unravel the whole mystery. Frederic Wilder of Purley Hall says there is a great amount of the archives of the past but the writing of those days is so hard to deciper that he could not furnish me the information I desired."

Since that time research has been made in the archives and elsewhere, the substance of which has come to the hands of Col. William M. Wilder of Albany, Georgia, through the courtesy of another 2nd War Colonel, Lt. Col. Ryan T. Wood, U. S. Infantry, later Minister of the Memorial Presbyterian Church of West Palm Beach, Florida, who in May 1944 copied for Col. William M. Wilder notes and tables from the records and files then in possession of Mr. Harry H. Wilder of Reading, England. Copy of this new material is now before me through the kindness of Col. William M. Wilder.

In the light of these later additions to the story Moses Hale Wilder's tracing of the line of descent of our Massachussetts line was, so far as it went, remarkably accurate, although his account of the purchase and sale of the family homes is contradictory, as for example that the Sulham Estate was given to Nicholas by the King and elsewhere that Nicholas' grandson, John Wilder, Jr. married Alice Keats, who through her mother, was heiress of Sulham House, and that in this way Sulham came into the Wilder family.

Although the data on this early period is still incomplete and inadequate, particularly as to the records of daughters and younger sons, and as to the spread of the family name in England, after considering everything available (in 1961), we are convinced that:

1. Our Massachusetts line is descended from Nicholas of Nunhide.
2. Martha, the Immigrant, was the widow of Thomas of Shiplake and John, Thomas, Elizabeth, Edward and Mary were their children.

With his kind permission we here append a table prepared by Col. William M. Wilder from the data noted above as being in the hands of Mr. Harry H. Wilder of Reading, England. This shows:

1. The descent of the Massachusetts line from John Wilder, Jr. of Nunhide, the younger grandson of Nicholas the first.

2. "A reasonable basis" for assuming a connection between the Wilders of Virginia and Maryland and Henry of Combe-Hants, the elder grandson of Nicholas the first.

*First Wilder in Massachusetts.
First Wilder in Virginia.
First Wilder in Maryland.

Below are Col. William M. Wilder's comments.

On the basis of the information gained from the preceeding notes and charts, we believe that the American Wilders in Massachusetts with Martha Wilder, widow of Thomas Wilder of the Shiplake Estate, who descended from John Wilder, Jr. of Nunhide, a grandson of Nicholas Wylder. Martha had left her first son, John V. of Shiplake in possession of his inheritance and came to the Hingham Massachusetts Colony on the good ship "Confidence" in 1638, with her remaining children, Thomas, Jr., Edward, Elizabeth and Mary. There they build the foundation for a long line of descendants that have scattered throughout the United States.

These same notes and charts provide us with a reasonable basis for connecting the Virginia and Maryland Wilders to that same Nicholas Wylder through the Edward and his brother Francis Wilder settling in these Colonies before 1652, through their grandfather, Henry Wilder of Combe-Hants, a brother of that same John Wilder, Jr. and therefore a grandson of the same Nicholas Wylder."

It is of interest that the author of "History of Shiplake, 1894" states, as does Col. Wm. M. Wilder above, that in 1638 Martha Wilder, widow of Thomas Wilder of Shiplake, sailed in the ship Confidence from Southampton to Massachusetts Bay, ACCOMPANIED by her sons Thomas and Edward and her daughters, Elizabeth and Mary, and then goes on to refer to Moses Hale Wilder's History, to which she had access, as if that were her source for assuming that they all came over together.

As a matter of fact, Moses Hale Wilder states (page 7), "It is not unlikely that after the death of her husband she sent her children Thomas, Edward and Elizabeth, with friedns to the New Colonies, while she disposed of her effects and after a short time was able to follow them." As quoted elsewhere the passenger list of the Confidence gives only Martha and Mary, and we have never found evidence that they did all really come together, and this "not unlikely" supposition probably represents a tradition that Moses H. found floating around Hingham into the 1800's like that other tradition that survived there "until 1802" that Martha sold the estate and would never tell where it was located. But when and however they got there they were all established in Massachusetts on specific dates in 1638, 1639, and 1640."

As to the suggestion that Thomas was not a brother of the others, there is nothing to base this on, the evidence is all the other way. Edward definitely had a brother, Thomas, who is not identified in England after the migration. A Thomas shows up in Massachusetts after the migration. And even in those earliest days when many who knew the facts were still living, no one challenged the relationship. We must give full weight to the traditions and beliefs dominant in New England in the Colonial period when all concerned were alive and an impostor would in no time have been identified as such.

Personally we believe that Thomas and Edward were brothers, both because of the evidence from the English records and from the Massachusetts traditions persistent from those earliest years but also because individuals from the Thomas and from the Edward line, supposedly separated by over 300 years from blood relationship, frequently show resemblances and similarities of face, skull formation, character, and conduct.

And it must be remembered that Moses Hale Wilder's investigations were begun a full 100 years nearer the events than we are, and in a much smaller community.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE WILDER FAMILY IN ENGLAND

Compiled by:
Mrs. Iris Elizabeth Moon (nee Wilder) of Sulham House,
Pangbourne, Berkshire, England. RG8 8EE.
[Included here with her kind permission.]

The historical documents (about 150 items) from which this history has been derived have been deposited for safe keeping for posterity with the County Archivist for the Royal County of Berkshire. Many of them are medieval documents on parchment written in the legal Latin of the time and can be deciphered only by a medieval scholar. With the aid of various additional sources of information which have come to light since, this is an attempt to trace the origins of some of the Wilders from America, many of whom have contacted us here at Sulham over the years. It will be appreciated that some of the accounts differ in detail so it is difficult to ensure complete accuracy when dealing with events taking place so long ago.

We believe that the earliest known Wilder was Nicholas Wilder, or Wylder, a German soldier in the army of the Earl of Richmond, the Lancastrian claimant to the throne of England who landed at Milford Haven, Pembrokeshire, and defeated Richard III at the Battle of Bosworth in 1485. The Earl of Richmond assumed the throne as Henry VII. He was the first Tudor King of England, which he ruled for twenty-five years, and throughout his reign the possibility of another Yorkist insurrection was never out of his mind. It is likely that Nicholas remained in his service for several years until the kingdom was safe.

On 15th April 1497, as a token of esteem and a reward for his faithful service, Henry VII gave Nicholas a landed estate and a Grant of Arms. This grant of a coat of arms was a very early creation by a Tudor King and the family has remained armigerous since that time.

This original estate was that of Nunhide (then probably Nunehyde) and it appears that Nicholas added to its acreage by purchasing additional land there from John Kent in 1497. There would have been a timber-framed house on the property and the brick walls of the old court in front of this house are still in place. In the early 17th century it was replaced by a pleasant brick and tiled house which, with various alterations and additions, still stands today and is known as Nunhide Farm House.

The Lordship of the Manor* of Nunhide was held by Goring Priory (just across the River Thames in Oxfordshire) until the Dissolution of the Monasteries in 1536. This would probably account for the name: Nun's Hyde. (A hyde was the Anglo-Saxon name for an area of land.) Thereafter it passed through various hands until it was bought by Thomas Wilder, great-grandson of Nicholas, in conjunction with his son John, in 1632. Thomas thus became the independent owner and the house may well have been rebuilt at this time. The Nunhide property still forms part of the Sulham Estate today, lying to the south of Sulham Village.

The following year, 1633, John Wilder married Amy Knapp of Chilton and through this marriage the family became Founder's Kin of St. John's College, Oxford, Sir William White, the Founder, having been her uncle of some generations past. This no doubt accounts for the fact that a number of subsequent Wilders graduated from St. John's.

* Lordship of the Manor represents ultimate ownership of property in a system under which a piece of property may be sold (its use let) for a period such as three lifetimes, but ownership must eventually revert to the holder of the Lordship of the Manor.

To return to Nicholas: He and his wife Isabel (or Elizabeth) had seven sons. The eldest was John who married Agnes, and the youngest, also called John,* was married to Alice Keats. Alice's father, John Keats owned land at Sulham which, when the Domesday Book was compiled in 1086, had been a feudal manor held by Theodoric the Goldsmith - an ancient kind of banker who also held the adjoining Manor of Purley Magna and other lands in Berkshire.

John and Alice had a large family: four sons - John, Nicholas, William and Thomas, and three daughters - Eleanor, Joan and Alice.

1. John. Like his father and grandfather, he was known as John of Nunhide, to which property he succeeded on his father's death in 1588. It was his son John (fifth generation), born to to his brother Thomas' widow Margaret and younger than his step-brothers, who lived at Combe on the borders of Berkshire and Hampshire and from whom are thought to be descended the American Wilders who trace their ancestry to the original settlement in Norfolk, Virginia.
2. Nicholas. He died without issue when only 22 years old.
3. William. When his father died in 1588 he left the Sulham property to William, having already built him a new house in Sulham in 1582 (now Sulham Farm House). The property was entailed but William unfortunately had no children and when he died in 1600 it passed to his younger brother Thomas, again entailed for Thomas' eldest son.
4. Thomas. This Thomas of Sulham and his wife Margaret had two children, John and Thomas (fifth generation) but he did not live long either, such was the uncertainty of life in those days. His widow, Margaret, then married her brother-in-law, John of Nunhide, and it will be seen that by this marriage the property at Sulham and Nunhide was consolidated. It was their son John, referred to above, who held the land at Combe.

The eldest son of Thomas of Sulham was John and it is from him that the main line of English Wilders is descended.

The younger son of Thomas, also called Thomas, married Martha, the heiress to property at Shiplake in Oxfordshire. (There is mention of the family in Shiplake in the reign of Henry VII and also long after, but unfortunately the registers of the time of Charles I in Shiplake have been torn out.) At all events, he was known as Thomas of Shiplake, and on his death in 1634 this property passed to his son John. In 1638 his widow Martha, having put her affairs in England in order, emigrated to Massachusetts. She sailed in the "Confidence" and settled in Hingham with her four younger children, Thomas, Edward, Mary and Elizabeth. It is from this family that most of the American Wilders are descended. We were interested to learn recently that two famous American authors are direct descendents of this line: Thornton Wilder from Edward and Laura Ingalls Wilder from Thomas.

In the year 1712 (in the reign of William and Mary) Henry Wilder, great-great-great-grandson of Nicholas, bought the Lordship of the Manor of Sulham, and in 1724 the Advowson, or Patronage of the Living. He had married Elizabeth Saunders in 1705. Her grandmother, Margaret Saunders, was niece to John Buckeridge, Fellow of St. John's Oxford, Bishop of Rochester and of Ely. He is described as being a High Churchman and tutor to Laud, Archbishop of Canterbury. Whether the family love of literature came from him or not, Henry Wilder seems to have been a collector of books and makes special mention of his library in his Will.

* It seems that the John who married Alice Keats must have been a son of the John who married Agnes, not the youngest son of Nicholas. Note that his son's grandfather was also known as John of Nunhide. This is also needed to make all the references to generation or relationship to Nicholas in this "Brief History" to come out right. J.E.W.

Henry and Elizabeth had a son John, who in 1735 (reign of George II) married Beaufoy, daughter of Col. William Boyle of Shiplake and granddaughter of Sir Samuel Garth who was Physician in Ordinary to George I and Physician General to the Forces in Ireland. Beaufoy came from a very distinguished family and could trace her descent as sixteenth in direct line from Edward III. She was also a considerable heiress and, although she and her husband appear to have lived mainly at her family home at Shiplake after their marriage, John did not neglect to add to his Sulham property. Among other purchases it is recorded that he bought more land at Sulham in 1750. In 1766 he obtained from the College of Heralds a formal Grant of the Arms he pleaded that his family had long borne, having been "a long time Lords of the Manors of Sulham and Nunhide." (See [frontispiece] for details.) He described himself as being in the Commission of the Peace for Berks and Oxford, Deputy Lieutenant and Captain of Militia for Berkshire. His portrait in uniform and that of his wife Beaufoy, which were said to have been painted by the American artist Singleton Copley, hang in Sulham House today, together with portraits of some of Beaufoy's other illustrious relations which came from her home in Shiplake. The name of Beaufoy has passed through the various generations to the present day: our younger daughter Julia and her son Edward both bear the name.

John and Beaufoy had eight children, most of whom were born at Shiplake; three daughters died young and are buried at Sulham.

In 1768 their eldest son, John, married Joan Thoyts and through that marriage further property came into his possession. In 1773, a year after his father's death, he sold Shiplake and in 1777 bought Purley Hall, a large country house with a home farm and extensive grounds to the north of and adjoining his property at Sulham. Built in 1609 by Francis Hyde of Pangbourne, it was originally known as Hyde Hall. A cousin of Frances, Edward Hyde, became in later years the famous Earl of Clarendon who, by his second marriage, was father to the Duchess of York whose daughters, Mary and Ann, became Queens of England and are said to have visited Purley Hall in their youth.

In 1720 the property was sold to Francis Hawes, who changed the name to Purley Hall. However, the Hawes family was involved in the financial scandal of the South Sea Bubble and in 1777 were forced to sell the property to the Rev. Dr. Henry Wilder for L 9,500. The house remained in Wilder ownership until 1961 and is still in private hands.

In 1838 the Rev. John Wilder replaced the Norman church at Sulham with a new building in the Italianate style. The church and its churchyard, adjoining the grounds of Sulham House, contain a number of memorials and graves of the Wilder family. The Wilders provided many Rectors of the Parish, and between 1823 and 1944 there was an unbroken line of them - something of an ecclesiastical record!

Sulham house was built in 1701 (William and Mary) and passed through various stages until its final major alteration and extension by John Wilder mentioned above, in 1838. It is now the main residence of the Sulham estate. My husband and I count ourselves fortunate to live there, and the whole estate is now in trust for our eldest grandson Henry, so we hope that it will continue safely in family hands for many years to come.

Some have confused this family with that of another Thomas Wilder of Shiplake, yeoman (son of Richard) who died in 1619. This Thomas married in 1606 at Reading, Berkshire to Martha Keene and had sons, Isaac, Mathew and Abraham and daughters, Elizabeth and Marie. There were many Wilders in the area at that time, so it is not known whether Thomas Wilder who died in 1619 was descended from one of the seven sons of Nicholas or was from another migration. There are records showing Wilders in the region before the time of King Henry VII, in whose army our Nicholas was a military Chieftain.

Also, a notion has circulated that our widow Martha Wilder of Shiplake was Martha Higgs. This was apparently based on a statement in the Higgs genealogy to the effect that the family of Thomas Wilder of Shiplake had, in earlier chapters, intermarried with the Higgs family. Martha was not found in that family. Careful reading of that statement shows that it referred to Thomas's Aunt Eleanor Wilder who married a Higgs and not to Thomas himself. So we are still without a maiden name for Martha, thanks, no doubt, to whoever tore out the pages of the Shiplake register.

cester Board of Trade. He was re-elected the following year. His administration is conceded to be one of the best in the history of the board. The activity of the organization was increased and its usefulness greatly extended. With the co-operation of an exceptionally able secretary Mr. Goddard has maintained the record of the past and maintained gratifying progress in the organization. When Secretary of War Taft came to Worcester in 1905 to speak at the annual banquet of the board of trade, Mr. Goddard had the pleasant duty of entertaining Judge Taft at his beautiful home on Salisbury street.

Mr. Goddard is a director of the Mechanics' National Bank of Worcester, and a trustee of the People's Savings Bank. He is a member of the Maine Coast Club, the Quinsigamond Boat Club, the Commonwealth Club and of the Tatnuck Country Club. He is an earnest Republican and has been at times active in the party management. He and his family attend Piedmont Church. Mr. Goddard easily ranks among the leading captains of industry in a city where hundreds of men have achieved success in manufacturing. He belongs to a group of young men who are building their fortunes under the new and complicated conditions of modern business, young men who have been fitted by education, inherited gifts and early training to carry their burdens easily and keep the industries of Worcester in the front ranks.

He married, December 14, 1887, Grace Watson, daughter of George and Eleanor Watson, of Spencer. Their children are: Eleanor Grace, born March 25, 1889; Marion Williams, August 29, 1893.

DELANO ALEXANDER GODDARD, youngest son of Benjamin Goddard (5), was born in Worcester, August 27, 1831. His early education was obtained in the Worcester schools. His father had hoped to send all his boys to college, but owing to financial reverses the older sons had to forego the benefits of a liberal education. When Delano reached the age when his preparation for college examinations should begin, the father felt his circumstances improved enough to warrant the expense of a college education for the youngest son and the one perhaps most attracted by learning and study. Benjamin Goddard was a man of broad sympathy, but rather taciturn. He was a strong anti-slavery man, a man of firm integrity in business, but seldom given to the expression of his feelings. He had the characteristic habit of the old Yankee stock of hiding his sentiments and emotions. One day as Delano was standing at his machine in the wire mill, where his half holidays were industriously spent, his father stopped at his side and said abruptly: "Delano, do you want to go to college?" The reply came without hesitation: "Yes, sir!" Apparently the father expected this decision, for he said: "Go home, change your clothes and go to the academy to be examined." There was no more talk. The boy went home. That interview was characteristic of both. Delano graduated from Worcester Academy with honor, delivering the valedictory of his class. He entered Brown University in 1849, but the following year entered the sophomore class at Yale College and graduated in 1853.

He left Worcester and sought his opportunity in the west. He began his career as an editor in a humble way on the local weekly, The Herald, at Painesville, Ohio. A year later he returned to his native city. He was on the staff of The Chronicle, a Boston daily, in 1856. Early in 1857 he became the associate editor of The Worcester Transcript, a daily newsparer, but soon became the editor of The Spy, under the Hon. John D. Baldwin, a post filled afterward by Captain J. Evarts Greene, late postmaster of Worcester. While writing the editorials of The Spy Mr. Goddard served the city in the legislature in 1861 and in 1867 in the house of representatives. He was for about a year trustee of the public library. In April, 1868, he became editor of the Daily Advertiser of Boston and filled this position with unsurpassed intelligence and ability till his death, January 11, 1882. In 1876 he took a sea voyage for his health and spent a few weeks in England and the Isle of Wight. In 1880 he made an extended trip through the southern and western states.

He was specially interested in the American Indians and perhaps no work of his pen was undertaken with more intense earnestness than his pleas for the nation's wards. He wrote little except for his newspaper. He contributed in 1880 a paper on "Newspapers and Newspaper Writers in New England, 1787-1815" to the New England Historic-Genealogical Society and a number of other papers to learned societies to which he belonged and also some magazine articles. He was a member of the council of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and member of the American Antiquarian Society. He took the degree of A. M. in regular course at Yale College in 1856. Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, president of The Massachusetts Historical Society at the time of Mr. Goddard's death, said in a tribute at the society meeting next day: "Amiable, intelligent, accomplished, he had entered heartily into our work. I often met him here and never without a renewed sense of the variety of his information, of the candor of his judgment, of the kindness of his heart, and of that singular modesty which sometimes threatened to conceal his sterling abilities." Charles C. Smith, the author of a memoir published by the Historical Society of Mr. Goddard, said of him: "Mr. Goddard's character was such that no one who was brought into anything like intimate relations with him could help being attached to him as by hooks of steel. Those who were connected with him in his daily duties felt for him an affectionate regard which he called loyalty to the paper—apparently not suspecting that it was a personal relationship to their chief." Rev. Edward Everett Hale took occasion to speak of the editor's duty toward history. "In a word," he concluded his eulogy, "with fresh memory for the loss which this society and the press of this country have both sustained, I should say that we could in no way draw better the distinction between the two schools of journalism—that which is bad through and through, because it is sensational, and that which is good through and through, because it aims at truth—than by saying of the two that the editor in the first school fails because he is false to the claims of history, and that the editor of the upright school triumphs because to history he is true." These are but brief selections from the tributes paid to the deceased. When the history of journalism in Massachusetts is written for the Nineteenth Century the name of Delano A. Goddard, of Worcester, will take a place among the foremost editors of his generation.

HARVEY BRADISH WILDER. Nicholas Wilder (1), to whom the ancestry of Harvey Bradish Wilder is traced, settled on Sulham estate in Berkshire county, England, in April, 1497, when the property was given him by Henry VII. The property is now or was at last accounts still in the Wilder family. Four of the line have been rectors of the parish. Nicholas Wilder was a chief in the army of the Earl of Richmond at the battle of Bosworth, 1485. When he was given the Sulham estate he was also given a coat of arms which may be found in Burke or the Genealogy. He had but one son, John.

(II) John Wilder, son of Nicholas Wilder (1), inherited his father's estates in 1525. His children were: John, see forward; Agnes, died 1580.

(III) John Wilder, son of John Wilder (2), and grandfather of Thomas Wilder, who emigrated to New England, married the only daughter and heiress of Thomas Keats, who built Sulham House. It was given in 1582 by entail to William Wilder, their son. During the nineteenth century it was greatly improved and the church was restored and repaired by the owner, John Wilder, D. D., who was also rector. Since 1777 Purley Hall has been the residence of the inheritors of the estate. It is about two miles north of Sulham. Thomas Wilder, the fourth son, received the entailed Wilder estate. The sons John and Thomas were also provided for in his will. Their children were: John, Nicholas, William, Thomas, Eleanor, Joan, Alice.

(IV) Thomas Wilder, son of John Wilder (3), was born in Sulham, England. He settled in Shiplake, Oxford county, but was proprietor of the Sulham estate. He was born and died in Shiplake, however. He married Martha ———. He died in 1634 and she went to New England where two of her sons, Edward and Thomas, settled. She came on the ship "Confidence" in 1638 with her daughter Mary. She settled near her son Edward in Hingham, where she was a proprietor in 1638. She died April 20, 1652. Some authorities spell the name Shiplake, Shiplock. The children of Thomas and Martha Wilder were: John, heir to his father's estates, died in 1688; Thomas, see forward; Elizabeth, born 1621, married Thomas Ensign; Edward, married Elizabeth Ames, settled in Hingham, Massachusetts, died October 28, 1690; Mary, came to Hingham also.

(V) Thomas Wilder, son of Thomas Wilder (4), was born in Shiplock, England, in 1618. He settled in Charlestown, New England, where he was a proprietor as early as 1638. He was admitted a freeman June 2, 1641. He bought land in Charlestown, October 27, 1643. He was selectman in 1660 and 1667 and held other offices. He removed to Lancaster in 1659. He married Ann ——— in 1641. She died June 10, 1692. She was admitted to the church May 7, 1650. He died October 23, 1667. He may have been born later than the date given as he deposed June 17, 1654, that he was thirty-three years of age. His will was dated January 22, 1667-8 and proved March 4, 1667-8. He bequeathed to his wife and six children named below. The children of Thomas and Ann Wilder were: Mary, born June 30, 1642, in Charlestown; Thomas, born September 14, 1644; John, born 1646; Elizabeth, born 1648; Nathaniel, see forward; Ebenezer.

(VI) Nathaniel Wilder, son of Thomas Wilder (5), was born in Charlestown, November 3, 1650, died July, 1704. He married Mary Sawyer, of Lancaster, daughter of Thomas Sawyer and his wife Mary and was born July 4, 1652. (See sketch of Sawyer Family.) He settled in Lancaster, was lieutenant in the company, and was killed by the Indians. The children of Nathaniel and Mary (Sawyer) Wilder were: Nathaniel, born 1675, settled in Petersham; Ephraim, born August 16, 1678, of Lancaster, representative in general court; Mary, born May 13, 1679; Elizabeth, born April 20, 1685, died 1707; Jonathan, born 1686, married, and was killed by the Indians 1707; Dorothy, born 1686, married Samuel Carter; Oliver, see forward.

(VII) Oliver Wilder, youngest son of Nathaniel Wilder (6), was born in 1694. He married, 1713, Mary Fairbanks, daughter of Jonathan Fairbanks, who served in Captain Champney's company under Sir William Phipps in the Canada Expedition, and was a grandson of the emigrant, Jonathan Fairbanks, of Dedham. (See sketch.) She was born in 1692 and died June 15, 1745. When he was sixteen years old he was working on his father's farm with his brother Nathaniel, when they were attacked by Indians. Three years before their brother Jonathan had been brutally tortured to death by the Indians and their brother Ephraim severely wounded. Oliver and Nathaniel managed to escape to the garrison, but the Indian servant who was working with them was killed. Oliver was an ensign in the service August 23, 1725, and at that time was living at Turkey Hills. In 1726 he refused to accept the office of constable and declined to pay the five pound fine which the law imposed as a penalty for refusing to take office. He rose through the various grades to the rank of colonel. At the age of sixty-three he turned out with his regiment at the Fort William alarm in 1757 and marched as far as Springfield, Massachusetts. He was in the Crown Point expedition in 1759. He often served the town as moderator and selectman. He owned a mill privilege. His home was at South Lancaster and his house is now or was lately standing. The place is now known as the Heald place. He was a cousin of Judge Joseph Wilder, another very prominent Worcester county man. Colonel Oliver Wilder died March 16, 1765. There are stones suitably inscribed marking the graves of Colonel Wilder and his wife.

The children of Colonel Oliver and Mary (Fairbanks) Wilder were: Hannah, born January 15, 1716, died November 23, 1723; Mary, December 24, 1717; Oliver, see forward; Tilley, June 23, 1722; Keziah, February 27, 1725; Tamar, May 23, 1727; Phinehas, April 24, 1730, married, 1780, Lois Boies; Lois, April 20, 1733; Moses, May 4, 1736, married Submit Frost; Abigail December 16, 1740.

(VIII) Oliver Wilder, third child of Colonel Oliver Wilder (7), was born May 17, 1720, at Lancaster, Massachusetts. He settled in that part of Lancaster set off as Sterling. He was justice of the peace and captain of the militia company there. He became one of the leading citizens. He served in the Indian wars. He married (first), June 6, 1739, Sarah Townsend. She died 1743. He married (second), 1745, Ruth ———. The children of Oliver and Sarah (Townsend) Wilder were: Ezra, born May 27, 1741, died 1816; Oliver and Sarah (twins), born November 7, 1743; Samuel, born January 13, 1746. The only child of Oliver and Ruth Wilder was: Tamar, born May 27, 1748.

(IX) Samuel Wilder, fourth child of Oliver Wilder (8), was born in Lancaster, Massachusetts, January 13, 1746. He settled in Sterling. He died October 22, 1824, aged seventy-nine years. He was a sergeant in Captain Benjamin Houghton's company, Colonel John Whitcomb's regiment in the revolution at the Lexington Alarm in 1775. Later he was a lieutenant. He married, January 15, 1772, Martha Rugg. The children of Lieutenant Samuel Wilder or Mr. Wilder as he is designated usually on the records were: Calvin, see forward; Alice, baptized April 10, 1774; David, baptized April 6, 1777; Daniel, baptized April 4, 1779; Polly, baptized November 18, 1779; John, baptized August 26, 1781; Josiah, baptized October 26, 1783; Luke, baptized October 2, 1785; Dolly, baptized May 25, 1788. (Five children of Samuel, Jr., recorded as baptized 1794 to 1808 may be his also.)

may have been Henry's mother, widow of the elder Henry. The parish of Chedzoy records a total of eighteen Cogan marriages between 1564 and 1661 (see above, C18). A Henry Cogan was overseer of the will of John Stevard, of Chedzoy, dated 23 Jan. 1533/4, who named a goddaughter, Jone Cogan. John Cogan, of Chedsey, husbandman, held property in Bridgewater, according to a deed dated 11 July 14 Elizabeth = 1572 (Deed no. 155, SRS, 51:94). Among lost wills of Chedzoy we may cite one of Robert Cogan, probated 1541, another of Henry Cogan, probated 1577, the latter perhaps that of the husband of Elizabeth Carye. The first two sons listed below were quite clearly brothers; the second two children probably, and the third two possibly, belonged to the same parents, and in some way not known William Cogan and Christian Baylie were certainly kin to the first two.

NEHGR vol. 111

Children (order unknown):

D2. i. HENRY, d. in Taunton in 1612.
D3. ii. JOHN, d. in Taunton in 1614.
iii. TAMSIN, m. at Church of St. Mary Magdalen, Taunton, 16 May 1590, PETER MARLER. Both names reappear among Henry's descendants; this church is the same where Henry was married about the same time and where his children and grandchildren were baptized; and we therefore conclude that Tamsin was his sister.
iv. ?THOMAS: such a man contested John's will, and would have had no excuse to do so unless he were his brother.
v. ?ELIZABETH, wife of JOHN COLE, of Taunton: though not called sister, she is left by John £10 per annum towards her maintenance out of £30 annual rent of a tenement in Hillfarance, to be paid by George Burdon and his assigns. Had she been John's mother, he would probably have identified her as such.
vi. ?A DAUGHTER, name unknown, m. TIMOTHIE POTTS, of Chard, barber, to two of whose unnamed daughters John left £5 each.

Kinfolk (precise relationship unknown):

D4. WILLIAM COGAN, the elder, of Wellington.
CHRISTIAN BAYLIE, kinswoman of John Cogan (D3) who left £10 to her son Robert Baylie. She may have been the Christian Coganne described as servant in the will of Annis, widow of Richard Cogan (A19) in 1549.

D2. HENRY COGAN, father and grandfather of emigrants from England to America, may have been son to Henry Cogan who married in Chedzoy, 1 July 1565, Elizabeth Carye. His own baptism has not been found. He married at the Church of St. Mary Magdalen, Taunton, co. Somerset, 30 Nov. 1590, JOANE BORIDGE, of whose antecedents nothing is known. Henry Cogan was buried from the same church 1 Dec. 1612.

His will describes him as a clothier, of Taunton, and is dated 27 Nov. 1612, probated 29 June 1613 (PCC 52 Capell: it has been searched for at Taunton and not found—see The Register, 68:62). The will is curious: the sum of £10 is left to each of the six daughters (Johane, Judith, Mary, Elizabeth, Anne, and Frances), to be paid at their respective marriages, and if any marry without consent of their mother, they are to lose their shares for five years. Of the sons, only John is mentioned, and he is to have merely three pairs of loambes (gloves) furnished with fleece "and such like things as belong unto them", and this only on the day of his marriage. Since the marriage is still in the future (it actually took place on 26 June 1615), there can be no question of a previous marriage settlement. If John is already in business and, upon embarking in the mercantile world, has gotten his patrimony in advance, then the omission of Richard, baptized 17 Jan. 1602/3, and of Henry, baptized 6 April 1607, is certainly odd. It cannot be argued that Richard has died vita patris, for his burial took place 6 Sept. 1620, and we have good reason to suppose that Henry was still alive in 1612 and for many years after. John might have been his father's partner, but the other sons were too young for that. Moreover, had there been a partnership, we should probably have heard of it in the will. The wife Johane is named executrix and residuary legatee; Richard Savidge and Jasper Chapline, friends of testator, are named overseers, each to have 12d. This Henry Cogan was not a wealthy man.

D3. JOHN COGAN, brother of the preceding, made his will 12 April 1614, probated 8 June 1614 (PCC 64 Lawe), which describes him as of Taunton, co. Somerset, merchant, of the Diocese of Bath and Wells. He mentions neither wife nor child but leaves £10 to John, son of Henry Cogan, of Taunton, and £5 each to the unnamed daughters of brother Henry Cogan, of Taunton. Burial is directed in the Church of Wellington "or elsewhere as it shall please God", and for the maintenance of that church he gives 10/– and 5/– for the maintenance of the church of the Town of Taunton. To the poor of Chard 5/– and to the maintenance of the church there 10/–. To each of two daughters of Timothie Potts, of Chard, barber, £5. To Robert Baylie, son of Christian Baylie, "my kinswoman", £10. To Elizabeth Cole, wife of John Cole, of Taunton, £10 annual rent for life towards her maintenance, to be paid by George Burdon and assigns out of annual rent of £30 for a tenement in Hillfarance.

James Glasse was buried in Taunton 22 Feb. 1638/9, his wife's burial record not being found. His will has been searched for in PCC and not found. No evidence has been uncovered to show that she came to America with her children, but she may have done so. On this family I am much indebted to the late Mrs. Celeste P. Hazen, of Springfield, Vt., at whose expense the Taunton registers were searched for Glass entries.

D8. FRANCES COGAN, tenth child of Henry Cogan (D2) by his wife Joane Boridge, was baptized at the Church of St. Mary Magdalen, Taunton, co. Somerset, 24 Feb. 1605/6, and was the youngest daughter mentioned in her father's will. She married at the same church, 26 Nov. 1623, JOHN^1 WHETCOMB or WHITCOMB, and came with him to America, sometime between 1634 and 1638, with as many of their children as had already been born (at least five). They were first in Dorchester, then in Scituate, finally settling, among the founders, in Lancaster, Mass. John died there 24 Sept. 1662, aged ca. 74; Frances, 17 May 1671. Charlotte Whitcomb, "The Whitcomb Family in America" (Minneapolis, 1904), whom we generally follow below, knows nothing of this identification of John Whitcomb's wife. On this family I am indebted to Mr. Harold K. Bowen, of Pasadena, Calif. The baptisms cited are from the registers of the Church of St. James, Taunton, co. Somerset (THE REGISTER, 68:63).

[No extensive research has been undertaken on these children.]

[JOHN WHITCOMB was an early settler of Dorchester, Mass., where he was a proprietor as early as 1636. About 1640 he removed to Scituate, and was admitted freeman of Plymouth Colony 3 June 1652. Two years later he removed to Lancaster, Mass., where he died 24 Sept. 1662, leaving a widow FRANCES, who died 17 May 1671. He left no will; and on 7 Oct. 1662 his widow Frances and "soe many of the children of the deceased as therin is concerned" petitioned the court to sanction a division of his estate upon which they had agreed. The petitioners were Frances Whitcomb, the widow, and the following children: John, Jonathan, Job, Josiah, Mary, and Abigail Whitcomb; but the wording of the petition indicates that the deceased left other children, who had doubtless received their portions in his lifetime. THE LINCOLNSHIRE ORIGIN OF SOME EXETER SETTLERS

By Victor Channing Sanborn, Esq., of Kenilworth, Ill.

Lincoln Minster stands, if not supreme, at least in the front rank of English cathedrals. Its archives form a treasure house of historical material, as doubtless do those of many another episcopal see. But the diocese of Lincoln fortunately has in Canon Foster an antiquary whose energy and ability have made this vast store of records accessible to the student. The genealogist will inevitably compare these Lincoln records with those of many other dioceses, greatly to the disadvantage of the latter. It is earnestly to be hoped that before it is too late the local authorities of other dioceses will cause their archives to be arranged in the same systematic manner.

It is owing to Canon Foster's labors and courtesy that I am able to present these notes gleaned in a visit to Lincoln last summer. The transcripts of Lincolnshire parish registers exist from an early period. They supplement to a great degree the local registers, where these have disappeared wholly or partially in the lapse of centuries. We searched the transcripts of thirty parishes within a five-mile radius of Wheelwright's own parish of Bilsby. The results prove the origin of several of our early Exeter and Hampton settlers — Cram, Dearborn, Rabone or Haborne, Wight, and Willix, and supply new data concerning the Wheelwrights.

Lawrence Waters settled in Watertown where he had a home-stall of eight acres by 1635. He received additional grants of land on July 25, 1635, Feb. 28, 1636, June 26, 1637, and May 10, 1642. The first inventory of grants and possessions taken in or before 1639, shows that his holdings included

1) The home stall of eight acres bounded south with the highway, north by Nathaniel Bowman, east by Edward Lamb, and west by John Ellet
2) Four acres of plow land in the further plain, lot 111
3) Four acres of meadow in the remote meadows, lot 94
4) Twenty five acres of upland being a great Divident in the third division, lot 10
5) Twelve acres ofupland beyond the further plain, lot 14
6) A farm of 105 acres of uplandin the sixth division.

The second inventory, taken in 1644, shows the same possessions except the last item, which was replaced by a one acre meadow in Patch Meddow, bounded with common land. The four acres of plow land was described as bounded east by Thomas Bartlett, west by Garrett Church (See Garrett Church), north with the highway, and south with the river. In the early records Lawrence was refered to as a carpenter.

By 1646 Lawrence Waters had disposed of all of his holdings except his home-stall of eight acres. He was one of three men sent up in 1645 by the grantees of Nashaway Plantation, now Lancaster, to make suitable preparation for their coming. The other two were his father-in-lawRichard Linton and John Ball. The proprietors assigned to him a lot of seventeen acres on which he built a house. This was probably the first dwelling house built in Lancaster. The trucking house, used for trading with the Indians, on George Hill was probably the first building in Lancaster.

Lawrence Waters and Richard Linton had probably moved to Nashaway Plantation by 1646 and were certainly established there in 1647. In adeed dated Aug. 5, 1647 John Cowdall of Boston deeded to John Prescot fifty acres of intervale land in Nashaway Plantation "on which parcel of land Richard Linton and Lawrence Waters have planted corn". Before1650 he had sold his original house-lot and house to John and Elizabeth Hall. He then moved a few rods to a 6 ± acre lot where he built another house. Lawrence then owned nine acres of intervale land bounded on the north by Richard Linton's lot, 13 1/2 acres of upland on the east side of Swan's Swamp, and 11 acres of intervale lying on the east side of Penacook River. In 1651 he testified before the Court in Cambridge in the slander case of Elizabeth Hall and George Whaley. At that time Elizabeth Hall was living in the house in Lancaster built by Lawrence Waters while her husband John Hall was in England. Lawrence received two shillings and six pence per day for four day's time. Soon after, John Hall sent for his wife, and the suit never came to judgement.

On March 15, 1653 Lawrence signed the first laws and orders of Lancaster. On September 20th the same year, he was one of the signers of the agreement with John Prescott, blacksmith, regarding the building of a corn mill in Lancaster. On March 9, 1654, he was one of the 25 townsmen present at a town meeting. On May 10, 1654 he was one of the signers of the petition to the General Court for the setting up of a township at Lancaster. The same year his estate was rated at 277 pounds and he drew lot no. 4 of eleven acres in the second division of meadows.On September 8, 1657 a committee of three, of which Simon Willard was the chairman, which had been appointed by the General Court to settle affairs at Lancaster, ordered the Selectmen to lay out additional land to Lawrence Waters. He also had land granted to him on Feb. 5, 1659. In Oct. 1662 he was released from ordinary training by paying five shillings per anum to the military company. It was usually the case to be released from military duties after the age of 60 years, and this fits nicely with Lawrence's suspected age. He was a freeman in 1663. On August 18, 1663 the church land bounded on his land.

On August 11, 1666 Lawrence Waters of Lancaster, house carpenter, and Anna his wife, for love and affection, gave to their son Stephen one half of the second division land on Four Mile Brook between Wataquadock Hilland Long Hill, together with 4 ± acres of second division meadow and also fifty pounds of town rights. This deed was witnessed by George Bennit and John Bush. Lawrence and Anna survived the Indian massacre of February 1675-6 and on March 20, 1675-6, with his wife, his son Samuel and his wife and two children, he sought shelter in Charleston where his son Stephen became responsible to the authorities for them. At this time he was blind, as shown by the order of the General Court, dated October 12,1676, directing the treasurer to pay to him 7.15.04, "being aged and blind". Whether Lawrence lost his sight because of the Indian raid is not given, but this could easily have been the case. Survivors of the attack took shelter in and near two fortified houses or garrisons, one of them on the land of Lawrence Waters. On May 28, 1684 Lawrence was taxed in Lancaster as an out of town resident 1.3.5 for the meeting house and 1.17.0 for the minister. He died in 1687, aged about 85 years, having outlived his wife by seven years. On May 4, 1688 his son Lawrence of Boston, heir of Lawrence Waters of Lancaster, late of Boston, deceased, deeded to Stephen Waters of Charleston, house carpenter, and John Skoth (or Sheath), cordwainer (Sheath had married Sarah Waters), land in Lancaster. This deed was most likely in settlement of Lawrence's estate.The land included a seven acre house lot, nine acres of intervale, 13 acres of upland, 70 acres of upland in the second division, and fifty acres of second division swamp, including ten acres of upland which was sometime part of the house lot of Richard Linton.

Lawrence Waters married Ann Linton. The court records regarding her show the severity with which the puritan authorities ruled their citizens."Lawrence Waters wife was enjoyned to give John Finch 18 pence & Nico:Lambe was to give John Finch 18 pence & Edward Lambe to give him 2 shillings & Lambe was fined 15 shillings 6 pence for his contempt & all of them were admonished to avoyde dancing". Although I admire her spirit, this record doesn't mean that Ann was an overly wild woman. The case isincluded to give more insight into her life and personality and also to land Richard Linton and Lawrence Waters have planted corn". Before 1650 he had sold his original house-lot and house to John and Elizabeth Hall. He then moved a few rods to a 6 acre lot where he built another house. Lawrence then owned nine acres of intervale land bounded on the north by Richard Linton's lot, 13 1/2 acres of upland on the east side of Swan's Swamp, and 11 acres of intervale lying on the east side of Penacook River. In 1651 he testified before the Court in Cambridge in the slander case of Elizabeth Hall and George Whaley. On August 11, 1666 Lawrence Waters of Lancaster, house carpenter, and Anne his wife, for love and affection, gave to their son Stephen one half of the second division land on Four Mile Brook between Wataquadock Hill and Long Hill, together with 4 ± acres of second division meadow and also fifty pounds of green sights. The deed was witnessed by George Bennit and John Bush. Lawrence and Anne survived the Indian massacre of February 1675-6 and on March 20, 1675-6, with his wife, his son Samuel and his wife and two children, he sought shelter in Charlestown where his son Stephen became responsible to the authorities for them. At this time he was blind, as shown by the order of the General Court, dated October 12,1676, directing the treasurer to pay to him 7.15.04, "being aged and blind". Whether Lawrence lost his sight because of the Indian raid is not given, but this could easily have been the case. Survivors of the attack took shelter in and near two fortified houses or garrisons, one of them on the land of Lawrence Waters. On May 28, 1684 Lawrence was taxed in Charlestown as a non-town resident 1.3.5 for the meeting house and 1.17.0 for the minister. He died in 1687, aged about 85 years, having outlived his wife by seven years. On May 4, 1688 his son Lawrence of Boston, heir of Lawrence Waters of Lancaster, late of Boston, deceased, deeded to Stephen Waters of Charlestown, house carpenter, and John Sloth (or Smeath), cordwainer (Smeath had married Sarah Waters), land in Lancaster. This deed was most likely in settlement of Lawrence's estate. The land included a seven acre house lot, nine acres of intervale, 13 acres of upland, 70 acres of upland in the second division, and fifty acres of second division swamp, including ten acres of upland which was sometime part of the house lot of Richard Linton.

Lawrence Waters married Ann Linton. The court records regarding her show the severity with which the puritan authorities ruled their citizens. "Lawrence Waters wife was sentenced to give John Finch 18 pence & Nico Lambe was to give John Finch 18 pence & Edward Lambe to give him 2 shillings & Lambe was fined 15 shillings 6 pence for his contempt & all of them were admonished to avoyde cheating". Although I admire her spirit, this record doesn't mean that Ann was an overly wild woman. The case is included to give more insight into her life and personality and also to show the standards that had to be lived up to in those days.

Lawrence Waters may have come to Massachusetts in 1630 in the Pelham company from the vicinity of the Stour Valley textile town of Bures, Suffolk. There were 42 persons in this company, including the John Warren family of six, the Isaac Stearns family of seven, and the John Waters family of five. What relationship there was between Lawrence and John I can not say, but that they were related I have little doubt.

THE WHITCOMB FAMILY IN AMERICA

A Biographical Genealogy

WITH A CHAPTER ON OUR ENGLISH FORBEARS
"BY THE NAME OF WHETCOMBE"

CHARLOTTE WHITCOMB

> "And if I have done well and as is fitting the story, it is that which I desired; but if slenderly and meanly it is that which I could attain unto."

and, strangely enough, two professional genealogists have directed attention to the same hint. The paragraph is quoted below:

"Harper, John, ... a member of the East India Company. June 16, 1620; he gave a Mr. John Whitcombe who married his daughter Anne, a share in Virginia." There is a fair monument to himself and wife on the south side of the parish church of St. Margaret Moyses, Breadstreet Ward, London, with an inscription. From the latter I glean that John Harper was treasurer of Christ's Church Hospital, and Alderman Deputy of Breadstreet Ward, London. He had five children but at the time of his death he left only a son John, and a daughter Anne married to John Whitcomb, London.

Further we find in "Visitations of London"* as published in 1880, that there were living in 1634 John Harper, gentleman and his sister Anne Harper, the latter married to John Whitcombe gentleman, of London, and having children; Thomas, John, Robert, and five daughters, and that the three sons were living in 1634.

Though facts are what we want, beliefs are worthy of consideration since they sometimes lead to facts, and the belief is gaining ground that John, second son of John and Anne Harper Whitcomb of London, and Immigrant John were one and the same man. Prof. Shepardson believes it and gives his reasons which are quoted here:

"(1) John Whitcomb, who married Anne Harper, received a share in Virginia.

"(2) 'Virginia' in 1620 was synonymous with 'America.' The Massachusetts settlers went to 'Virginia.'

"(3) John and Anne had oldest son who was heir under primogeniture rule.

"(4) John had only a second son's prospects in England and when his father offered him the 'Share in Virginia' he accepted it and with Frances and the children sailed for America."

If this theory be as correct as it is reasonable to one familiar with Colonial conditions, then John had a line direct to the time of Henry IV. and was entitled to the Arms of the Berwick Whitcombs.

The English Whitcombs were of the Established Church. Several of them had been church dignitaries as is narrated in the Chapter on English Whitcombs, but during the transitional epoch following the evolution of the Pilgrims—that period of unrest when spiritual awakening and religious fervor were at flood tide, certain members of the family became Puritans. According to the late Samuel Whitcomb, Jr., Dr. John Whitcomb the Oxonian was one; Symon was certainly one and John, our progenitor was one.

Not all the Puritans were non-conformists, many of them were contented to remain in England and others came to New England not as Separatists but with the hope of bettering their fortunes. What part religion had in impelling John's emigration must be left to conjecture but it doubtless had its influence.

Though Symon the avowed and zealous Puritan never came to America*, John appeared in Dorchester as early as 1633. He may have come earlier; perhaps he was one of the voyagers with the good Winthrop on the ship Arbella in 1630. It would be interesting to find complete lists of passengers in boats destined for Dorchester in 1630-1633, but if such lists exist they are not yet found.

John became a church member in 1635; this and the birth of his youngest son Josiah, which occurred in 1638, are the only events of his family life recorded during the years he spent in Dorchester. Later evidence shows him to have been well-to-do for the times, a man of intelligence and enterprise much given to buying and selling land. His hand writing was strong and full of individuality and it is obvious that he was a man of academical education.

*Symon Whitcomb continued an active member of the Company at home but did not come to New England. He held the office of assistant, was constant in his attendance at the meetings and was employed on many committees. Besides his subscription to the capital stock he joined with others in a loan to the Company and was one of the purchasers of the ship Eagle afterward the Arbella. We may conclude then that he was a man of some substance, a respectable citizen, and a zealous Puritan. P. 7, Vol. III., Trans & Coll. Am. Antiq. Soc.)

JOHN WHETCOMBE (1).

In 1640 he removed to Scituate where he owned land, one piece being a farm of 108 acres near the mouth of the North river on the Marshfield side, and after 1646 when he became one of the Conihasset* Partners he owned the lands which through that transaction became his share.

During his residence in Scituate he was made constable, then one of the most remunerative as well as one of the most important offices in the gift of the townsmen. To act as sheriff he must have been a freeman in Scituate, but the only mention of his being such is in the Records of Plymouth Colony where the entry is, under date June 3, 1652, "Freeman admitted to this court and sworn, "John Whetcombe and John Willis." Marvin says, "Any man could become a freeman—he had only to be a Christian." Again, The Memorial History of Boston (Vol. I.) says, "Church members and church members only, exercised the franchise." Therefore as he became a church member in 1635 he may have been a voter and have taken part in town affairs from that date.

In 1644, he sold his farm on North River to one Thomas Hicks and another disposal of land in Scituate was in 1654 when he conveyed half his share in the Conihasset lands to John Williams, Jr., giving the other half to his son Robert. During this year, 1654, he

*Concerning the Conihasset Grant there was in Scituate Township much discussion between Hingham and Scituate and Plymouth Colony regarding boundaries, from 1642 to 1682. Within the original bounds of Scituate township was included a large tract of land which the Colony Court had granted to four gentlemen, usually called "Merchant adventurers of London," called "Conihasset Grant." This was purchased of the other three by one of the four original owners, Mr. Hatherly, before 1846, and in that year he divided it into 30 shares (reserving one-fourth part of the whole) and sold it for 180 pounds to a certain Company since called the "Conihasset Partners." "Many of this Company were such as had already located themselves upon these lands, and were twenty-seven in all, including James Cudworth, John Whetcomb, and Rodolphus Ellmes—"These partners appointed their clerks, surveyors, committees and agents and conducted their affairs with all the efficiency of a corporate town." Later, upon Hatherly and the Conihasset partners petitioning the Courts that the territory allowed was "too straight" for their growing needs and discussion arising as to the bounds of this tract, in 1656 the Court granted Mr. Hatherly a tract three miles square on the Westerly side of Scituate, as indemnity for his "entanglements with the people of Scituate" and to "satisfy the Conihasset Partners." This he divided into 40 shares of which the Conihasset Partners had 27. (Gleaned from Dean's Hist. of Scituate; pp. 5 and 6.)

removed to Lancaster where two years before, when the town was platted, he had invested some money. Not all his children accompanied him to Lancaster. His daughter Catherine was settled in Scituate where in 1644 she had been married to Rodolphus Ellmes, a young man who had come over from England in 1635 on the Planter when he was but fifteen years old; Robert, who had received his patrimony, also remained in Scituate and James, whose boyhood and youth seem to have passed without observation, is not mentioned until later when he is discovered a merchant in Boston and a man of affairs.

John Whitcomb and his son John, Jr., have been named as among the founders of the town of Lancaster. John's signature appears as "one of the pioneer settlers in the Nashaway Plantation which afterward became Lancaster" according to Mr. Nourse's Early Records, and, though he was not among those who actually took up a residence in 1652, he was among those who had a right by the conditions of the covenant to come later. He was also one of the signers to the petition for a township,—"We being now about twentie familyes, etc." —[Nourse's Early Records, p. 37.]

The first inhabitants of Lancaster were apportioned land according to their "estate," that is, "so much land to every £100 of estate and accordingly for a greater or less estate." In these divisions John Whitcomb's estate is large in proportion to the rest, in fact among the largest. From the old entries reprinted in "The Early Records" the following quaint descriptions are copied.

"The lands of John Whetcombe senor.

"home Lott. his house Lott Given and Granted by the town Lyeth on the west side (of the) Neck being twentie acors bounded (South) by the Lott of Robert Brick and north by the Lott of his son John Whetcomb buting East upon the Lotts that Ly upon the east side the neck and buting west upon his entervail a high way Running Cross it to quasaponikin entervail.

"Entervail Lott. And his entervail Lott part of it on the east side the North River thare being by Estimation about fifteen acors

John's house lot is numbered "33" on the accompanying map and his son John was assigned a lot of equal size next to it marked "34." These lots extended across the street eastward meeting the other range of lots upon the Neck. The present Postoffice and Bank buildin Lancaster are upon old Whitcomb land.

The family next, on No. 35, was named Gates and in the Gates Genealogy, recently published, the frank admission is made that Mr. Gates was of an impetuous temper and quarreled with his neighbors, the Whitcombs, thus confirming the following which is by Mr. Nourse in the Early Records: "The Gates blood seems to have been of decidedly tropical nature......Stephen Gates quarreled with his neighbors, the Whitcombs, was deprived of his constable's staff and moved away from Lancaster after less than three years residence."

This was the man who brought action against John Whitcomb, then seventy years old, on a complaint that his swine had been killed by John's sons. The following note of hand, and petition are very human documents and full of interest:

THE WHITCOMB FAMILY.

NOTE OF HAND.

"John Whettcombe for and in consideration of three swine killed and spoiled by his three sonnes, doth hereby promise to pay unto Steven Gates the sume of forty-five shill. in wheate within a week after michael tyde next 1658 to be payed at his house in Sudbury the sd Steven allowing for the carriage of the wheate tenn shill 6d.

Date Apr. 2, 1658. John Whetcombe."

John later petitioned to be released from paying the note in the following document:

"To the honored County Court at Charlestown. The humble Petison of Jno. Whetcome humbly sheweth that whereas yor Petitioner hath set his hand to a note to pay fortie and five shillings to Steven Gates of Sudbury. It was by reason of age and weakness I did not consider of it that I had no right to pay anything to him before he did duly make it apeare that I had damnified him. He did complaine before the deputie Govr his worpp that I or my sonnes had killed and spoiled three of his swine in the woods, And made as if we stole them & with many threats which did amaze yor petitioner so that I could not declare my case which is such as I have now gotten to be drawne vpp fairly in wrighting by which it may appeare to this honord Court that I had not wronged Steven Gates nor was indebted to him anything for which I should agree to paye him anything. Wherefore yor petitioner being aged and weak, and mean in estate hath wronged himselfe and family in loss of so much, besides by this means of giueing satisfaction there is an imputation of theft cast vppon mee and the family of yor petitioner (toyr great Greef being inosent in that respect) and we are much defamed in our names and creditt, and therefore do humbly request this honord Court, that our case may be considered and my bill may be suspended untill the next County Court, and that then the case may be fully heard on both sides and determined according to euidenc and equtie and yor peti-tionr shalbe redy and willing freely to yeald unto what is right and shale thankfully remain

Yor worrpp humble servant
(Middlesex Court Records.) John Whetcomb."

According to the Middlesex Court Records John had decided the case against himself by giving his note; this note, John being a Christian and a law abiding citizen, doubtless "payd in good wheate after michael tyde," and later events prove that "Peace hath her victories," for during the two or three succeeding generations several marriages occurred between the sons of the turbulent Stephen and the daughters of the self-respecting John.

The products of John's tillage in Lancaster up to 1662 were corn, tobacco and flax with roots and garden herbs and vegetables. The farm probably yielded maple sugar also and the inventory shows that there was an orchard. Log houses were the rule in the time of John and a description of one would probably give the features of all. They were usually of one story and an attic. Small openings in the log walls served as windows; these were protected at night by shutters made of hewn planks; sometimes glass was simulated by the use of skins scraped to semi-transparency or by the skins of bladders. Later the luxury of small panes of greenish glass was introduced. Doors were made of hewn plank battened together and the latch-string was universal. A huge chimney in the middle of the house provided a fireplace which served the purposes of heating and cookery and in Lancaster each family ground its own corn until to the general rejoicing, a miller with his wheel and millstones arrived. There was no idle class; whatever had been a man's condition in England here he worked with his hands. If he had a trade so much the better; if he had not he tried to have, for necessity compelled him to be resourceful and inventive. The miller, the smith, the shoemaker were in demand and every man was in some degree an agriculturist. There and then "Adam delved and Eve span."

THE WHITCOMB FAMILY.

After some thirty years of this primitive life in the Colony, eight of it spent in Lancaster, the aged Puritan John Whetcombe, met "the inevitable hour," September 24, 1662, and died aged about seventy-four years. He was laid with other forefathers of the hamlet in "the old burying ground," but today no fragment of even a battered stone marks his resting place.

He was married in England to Frances ———, family name unknown, and in England his older children were born. He had certainly five sons, perhaps six, and three daughters. There are no records of births, but in wills and other documents the children's names have been found. He died intestate and the widow and children mutually agreed upon a division of the property which was approved by the court. Frances made her will May 12, 1671, and died at Lancaster May 17, 1671. She named her youngest daughter, Mary, as executrix.

CHILDREN:

+ CATHERINE,* was married in 1644 to Rodolphus Ellmes of Scituate. They resided in Scituate; nine children.
+ JAMES.
+ JOHN.
+ ROBERT.
+ JONATHAN.

*The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 1886. p. 305, gives a will of Sarah Ellmes of the parish of St. Saviour's, Southwark, in the County of Surrey, England, widow, 25 August, 1653, proved 20 April, 1654. In it is a clause, "To son Rodolphus Elmes (now in parts beyond the seas) the sum of £10 if he shall be living at the time of my decease." The children of Rhodolphus and Catherine were:

THOMAS DANFORTH Recorder.

Entered and recorded the 7th of Octb 1662 In the Registr of Wills & Inventory lib. 2, page 67.8.9.70, by Thomas Danforth Recorder.

At the time of John's decease his children, with the possible exception of James, were all living in the towns of Lancaster and Scituate. They married and had children in those towns where, indeed, their descendants remained in some cases for several generations. Catherine left a numerous posterity who settled in Scituate and vicinity and Robert's descendants lived on his estate for several generations. But in Lancaster the family met change and disaster. John was accidentally drowned leaving no sons; Job removed to Connecticut; Jonathan died and his widow was killed by Indians during one of their merciless raids upon the town; members of the next generation adventured into other settlements or new plantations, and in the fifth generation the Whitcombs had scattered widely from both Scituate and Lancaster and were found in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and Canada. They now report from every state and territory in the United States (with two exceptions) and also from Alaska, Cuba, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines and South America.

Numbers of our name from America have gone to Europe and Great Britain on business, for education or diversion and some have remained. There are American Whitcombs, or their descendants, of other names resident in Paris, Belgium, Switzerland, Vienna, Berlin and London who are known to the writer; some of them are mentioned in these pages, others being descendants in female lines have not been named. None of them at home or abroad has brought any grave discredit on the name.*

The American Whitcombs have been patriotic and loyal from the earliest times. It has been reserved for the few to have become distinguished, but as a whole they have always been ready when wanted and have been faithful to duty, however hard or irksome the duty

*It is a fact that I have never found any record of a Whitcomb serving a penitentiary sentence or even arrested on a criminal charge. There have been many cases reported of marked eccentricity, some of dementia and others of insanity, but not one born imbecile or idiotic; a matter not for exultation but for devout thankfulness.

The Josiah Line.

JOSIAH WHITCOMB,^{2} (John,^{1}) was born in Dorchester, Mass., in 1638, according to Dorchester town records, and is believed to have been the youngest son of John.^{1} He accompanied his father's family from Scituate to Lancaster, Mass., in 1654, and his name appears variously in the early records of life in the new town. In 1688 he was granted a bounty for killing a wolf,* and again he was named with his brother Job in an action for damages for accidentally or otherwise injuring or killing swine. (See page 32, this Book.)

Josiah was married January 4, 1664, in Lancaster, to Rebecca, daughter of Lawrence and Ann Linton Waters, of Watertown, Lancaster and Charlestown, Mass. She was born in February, 1640.

During Queen Ann's war (1702-17) he was allowed a garrison for protection against the Indians. This garrison was situated in what is now called Bolton, originally a part of Lancaster, but set off in 1738, and he lived in the southeastern part of this Bolton. He was commander of the garrison and with him were associated his sons, Josiah, David and Hezekiah, his son-in-law, Jacob Houghton, also Henry Houghton and John Wilder, Jr.

In 1705 he was selectman; in 1708 he and twenty-nine others signed the church covenant and, as he was financially in good circumstances, he contributed liberally towards the support of the church; in 1710 he was elected to represent Lancaster in the General Court.

In his will, drawn March 20, 1718, he gave to each of his children one-eighth part of his right to land in the plantation of Littleton. His widow, who survived him eight years, died in 1726.

Though Jonathan's recorded posterity is, numerically, the largest of the sons of John,[1] there is reason to believe Josiah's posterity is at least as numerous. The tabulated records of Josiah's descendants nearly equal those of Jonathan, while those records which are known to exist, but which are not yet obtained, outnumber the corresponding class in any other line.

A rough granite slab erected to Josiah's memory bears the following inscription:

THE DIARY OF WOODBURY MARSTERS

Albert C. Leighton

Woodbury Marsters was one of thousands of New Englanders who left for California in the months following the 24 January 1848 discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill. Like many of these "Forty-niners," Marsters kept a diary to pass the time and record his experiences during the 15,000 mile voyage around the tip of South America. The diary was owned by Mrs. Lucile (Purington) Edwards of Chester, New Hampshire, who found it among the effects of her relative, Marion Cecile Webster, daughter of John Moses and Lucy Maria (Marsters) Webster, and granddaughter of the diarist. Mrs. Edwards recently donated the diary to the Society.

The Marsters family traced its line with certainty to Nathaniel Marsters, who was mentioned in the 1639 will of John Masters of Cambridge, Massachusetts, probably his father or grandfather although the exact relationship has never been established.[1] Nathaniel received a grant of land at New London, Connecticut, in 1649, but later settled at Salem, Massachusetts, then took his freeman's oath at Wells, Maine, in 1670, and finally removed to Manchester, Massachusetts, when he received a grant of land there in 1690 (Sybil Noyes, Charles T. Libby, and Walter G. Davis, Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New Hampshire. [1928-1939. Baltimore, 1979], 467). The family remained at Manchester over the next century, and although Andrew^5 (Andrew^4, Nathaniel^3, Abraham^2, Nathaniel^1) was born at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, on 4 February 1779, he married and lived most of his life at Manchester. His first wife, Susanna Leach, died in 1817, leaving three children, and in 1821 Andrew Marsters married for a second time, to Lucy (Woodbury) Marshall. She was the widow of her second cousin, James Woodbury Marshall, who was lost at sea in 1816, leaving two children. There was a high incidence of intermarriage among these families, for Nathaniel^3 Marsters had married Hannah Woodbury, and their daughter Abigail married, as her second husband, James Woodbury, and became an ancestor of James Woodbury Marshall. Lucy (Woodbury) (Marshall) Marsters herself was the daughter of Asa and Anna (Woodbury) Woodbury. Thus, all the children and step-children of Andrew^5 Marsters shared both Marsters and Woodbury lines.

Captain Andrew^5 Marsters was a prosperous sea captain and left an estate of almost $40,000 when he died at Manchester, 2 July 1835 (for a biographical sketch of this man and earlier generations, see Dorothea L. Mann and Arthur A. Marsters, "The Marsters Family, Manchester, to govern both New England and New York, but he proved too arbitrary to suit the people and they rose in revolution in 1689 and deposed and sent to prison Andros, and reestablished the coloniel form of government. In this, Manchester took her ever loyal part and aided Boston in its uprising. After these changes and after the settlement of Indian affairs, this part of New England began to again grow and prosper.

A poet of ability, she published privately in 1940 a book of her Sonnets, with verse interludes.

The first store was opened in the town in the house of John Proctor, of recent years on Sea street. The first tavern was built "for the entertainment of man and beast," on North street. A new church was built in 1691 and the second school house was constructed about that time. A tide-mill was erected as early as 1644, "upon the river near the meeting-house." This was a rough log structure. In 1705 a small mill was built upon the site of the old "Baker Mill", on Brushie plain. About 1700 the "Cove" had come to be the largest precinct in the town.

HENRY LEE, the founder of this family in America, m. Mary, surname unknown, and d. in Manchester Massachusetts, 1675. He brought with him the coat of arms of the ancient family of LEE, of Lea or Den Dern Hall Cheshire, of which Gen. Charles LEE, of the Revolution and the various Earls of Litchfield (Quarrendon Lees were members. This coat of arms still exists in the hands of a member of the family. It is known that he told his son Samuell Lee, Esq., that he was descended from the same family, and that Samuell told it to his gd. son Colonel John, who told it to his son, Col. William Raymond, who in turn related it to his son-in-law and biographer, Gen. H. A. S. DEARBORN. If this be so, his line of descent from that honorable family is not now known, though it has been suggested that he might be the Henry LEE who was the third son of George9 Lee of Highgate, Middlesex, who died in June, 1637, and was younger brother to Sir Henry9 LEE, the first Baronet of Ditchley, Oxon, both being sons of Sir Robert8 LEE, Knight, of Hulcote, Bucks. Henry LEE, son of George LEE is not traced in England after 1655 or 1658, and Henry LEE, of New England, first appears as one of the committee of the town 13th December, 1658. Sir Robert LEE, Knight, was the son of Benedict7 LEE, of Hulcote, County Bucks, who was the son of Richard6 LEE, of Quarrendon, County Bucks, who altered his arms to "Argent, a fesse between three crescents sable." Richard6 was the son of Benedict5 who m. Elizabeth WOOD, dau. and heir of John WOOD, Esq., of County Warwick. Benedict6 LEE was the son of John4, Margery HOCKNELL, dau. of Henry HOCKNELL, who in turn was the son of Thomas3 and Margery ASTON dau. of Sir John ASTON, Knight. Thomas3 LEE was the eldest son of John2, who married Elizabeth HULLESHURST, dau. of Sir Thomas HULLESHURST, and was the son of John Lee1 (temp. Henry III) who m. Isabelle DUTTON, dau. of Sir Piers DUTTON, of Dutton. Of this family was Sir Henry LEE, K. G., of Quarrendon, the champion of Queen Elizabeth, who is probably the most famous of all the LEES of England and is perpetuated by Scott in "Woodstock."

A RESEARCH TRIP TO ESSEX COUNTY, MASSACHUSETTS

by Linda Lee Edelstein (KUJU31d@Prodigy.com)

October, 1998: I finally visited Manchester, Massachusetts. "Missing Links" readers may remember mention in an earlier article of the butcher paper I found among old family letters that said "Grandfather Lee . . . moved at the time of the Revolution from Manchester, Massachusetts to Moultonborough [New Hampshire]."

Before this trip, I checked local library hours and consulted probate and vital records indexes at the Dallas Public Library. Of my three objectives, I succeeded in part on all -- found more of Henry Lee's descendants, found the probable ancestors of one of three wives in my direct line, and was able to connect up a number of "loose Lees" of Essex County with the correct ancestor.

Here are the places I visited:

NEHGS Library in Boston -- advertised in the 1930 "Register" was a "reprint with additions and corrections" of "The Lees of Marblehead," published in 1917-18. Thomas Amory Lee was a trustee of NEHGS, but they have only the original -- if anybody can locate the reprint, I will be ecstatic.

Haverhill Public Library -- post-1850 Massachusetts Vital Records. Having a list of exactly what I wanted paid off. The wonderful staff helped me, even though, I was surprised to learn, the genealogical collection room is closed on Fridays.

Marblehead Historical Society -- visited the Jeremiah Lee mansion -- some of the information in Society files is erroneous.

Manchester Historical Society -- more later.

Manchester Public Library -- old newspapers on microfilm, no genealogy collection.

Manchester Town Hall -- old records have been copied and are better researched elsewhere.

Manchester cemeteries.

Lynnfield Public Library -- wonderful collection of local genealogies. From "A" to "H," each book I picked up had the family I needed to see.

The Courthouse in Salem has probate and land records and the Peabody Museum Library is an excellent resource. Salem's streets are crowded in October as Halloween and witchcraft provide many commercial tourism attractions. Traffic was so difficult that I decided to research there on another trip.

The Manchester Historical Society was wonderful. Its lovely building was built before 1776 by a family which includes Lees in its ancestry. With no regular hours I was lucky to find someone on my first phone call. Mrs. H. met me there the next day and spent four hours helping me. She invited me to continue researching the following day while society officers interviewed job applicants in the same room. They shared their lunch of homemade squash soup and potato leek soup -- delicious! Afterward she stayed, although she had planned to leave at one o'clock, because she said she was so pleased to help someone with well-defined goals. She mentioned that she usually dreaded trying to help with Allens and Lees, because they are so numerous and confusing.

Among the treasures I found there were index card abstracts of many Lee land records. I photocopied these, and on some of the original deeds I found signatures of three of my direct ancestors. A letter sent to the society provided my clue to the probable parents of Mary (STEVENS) LEE, as it cites a will which supposedly calls Abraham's daughter, "Mary, widow of Benjamin Lee."

I inquired if she or the other society officers knew of anyone who would be capable of doing the USGenWeb <http://www.usgenweb.org> page for Manchester. There does not appear to be anyone located there who would be interested in doing so, and upon hearing that I would probably be taking it, she gave me lists of Civil War veterans buried in the Manchester cemeteries and other lists. We discussed the cemetery records themselves -- there are two microfilm copies of the files, but no printer. The society plans to see if they can get the microfilmed records translated to computer files, and if so, I will get a copy of those files. I will also supply them with a condensed version of my on-going Lee research, which will be easier for them to use than the files they now have.

I have left out a great deal I would have liked to say in this article -- I tried to summarize what made the trip a success and what I enjoyed the most, as well as listing some of the resources available in Essex County. I would be delighted to correspond with anyone who has Manchester or Beverly, Massachusetts roots.

HISTORY

panions. The early records of the town make no discrimination between these settlers and those who preceded and those who followed them. After residing in Gloucester a few years, Mr. Blynman and several of the early settlers removed to New London; and it is probable that those who accompanied him to that place were also of the number that came with him to Cape Ann. The emigrants to New London were Christopher Avery, James Avery, William Addes, Obadiah Bruen, Hugh Calkin, John Coit, sen., William Hough, William Kenie, Andrew Lister, William Meades, Ralph Parker, and William Wellman. Mr. Blynman and Ralph Parker seem to have gone on in advance of the rest: for they received their grants of land there a few months before the others; all of whom, except William Addes and Christopher Avery, had removed thither in 1651. These two followed several years after. Before dismissing this collective body of settlers, it may be stated, as an interesting fact, that their lots in New London were laid out in a new street, long known as Cape-Ann Lane, and now called Ann Street.

Our town-records supply most of the information that can be gathered concerning the early settlers; but these furnish no data for ascertaining, in many cases, the year in which they came. The list of persons which follows is believed to comprise all who are known to have been residents of Gloucester, or proprietors of its soil, from the time of its permanent settlement to the close of 1650:—

William Wellman.
Philip Yondall.

Of these eighty-two settlers, about one-third remained in town, and found here their final resting-place. It has been seen that thirteen went to New London; six removed to Falmouth, Me., and about twelve to other places; leaving about twenty who left for parts unknown.

The Babsons, Bourne, Coit, Collins, Fryer, Skellin, Norton, Stevens, Glover, Brown, Elwell, Vinson, and Holgrave, came from Salem. Of the whole list of names of the first settlers, it is supposed that not more than ten are perpetuated by families now living in town, though descendants of several others in the female line are numerous.

In order to present, in this connection, a complete list of all the early inhabitants of the town, the following names are added of persons who settled here between the period to which the preceding list is brought, and the end of the century: —

Joseph Allen.
Ralph Andrews.
Edmond Ashby.

The above list contains the names of eighty-seven persons; of whom, as nearly as can be ascertained, about fifty became permanent settlers, and were residents of the town when they died.

Thirty-five of the whole number are supposed to be represented by descendants living in town, and bearing their names. But further general remarks respecting them are deemed unnecessary in this place, as the biographical notices which follow give all the information worthy of preservation here concerning the settlers whose names have been given, and also of those of their descendants who have been prominent in the history of the town.

WILLIAM ADDES.—He was one of the first selectmen. He is not mentioned as a landowner, otherwise than as a seller of a lot on Eastern Point. He was here in 1649, when he was witness in an action against Charles Glover. He appears in New London, Conn., in 1659; when he was allowed to brew beer, and distil for the benefit of the town. Afterwards he was engaged in trading operations for a company in England. Mercantile employments may have occupied his attention in Gloucester; for, in one of the few instances in which he is mentioned, he is spoken of as building a bark. He had a daughter Millicent, who married William Southmeade.

MARTHA AGAR.—Her daughter Hannah died in 1696, in the tenth year of her age.

JOSEPH ALLEN.—The name of Allen occurs among the first occupants of our territory; William Allen having been one of the adventurers who came over to Cape Ann for the Dorchester Company. He was probably the early settler of Manchester of the same name, and perhaps the ancestor of our Allens. Joseph Allen came to Gloucester in 1674. He was a blacksmith, and was encouraged to settle here by an immediate grant of land and a common right. In 1675, he bought of James Davis, sen., a house and land near the Meeting-house. A house, erected by him on this land, was taken down a few years since by the descendant now owning the property, who built a new one on the same spot. He was frequently elected a selectman, and chosen on committees; and, in 1705, was representative. The title, "captain," often given to him, was a military one; probably derived from his command of a military company. He died Oct. 6, 1724, aged seventy-one. He was twice

Hi, Carolyn,

Your wrote: In Ancestral File, I came across a record that listed Andrew PARSONS of Guilford, Vermont, married to Esther GOULD whose 2nd husband was Asa RICE. Her parents were given as Stephen GOULD and Easter WILDER. I have not been able to pursue this any farther, as yet.

Yes, he did marry an Esther Rice as his presumeably 2nd wife. I did not have information on her maiden name. That is a good clue for searching our her birth. I will be re-ordering the film on Vernon, VT in the not-too-distant future and will look for further information, identification, etc.

To add to my confusion, the genealogy of Jeffrey Parsons that I mentioned earlier (photocopied from handwritten copy) on page 22 lists Amos PARSONS' children and says of Andrew, "m. Rebecca, dau Benj. RICH 1787." On page 23, it lists Andrew and names 4 sons, but says of Andrew, "m RICH.: The first name had been written in, but is, to me illegible, because it has been crossed out and "Rebecca" has been written over it. >>

I do believe he married as his first wife, Rebeccah Rich, the information in the DAR Patriot Index is incorrect, i.e. Rebeccah Lee, and I have partially completed a supplemental application and correction on Andrew Parsons, which I hope to submit to DAR very soon. Who are the 4 sons listed? I have a list of his children, from the Vernon VT VRs, and would like to make a comparison.

Does this just confuse matters more? Regards, Joan Hunter

Do you have Stockwell as Phebe Merriam's maiden name ?.

Andrew Parsons, b. 25 Dec. 1761, at Newburyport, MA to Amos and Joanna Parsons, died 20 Sep 1848, W. Woodstock, CT, buried at Guilford, VT.

Andrew led a busy life -- possibily 3 wives, maybe 1 divorce, at least 9 children, fought in the Rev. War, and lived in Oxford, MA; Vernon, VT; and Woodstock, CT. and probably other places.

He was married to Rebecca LEE, Esther RICE, and Phebe MERIAM, but perhaps not in that order. He may have had a brother Amos Parsons. I am interested in sharing information with anyone who has any member of this particular Parsons family in their family tree. Joan Hunter

Carolyn,

Today I was reading microfilm at our local family history library and found this in the Vernon Town Records, Book 4, 1811-1840, microfilm #29031.

p. 538 Married, at Vernon, VT, 25 January 1835, Asa Philander Hains of Guilford and Mary Parsons of Vernon. Henry J. Woolley minister of the Gospel.

I believe this is Mary "Polly" Parsons daug. of Andrew and his 2nd wife Esther. Does this agree with your records? Regards, Joan Hunter

Nora,

I have a number of PARSONS from the Gloucester, Ma area. I will paste in a report down below. Quite a bit of the information comes from the Essex County VRs, IGI, and the Ancestral file of the LDS. But I also received quite a bit of information from Pamela Sears, (thanks again for the recent care package Pam).

As you read through the report please note any mistakes or questions you might have. I, and my data, are far from perfect.

Lastly, I have a number of Gloucester WOODBURYs in my Line too. In case you are interested.

hope I could help,
Ron

Hi Carolyn,

I matched your information about Andrew's sons against what I had found on the microfilm of Vernon town records and vital records.

The names match, but there are some minor differences, and I did not have the names of wives.

John and Andrew were born at Charlton, MA, not Vernon, as the family had not yet moved to Vernon. I have a different year of birth for David 1796 instead of 1795. And as a wife for Samuel I have Sarah Cook. A complete date of birth for Samuel was 18 March 1798. Might he have been married twice?

Andrew, who moved to NY,would he have moved to Oswego County, NY? And do you have a Parsons who married a Minerva?

Bear with me while I go through this ...... Sarah, daughter of Andrew and Rebecca Parsons, married 1 Jan. 1812, at Vernon, VT, Benjamin Barton, son of Isaac and Hannah (Pierce) Barton. Benjamin's brothers Joseph Barton and Nehemiah P. Barton also married Parson girls --- Joseph married Mary Parsons 1822 and N. P. married Lucinda Abigial Parsons about the same time. (notes are not in front of me). Both marriages intentions were published in Greenfield, MA. I have determined that Andrew's brother Amos Parsons was living in Greenfield from about 1790 - 1840. I can only find birth records for 2 children for Amos and Abigail (Parker) Parsons, but know from early census that he did have daughters. I simply can not pinpoint the parents of Mary and Abigail Lucinda Parsons, but have long suspected it was Amos. Do you have any clues in this Jeffry Parsons genealogy. And, it gets more complicated. Joseph Barton moved to Oswego NY. In the 1850 Census I found a Joseph Barton, but had to be the son, living next door to a John Parsons and family. And in the John Parsons family was an elderly woman named Minerva Parsons.

So, my questions----- do you have in that genealogy, any mention of a Parsons who married a Minerva, moving to NY. And, do you have the children of Amos and Abigail Parsons listed? Or, anything that might point to the parents of Mary and Abigail Lucinda Parsons (and they may not have been sisters)?

Carolyn, no need to apologize. I hope your life has smoothed out somewhat.

<< you are right that Andrew, Andrew's son, moved to Oswego Co., NY.

The only children listed for Amos and Abigail Parsons were 2 sons: Amos, b. 1784, who went to Vermont, and John, b 1793, living in Ohio in 1844.

I did not find Minerva, but Andrew's son, John, also moved to Oswego, Co., NY. >> Good information. Should I be interpreting this as John the son of Andrew, or the grandson of Andrew? I was interpreting grandson, and thought that the elderly woman living in John Parsons' household in 1850 in Oswego, NY, named Minerva, and born in VT, was his mother, wife of his father Andrew??? Do you have any approximate dates on when the Oswego move was made. No
Thanks, Joan

Carolyn,

Sorry to be so long in answering. I have been gone and am just now making my way through my e-mail messages. How wonderful to hear from you. Yes, we are connected to the same Andrew Parsons -- but I believe different wives.

According to the records I have and the research I have done, Mary "Polly" Parsons was the daughter of Andrew and his wife Esther Rice. Andrew married Esther on 20 Feb. 1812, prob. in Vernon, VT or Guilford. They had daughter 'Lyndia, born 26 Sept. 1813 and daughter Polly, born 4 Oct. 1816. I am uncertain if there were other children born to this couple. Apparently, they were divorced, and Andrew moved back to Oxford, MA, and married, possibly for the 3rd time, to Phebe Meriam. Esther died in Guilford, circa 1821. I visited an old cemetery in Guilford this Oct. and found the graves of Andrew and his wives Rebeccah and Esther. Andrew actually died in Woodstock, CT, so I can't be certain if he is actually buried in the Guilford Cemetery or not, but there is a stone there with a Revolutionary War marker.

Can you add anything further to this??? I do hope so. I believe I have corresponded with a woman who entered DAR on Andrew through his daughter Polly. Regards, Joan Hunter

Hi, Carolyn,

Your wrote: In Ancestral File, I came across a record that listed Andrew PARSONS of Guilford, Vermont, married to Esther GOULD whose 2nd husband was Asa RICE. Her parents were given as Stephen GOULD and Easter WILDER. I have not been able to pursue this any farther, as yet.

Yes, he did marry an Esther Rice as his presumeably 2nd wife. I did not have information on her maiden name. That is a good clue for searching our her birth. I will be re-ordering the film on Vernon, VT in the not-too-distant future and will look for further information, identification, etc.

To add to my confusion, the genealogy of Jeffrey Parsons that I mentioned earlier (photocopied from handwritten copy) on page 22 lists Amos PARSONS' children and says of Andrew, "m. Rebecca, dau Benj. RICH 1787." On page 23, it lists Andrew and names 4 sons, but says of Andrew, "m RICH.: The first name had been written in, but is, to me illegible, because it has been crossed out and "Rebecca" has been written over it. >>

I do believe he married as his first wife, Rebeccah Rich, the information in the DAR Patriot Index is incorrect, i.e. Rebeccah Lee, and I have partially completed a supplemental application and correction on Andrew Parsons, which I hope to submit to DAR very soon. Who are the 4 sons listed? I have a list of his children, from the Vernon VT VRs, and would like to make a comparison.

Does this just confuse matters more? Regards, Joan Hunter
